BULLETIN.

Palo Alto, Cal., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover could not be reached here tonight for a statement on the announcement of Detroit officials that they will ask him to accept a subpoena to testify in the bank investigation there.

Paul Sexson, secretary to Mr. Hoover, said he was with a fishing party in Oregon or Siskiyou county, California. Sexson said he doubted if he will be able to get in touch with Mr. Hoover for "two or three days."

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Herbert Hoover, former President of the United States, may testify in the inquiry being made here into the underlying causes of the crash of Detroit banks. The crash, which came in the last days of the Hoover administration, was the start of the financial crisis which caused President Roosevelt to close temporarily all of the banks in the country.

County Judge Harry B. Keidan, who is sitting as the "one man grand jury" conducting the inquiry, and County Prosecutor Harry S. Toy decided to ask the former President if he would accept a subpoena to testify.

Follows Couzens' Story.

United States Senator James Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, has testified that the Hoover administration was largely to blame for the financial crisis here by failure to act in 1932 when it was known that conditions were perilous. He openly charged that banks were permitted to operate long after federal authorities knew they were insolvent.

Mr. Couzens, on the stand today, asked that Mr. Hoover be invited to appear.

"I am informed that former President Hoover said I was a very bad man," he said. "I want to urge you, Mr. Attorney General [Patrick H. O'Brien], to endeavor to get Mr. Hoover here to testify. That would give him an opportunity to say just why he considers me a very bad man."

Awaits End of Hearing.

It has been announced by J. F. T. O'Connor, controller of the currency, that the investigation must terminate before any plan of bank reorganization can be completed. About 30 witnesses remain to be heard.

Mr. Couzens read into the testimony today a telegram from George W. Davison, president of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust company of New York. In it Mr. Davison took exception to Couzens' statement on the stand that he (Davison) had offered Wilson W. Mills the chairmanship of the First National board or the presidency of the new National Bank of Detroit which was being planned last spring.

"There can be no basis for such a belief," the Davison telegram said. "The proposal I made was that the depositors should convert part of their deposits into stocks and that the executive officers of the proposed bank should be chosen apart from the officers of the two closed national banks."

Charges Kiting of Checks.

Later in the day Senator Couzens charged the two bank groups with "check kiting" with the intent of deceiving bank examiners and the public. In one transaction alone, he claimed, as much as $6,000,000 was involved.

In making this charge the senator said he wished to lay before the prosecutor a "very serious condition." He added that inasmuch as it was given to him in confidence he could not reveal the source of his information.

"Between the Detroit bankers and the Guardian banking groups," he said, "there was considerable check kiting indulged in. This was done as the time for the regular bank examination approached, and I am informed that on one occasion the Detroit Trust company got $6,000,000 from the First National bank. It then turned around and deposited this $6,000,000 with the First National bank as a trust fund. The net effect of this was to show that each bank had $6,000,000 in cash more than it actually had.

"I am satisfied that if the prosecutor goes into the dealings between groups he will find all kinds of kiting of checks in an effort to mislead the public as to the actual condition of the banks."

When asked by a newspaper for a statement on Couzens' check kiting charge, Ralph Stone, chairman of the Chicago Heiress Sues for a Divorce.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Dorothy Eckhart Williams, Chicago heiress, today before Court Commissioner Richard J. Hennessey submitted to an adverse examination on the charges in her suit for divorce from the Rev. E. Reginald Williams, rector of the fashionable St. Mark's Episcopal church.

Mrs. Williams is the daughter of the late Bernard A. Eckhart, Chicago capitalist.

Domestic strife, which she said was brought about by Dr. Williams' drinking, was aired thoroughly before the court commissioner. The examination lasted until late in the day and was continued until next Monday, Aug. 28.

The rector and his wealthy wife met in the court commissioner's office this afternoon for the first time in six months, but neither greeted the other by word or glance.

After filing suit for divorce Mrs. Williams left for California with their son, Bernard, 8, and stayed there until last Friday, when she came here for the examination. Dr. Williams had been in Milwaukee for several months, following a trip to Europe.

Mrs. Williams, attired in a brown tailored dress, retained her composure throughout the hearing and answered the questions of Leo W. Slensby, local counsel for Dr. Williams, in a clear and steady voice.

Married in 1908.

Mrs. Williams, in the preliminary cross-examination, testified that she believed she was 50 years old; that she met the young rector in Poughkeepsie while she was a senior at Vassar college; that, after a courtship of three years, she married him in 1908.

At the outset of their married life, Mrs. Williams declared, she began paying the bills for their household. The cross-questioning was conducted by Attorney Slensby, aided by Nicholas Socrates, Chicago, also representing Dr. Williams and the rector himself.

Q.—Who furnished your home in Kenilworth? A.—I don't know. My father gave money, and it was spent in paying some of the bills. He paid the rent—when the rent was paid.

Q.—Do you know what compensation Dr. Williams received at Kenilworth. A.—I believe it was $1,800.

Q.—Did you two live on that salary? A.—No, I told you we got a present from my father. It was a check for $2,600.

Q.—What kind of bills were paid with that money? A.—The rent and grocery bills. I bought his suits before we were married. ["It's a lie," Dr. Williams, seated across the table from his estranged wife, interposed audibly.]

Bought Wedding Suit, She Says.

Q.—How was the money for his suit given to him? A.—He asked for it.

Q.—How many suits did you buy him? A.—I don't remember. I know I bought the one he was married in.

Dr. Williams then declared in a loud voice, "It's a lie." He was warned by Commissioner Hennessey to restrain from comment.

Attorney Slensby then went into the circumstances leading to the divorce, which Mrs. Williams said she decided upon Sunday, March 12, 1933. She first discussed plans for a divorce with a brother-in-law on the Wednesday preceding, she said, then conferred with her brother, Percy Eckhart, Chicago attorney. Asked whether she asked her brother's advice on getting a divorce, Mrs. Williams replied, "No, I told him."

"I had talked of a divorce with Mr. Williams, but we never discussed it. He wasn't the kind that would discuss anything," Mrs. Williams testified. "I planned on getting a quiet divorce, one that would save the parish, the church, and Mr. Williams, if I could."

Attorney Slensby spent most of the time in questioning the heiress concerning the events of the week, March 4 to 11, which made her decide to get a divorce, she said.

Events of March 4.

Events of the night of March 4 were examined minutely by the defendant's counsel, who was advised from time to time by the rector. According to the testimony of Mrs. Williams, Dr. Williams came home that night after a funeral, "invited a friend to come over, and got intoxicated."

Q.—What took place that night. A.—He became very drunk.

Q.—How do you know it? A.—He went back and forth to the toilet

GANDHI SINKING ON SIXTH DAY OF DEATH FAST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

POONA, India, Aug. 21.—The mahatma Gandhi was sinking today. Tonight he slept peacefully, but friends believed it was a sleep of exhaustion. The holy man now weighs only 93¼ pounds. This was the sixth day of his "fast unto death."

Gandhi, who was arrested Aug. 1 with his wife, secretary and 32 others while preparing to launch a new civil disobedience campaign, was in Yeravda jail until yesterday. Because of what is believed to be an acute attack of kidney trouble he was removed to the civil hospital, officially still a prisoner since he has not agreed to British truce demands. Today his wife was released from jail to be at his bedside.

The mahatma today read newspapers and received the Rev. C. F. Andrews, his lifelong friend. Mrs. Gandhi spent four hours with him.

Nurse Delays Poloist Quiz on Rape Case

Miss Eugenia Rose, the Evanston nurse who accused Cecil Smith, Texas polo star, of raping her in a ravine in Hubbard Woods last Friday night, was requested yesterday to visit the state's attorney's office to speed prosecution of the polo player if the evidence warrants it. Miss Rose is 23 years old.

Twice during the day Assistant State's Attorney Eugene Wachowski telephoned the nurse at her apartment, 2118 Central street, Evanston, urging her to tell her story to him, with a promise that the grand jury would hear the case immediately if the facts justified such action.

Police Magistrate Willis R. Brightmire of Evanston, who issued the warrant against Smith, likewise waited throughout the day in his combination office and courtroom at 1564 Sherman avenue, Evanston, for a visit from Miss Rose. She had indicated the previous night, he said, that she would call yesterday to discuss plans to hold the hearing earlier than Friday at 1 o'clock, when Smith's $5,000 bond is returnable.

Gets Call from Doctor.

Late last night Prosecutor Wachowski telephoned Magistrate Brightmire. He said that he had received a call from Dr. Gary M. Baker, Chicago optometrist, who had persuaded Miss Rose to bring the charges against Smith. The doctor explained that Miss Rose had not conferred with the state's attorney's office during the day because she planned to employ private counsel.

Dr. Baker told him the girl's parents had arrived that morning from Cooperstown, N. D., where the father is a dentist, Wachowski said. They conferred with a girl in a downtown hotel, the name of which was not revealed.

Magistrate Brightmire told Wachowski that it would be necessary for the state's attorney's office to have a representative at the preliminary hearing even though Miss Rose retains private counsel. The magistrate agreed to set the hearing for 3 p. m. tomorrow if this date is agreeable to the principals.

Smith Gets Counsel.

Silas H. Strawn, former president of the American Bar association, who signed Smith's bond after his arrest and had given him legal advice, informed the court during the day that John D. Black of the firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw would act as Smith's counsel. Black could not be reached at his residence at 229 Lake Shore drive last night. He is president of the Chicago Bar association.

Meanwhile friends of Smith, cap-

FIREMEN RESCUE TRIO TRAPPED IN FACTORY FLAMES

Three men were trapped by flames and severely burned when fire attacked a two story building at 4949-55 North Crawford avenue shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. They were saved by firemen from certain death just in time.

The men are Thomas Gershboch, 39 years old, owner of the Gershbock Furniture Storage company, which occupied the second floor of the structure; Morris Grinker, 44 years old, and Grinker's son, Leonard, 19 years. They were taken to the Welles Park hospital.

The three men had been using Gershboch's offices as living quarters during the absence of their families on vacations.

The fire started from undetermined causes, apparently on the second floor, and spread quickly. It was first discovered by George Lennartz, 4915 North Crawford avenue, a street car employé, as he was on his way home from work. He broke in a door window of the building to sound an alarm, and aroused a watchman.

The watchman shouted that three men were asleep upstairs. Lennartz braved fire and smoke at the upper end of the stairway to save them but was driven back. Meanwhile, the watchman turned in an alarm.

When firemen arrived Gershboch and the Grinkers were leaning out second floor windows screaming for help. A wall of flame was behind them. Ladders were quickly placed, and firemen carried the men down. The fire spread to the other sections of the building, and a 4-11 alarm was sounded for extra equipment. By the time the fire was put out $25,000 damage had been done. The first floor of the building was occupied by the Rechsteiner Lace and Embroidery company.

JOSEPH LAUGHS, AND THEN COMES JOCKO'S TURN

When Joseph Volek, 44 years old, of 509 North Union avenue, found a piece of butterscotch candy in Lincoln park yesterday he was seized with a charitable idea.

He walked over to the zoo and tossed the candy into the monkey cage. One of the animals greedily stuck the butterscotch into his mouth and trouble began for the monkey and Volek, for the candy, becoming soft, locked the monkey's mouth with a viselike grip.

The monkey scampered crazily up and down the cage in an effort to open his mouth, causing a small sized disturbance. Keepers finally pried open the animal's mouth and removed the sticky candy. Meanwhile, Volek looking on in enjoyment, was nabbed by Lincoln Park Policeman Elmer Fredericks on a charge of feeding the monkeys.

Bandit Tricks Jail Guards and Escapes

The disclosure yesterday that a young bandit awaiting trial for robbery with a gun walked out of the county jail Saturday on a release slip issued for another prisoner was followed by the suspension of a jail guard and clerk and an investigation by the state's attorney's office.

The prisoner who escaped was Mike Rogulich, 17 years old, 609 West 32d street, who was to be tried on two robbery charges. Despite his youth, Rogulich was known as a tough hoodlum by police. He had already served a year in the House of Correction for larceny and had been indicted for robbery of an automobile as well as for two stickups.

Other Youth's Term Expires.

Rogulich was in a cell on the same tier as Julius Clechny, another 17 year old prisoner who had just completed a four month term for petit larceny. Clechny's sentence expired at 10:30 a. m. Saturday and in the course of prison procedure a slip for his release was sent up to Guard P. J. Murphy.

The two youths are said not to look alike and they were in different cells, but, in some manner as yet unexplained to the authorities, Guard Murphy took Rogulich out of his cell and conducted him to the office of Clerk James Moroney.

Prison rules call for a cross-examination of a prisoner at this point. Rogulich answered all the questions put to him, according to Moroney, giving Clechny's name and address and other details. Rogulich then signed a card, his signature appearing to be the same as that signed by Clechny four months previously, the guard said. He was handed Clechny's watch and a few dollars that had been kept while the youth was a prisoner.

Kept Secret for Two Days.

Rogulich then sauntered out and was still missing last night. The escape was discovered Saturday afternoon and an intensive search ordered, the incident being kept a secret until late yesterday. Warden Moneypenny immediately suspended Guard Murphy and Clerk Moroney and asked the state's attorney's office to investigate.

Clechny was questioned. He denied knowing of the substitution and said he had been asleep when the release slip arrived and Rogulich was taken in his place. Clechny was held although technically his sentence has expired and he is entitled to freedom.

"He acted so natural," explained Clerk Moroney when questioned about Rogulich's walkout. "I never suspected he wasn't the right fellow."

Clechny Faces Prison if Involved.

Clechny can be charged with several crimes if evidence can be produced to show that he had knowledge that Rogulich was substituting for him. He might be liable to a conspiracy charge, with a punishment of one to five years in the penitentiary, or to a charge of aiding a prisoner to escape. Under the latter charge he is liable to the same punishment which Rogulich was facing under the robbery charge. It is one year to life in the penitentiary.

Neither Sheriff Meyering nor any of his aids could be reached last night for a comment on the prisoner's escape. Employés in the sheriff's office intimated the sheriff was out of town.

The escape recalled several similar incidents in the past two years when prisoners were mistakenly allowed to leave the jail on release slips not intended for them. The state's attorney's office also recalled the recent incident when John Scheck, a prisoner about to be arraigned in court, was slipped a revolver in the bullpen and shot and killed a policeman in court.

FIRST DEFEAT OF LABOR SEEN IN JOHNSON ACT

Soft Coal Disputes Nearing Close.

Near Coal Pact

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, reported just after midnight this morning to President Roosevelt that the negotiations for a coal code were progressing satisfactorily.

The President and the industrial control leader talked to each other over the telephone. Then Mr. Roosevelt announced through his secretary, Stephen T. Early, that he was pleased with the progress made. There is every indication that the President still expects one within the next 48 hours.

With the signing of the coal code, the President will have most of the basic industries under the new deal.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—The first major defeat of organized labor in its campaign to unionize American industry under the NRA codes was foreshadowed here tonight. It was reported that the automobile manufacturers had gained the consent of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson for the inclusion in the automobile code of a clause permitting the industry to continue its open shop policy.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had assailed that clause with unusual vehemence during the recent open hearing on the automobile code. He termed the manufacturers guilty of "poor sportsmanship and indefensible conduct" for presenting it.

Seems Blow to Green.

The retention of the clause will be rated a considerable victory for the industry and rather a direct blow at President Green's hopes of using the NRA as a vehicle to ride him and unionism into great power.

Finishing touches were being put on the code tonight. It will be submitted tomorrow before the full code committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring the code.

The automobile industry is one of the "big four" industries—the others being steel, oil and coal—which have been the object of an intense campaign directed by President Roosevelt personally in an effort to get them quickly under codes.

It is now expected that the automobile code will be ready by tomorrow night, and that it will be taken by Gen. Johnson, along with the coal code, in an airplane delivery to the President at his summer White House at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Operators Report Progress.

Considerable headway toward formation of a coal code was reported tonight, however, by four big nonunion coal operators following a late evening conference with Gen. Johnson. The four operators were J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company; Charles O'Neill, vice president of Peale, Peacock, & Kerr; R. E. Taggart, General Coal company, and J. D. Francis, president of Appalachian Coals, Inc.

Emerging from the administrator's office, the coal men, who, together constitute the powerful nonunion bloc in the industry, declared the conference had resulted in "substantial progress toward an agreement." The discussions in Gen. Johnson's office were understood to have dealt with the marketing phases of the code. Wages and unionization problems, it was reported, were not discussed.

It is generally believed that Gen. Johnson expects to fly up to Hyde Park with the auto and coal codes on Wednesday, as the President is hopeful he will. It will be a code of force and not a voluntary one which the general bears for the control of old King Coal. There is no difficulty expected on the automobile code.

Demand Open Shop.

The automobile manufacturers, who have operated since motor cars were first built on an open shop basis, have insisted on maintaining that type of relationship with their workers. Another phase of the situation which is influencing the administration, it was reported, is the attitude of Henry

Ford, who, thus far, has held silently aloof from all the negotiations.

Mr. Ford, it is reported, will accept the terms of any code provided it does not interfere with his policy of dealing with his employés as he sees fit, which is not through agents of organized labor. Although Mr. Ford's position has not become known publicly, it is believed that Gen. Johnson has secretly been made familiar with it and that this is an added incentive toward the general's giving consent to the qualifying clause on labor provisions.

Under the national industrial recovery act al codes must contain certain set phrases guaranteeing to workers the right to enter into collective bargaining with their employers through "representatives of their own choosing."

Several industries, notably steel, have attempted to add qualifying phrases or clauses, protecting them in open shop operations. Each time, however, labor representatives have fought the modifications, and they have been stricken out.

Auto Labor Clause.

The clause which the automobile manufacturers inserted in their code was as follows:

"The employers in the industry may continue the open shop policy under which the selection, retention and advancement of employés will be on the basis of individual merit without regard to their affiliation or nonaffiliation with any labor or other organization."

Under the agreement reported tonight, the clause will be retained in the code, with the elimination of the words "open shop." It is quite clear that the omission of the two words will not change the meaning of the paragraph, and the automobile men are reported elated over the promise that it will stay in the code.

Richberg Opposes Clause.

Gen. Johnson is reported to have overridden his chief counsel, Richberg, on the question, Richberg having stated his opinion that the clause could not be included. However, in order to placate labor forces somewhat, it is planned to put the clause in some section removed from 7-A, the much discussed section on collective bargaining. The automobile men have no interest in whether the clause is in Section 7-A or Section XYZ, so long as it goes in somewhere.

There is practically no dispute on any of the other features of the code. The minimum wages fixed are generally acceptable, and, for that matter, only 3.75 per cent of the workers in the industry are now paid less than the minimum, all others getting substantially higher pay.

It was reported tonight that the automobile parts manufacturers, led by Vincent Bendix of Chicago, are debating enlisting under the same code with the automobile manufacturers. Mr. Bendix will be in Washington tomorrow to discuss the matter.

Hearings on Retail Code.

The public hearings on the code submitted by six groups of retailers will be opened tomorrow by Deputy Administrator Arthur D. Whiteside. The lines included in the code are furniture, hardware, mail order houses, retail clothiers, shoe stores, and dry goods stores.

Mr. Whiteside said that 5,000,000 workers will be affected by the code, which, when put into effect, will establish control over the wage and hour conditions, and establish fair trade practices, in more than 1,500,000 retail establishments.

Among the more than 100 witnesses scheduled to appear are many from Chicago, including Bruce and Archibald MacLeish of Carson Pirie Scott & Co.; Elmer Wieboldt; Kenneth Barnard, Chicago Better Business bureau; Leon Mandel of Mandel Brothers; W. J. Stebbins of the Chicago Retail Hardware association, and James H. Stone of Chicago, manager of the National Shoe Retailers' association.

Former Justice Samuel I. Rosenman, former personal attorney for President Roosevelt, will appear representing twelve New York City department stores.

President Roosevelt has approved codes for the fishing tackle industry, and for the photographic manufacturers. The Associated Master Barbers of America submitted a code today aimed at establishing a new order of cutting more hair instead of cutting prices. The code asks the outlawing of shops cutting prices below 50 cents a head for hair cutting and 25 cents a shave, and proposes a minimum wages for barbers at $20 per week.

NRA Official Blocks Changes in the Shoemaking Code

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—(AP)—An effort by the National Tanners' council to bring up for hearing a revised code which contained a declaration for continuation of the open shop policy was balked today by C. C. Williams, deputy administrator, and NRA advisers.

The revision was brought up as a substitute for the initially offered code, without NRA officials being informed.

The NRA officials refused to permit the substitution, advising Louis J. Robertson, chairman of the council, that the changes in it should be suggested as amendments if at all, and Robertson withdrew them.

Clash Over Professions.

In a clash over the substitution, Williams asked Robertson "by what authority the council made these changes after it had submitted a code to the recovery administration."

Williams said the changes had not been gone over with the recovery administration and insisted that the hearing proceed on the original code, submitted Aug. 11. Robertson explained the revised code had been offered as a "clarification."

John D. Nolan of the Shoe Workers' union asked that the minimum wage for cut sole workers be set at $42.

Willard Helburn of Salem, Mass., in urging the industry-proposed labor rates, said "weekly earnings of our employés will average $4.25 above April 1 and over 10 per centum above 1929 in purchasing power," adding:

"At one stroke this code proposes to reduce our hours of work to the lowest level of depression and raise our real wages to the highest level of prosperity.

"Under this code the minimum wage will be about 65 per cent of the average wage. We regard this spread as an important safeguard to the existing distribution of the industry in a period of violent readjustment."

Two Control Boards.

Recommendation of preferential nominees from the oil industry for the twelve positions it will have on the committee of fifteen was understood in authoritative sources to be up to Secretary Harold Ickes, whose interior department will be the driveshaft of the federal unit Mr. Roosevelt will designate to work with the committee in oil's affairs.

This may mean half of the twelve would be nominated from the faction that demanded rigid federal price fixing, a position toward which Mr. Ickes leaned. Johnson, on the contrary, opposed price regulation. The remaining three will come from the recovery administration.

C. Arthur Bruce, prominent hardwood lumber manufacturer of Memphis, Tenn., was selected today to head the Lumber Code Authority, Inc., created under the code of fair competition approved Saturday, as executive officer. The new authority is composed of thirty representatives of the lumber industry and will administer the code, issuing and enforcing all rules, regulations, and interpretation of the NRA trade plan. Three additional members of the authority will be named by President Roosevelt to act as his representatives.

Johnson's Job Temporary.

Gen. Johnson confirmed in a statement today that he intended to turn the NRA program over to a permanent administrator when it is "sufficiently advanced for me to go back to my regular business." He added, however, that it was impossible to tell when this would be.

Senator Schall [Rep., Minn.], in a statement struck at Johnson's long affiliation with Bernard M. Baruch, close adviser of President Roosevelt, and asked an investigation of the financier and his associates.

"If some other department of government fails in going to the bottom of this whole affair, I shall ask the senate to sift these connections," Schall said, adding that the NRA was an "unconstitutional quota system" of reducing the production of factories while European imports come in.

Theater Strike Threatens.

Before the national labor board, created by President Roosevelt to bring industrial peace during the economic emergency, a threat of darkened theaters was in the background as it began consideration of the Hollywood motion picture industry's strike.

Meeting with representatives of the International Alliance of Theater, stage and moving picture operators in a round of conferences scheduled to carry on through tomorrow, the board heard reports that operators in theaters throughout the country might be asked to strike in sympathy with the Hollywood workers.

For Better Farm Prices.

The farm administration announced sweet corn canners in 15 states will take concerted action for the revision of contracts to pay higher prices to the growers. In most instances the contracts were made last spring, when prices were very low. Farmers have complained they were not getting the benefit of advances which have taken place since and were having to pay higher prices for everything they bought. Officials said the increase in payments to growers should not cost the consumer more than an additional quarter of a cent a can.

The state in which sweet corn growers will be affected are Maine, New York, Maryland, Virginia, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, and Kentucky.

SHOE RETAILERS PLEDGE AID TO GEN. JOHNSON

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Illinois shoe retailers, in convention here, today expressed their willingness to coöperate 100 per cent with the NRA and dispatched a message to Washington to that effect.

In the telegram, addressed to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, the organization said, through Frank P. Meyer, Danville, president: "We, the members of the Illinois Shoe Retailers' association, assembled in Peoria at our 20th annual state convention, unanimously endorse the National Shoe Retailers association as our official organization. All Illinois shoe retailers are for President Roosevelt and the NRA 100 per cent."

The state association will be represented in Washington tomorrow by Reuben Metz, Chicago, secretary of the national association, who will fly to the capital to be present for a hearing on the national shoe retailers' code.

OPEN SHOP PLAN GROUP HERE TO CONFER ON NRA

Members of the National American Plan Open Shop conference will meet in the Palmer house at 10 a. m. today to discuss the open shop in relation to the labor section of the national recovery act.

Advocates of the open shop plan began arriving yesterday from important industrial cities in all parts of the country. Others are expected today.

The conference is the first major one of its kind scheduled since the industrial code went into effect. A. C. Rees, Salt Lake City, chairman of the National American Plan Open Shop parley, will preside.

7,500 GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE; DEMAND A CODE

Call Washington Hearing to Discuss Situation.

Members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers went on strike in Chicago yesterday, more than 7,500 workers being affected. The walkout was declared to be a protest against failure of the garment manufacturers to adopt a suitable code under the national recovery act and to fix a minimum wage scale for certain classes of labor.

Most of the 187 dress goods factories in Chicago are located in Market street between Adams and Van Buren streets and in Jackson boulevard between Franklin and Market streets. Ten policemen were assigned to the district to guard against possible trouble between picketers and employers, who sought to continue operations by employing nonunion labor.

Bernard Shane, general organizer, said the union demands a minimum of $18 a week for finishers, $1 an hour for pressers, and $44 a week for cutters, stabilization of the industry and adoption of a suitable code.

Hearing in Washington Today.

At a hearing on the industrial code in Washington tomorrow, the strike will be discussed. M. W. Freed, secretary-manager of the Chicago Dress Manufacturers' association, will present the employers' case and union officials will state their reasons for calling the strike.

Settlement of a similiar strike in New York City struck a snag last night, according to dispatches, which is expected to keep many thousands of workers idle for several more days. Out of town contractors were said to be dissatisfied with the terms of an agreement signed Sunday at NRA headquarters in New York. Another attempt to ratify the peace pact will be made this morning.

Freed declared that not all employés had joined the strike, but union officials asserted that it was 100 per cent effective.

Report Employment Gain.

A gain in employment and an increase in pay rolls for the period June 15-July 15 was reported for Chicago and Illinois in a survey released yesterday by the state department of labor. This period does not reflect the benefits of President Roosevelt's reëmployment campaign which was officially inaugurated Aug. 1. The next report of the department is expected to show what the NRA program has meant to the city and state in jobs and money.

Gains of 6.1 per cent in employment and 9.2 per cent in pay rolls were reported by manufacturing industries in the Chicago metropolitan area, while nonmanufacturing industries decreased employment three-tenths of 1 per cent, but increased pay rolls 2 per cent.

For the entire state the gain was 4.7 per cent in employment and 5.2 per cent in pay rolls with 1,672 firms reporting.

The July employment and pay roll gains were the fourth consecutive monthly increase reported, according to the survey.

Record for July.

"The pronounced gains experienced this July were remarkable," the report read, "in view of the fact that sharp seasonal decreases in both employment and pay rolls are normal for the month. In no previous July in the records of the department [which extend back to 1922] has an increase been reported in either employment or pay rolls for all reporting industries."

Comparisons with July of the previous year, 1932, showed employment 11.8 per cent higher and pay rolls 15.6 per cent above the 1932 levels.

The percentage gains in both employment and pay rolls were more pronounced for male than female workers, the report showed.

Acceptances of the reëmployment program continued to arrive at a steady rate in the local office of the department of commerce, which controls the states of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Iowa. There were 3,229 acceptances from firms yesterday, making a total of 150,035 companies in the three states under NRA. These firms employ 1,241,787 persons.

Continue Code Drafting.

Representatives of industries continued to labor at the task of drafting codes which will be acceptable to Washington. A 25 hour week and salaries to provide proper living conditions for public school teachers were asked in a code submitted to Hugh S. Johnson, national administrator of NRA, by the executive council of the American Federation of Teachers.

The request for a 25 hour week was accompanied by the explanation that that is the normal working week at present in the schools.

STANDARD OIL (IND.) RAISES PAY; HIRES MORE UNDER CODE

Without waiting for the effective date of the oil code, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana yesterday put all its refineries on code schedules of hours and wages, according to an announcement. The base rates of pay in the refineries for common labor will be as follows: Whiting, Ind., and Wood River, Ill., 52 cents an hour; Sugar Creek, Mo., and Neodesha, Kas., 48 cents; Casper, Wyo., 50 cents.

Operation on a full time code schedule will result in approximately a 13 per cent increase in the total wage payments at Standard refineries, it was stated. Sales departments had already been placed on a 40 hour week schedule, necessitating the employment of 600 new men and increasing the pay rolls by about $650,000 a year.

C. H. HARRISON TAKES OVER NEW REVENUE POST

Carter H. Harrison, three times mayor of Chicago, yesterday was inducted into office as United States collector of internal revenue for the northern district of Illinois. The post was relinquished by Gregory T. Van Meter, a Republican.

Mr. Harrison, appearing hale and ruddy despite his 73 years, received congratulations behind a desk banked high with flowers. He now has two federal positions, the other being the chairmanship of the United States Advisory Board for Public Works in Illinois.

Projects on which some of the 100 million dollars allotted to Illinois for public works will be sought are to be outlined before the advisory board today.

Chief of the applications to be made today, according to Mr. Harrison, are Springfield's request for $1,500,000 for a water works system and the south park board's request for funds to construct its part of the outer drive bridge.

STRIVE TO REACH DAIRY, SUGAR AND POULTRY PACTS

Their Differences Told Adjustment Bureau.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Three important branches of agriculture—the dairy, sugar, and poultry industries — today brought their troubles to the department of agriculture with recommendations for remedial federal action under the farm adjustment act.

The dairymen's plaint, at a conference between all branches of the industry and officials of the agricultural adjustment administration, was against the competitive advantages now allegedly enjoyed by manufacturers of butter substitutes. These advantages, it was claimed, have caused a spread of more than 15 cents a pound between the costs of butter and oleomargarine the last few weeks.

Agree on Sugar Market.

The sugar representatives today advised Secretary Wallace that they had made an interindustry agreement and were anxious for the federal authorities to proceed.

The settlement of their controversies represented a distinct victory for the domestic beet sugar growers of this country who had protested vigorously against their quota of sugar in the previously proposed marketing agreement. Instead of the 1,525,000 short tons allotted them originally, the quota of the domestic beet sugar area is to be increased, under today's agreement, to 1,750,000 short tons. The amount of the beet sugar quota would be added to the total quota for all producing countries.

Limit Beet Crop.

The beet sugar growers, located principally in the north middle west, agreed, as their concession, not to increase their production of sugar over the 1933 estimated crop, except in proportion to any possible increase in the domestic consumption of sugar.

"The program agreed upon today recognizes the principles for which we fought at the public hearings on the sugar stabilization agreement," said Charles M. Kearney, president of the National Beet Growers' association.

In view of the sugar men's agreement, Secretary Wallace is expected at once to proceed with public hearings on the sugar pact, particularly in view of unsettled conditions in Cuba. The United States, it is understood, will immediately undertake separate negotiations with Cuba regarding a sugar quota for inclusion in any possible agreement.

Relief for Poultry Men.

Following conferences with representatives of the poultry industry, it was announced that experts of the farm adjustment administration are working out a definite program for relief of the poultry farmer in the hope of "increasing the prices of these products in line with the increases being brought about in the prices of other farm commodities."

KISS SHOOTING TOLD TO JUDGE; MRS. KING ILL

Accident, Says Husband of Revolver Shot.

The nervous strain of being kissed by her husband's business associate and then shot at—so she says—by the husband proved too much yesterday for Mrs. Emily King. She failed to appear before Municipal Judge Joseph H. McGarry to press a charge of assault with a deadly weapon against her husband, Albert Cleveland King.

King, who is executive vice president of the Citrus Products company, was the only principal in the affair to appear in court. Eric Scudder, president of the company, whose embrace of Mrs. King at the Knollwood Country club in Lake Forest Saturday night was the cause of the shooting, did not appear, nor did Mrs. Scudder. Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin said that neither is to be called as a prosecution witness.

The case was continued until Friday after two attorneys, J. D. Voelker and Frederick Burnham, each of whom claimed he was counsel for Mrs. King, pleaded with the court to consider how nervous a woman would be under the circumstances. They said Mrs. King was in a prostrate condition and under the care of a trained nurse and physician in the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

Alone among the men who faced the court, King and his attorney, William H. Kailes, appeared unmoved by the reported plight of Mrs. King. Asked by his attorney if he had seen his wife the day before, King replied he had. Asked if she "had looked very sick," the gloomy countenance of Mr. King brightened up. "No, she didn't," he said with apparent conviction.

Calls Shooting an Accident.

Before the case was continued King and Attorney Kailes presented a partial explanation of the shooting which took place early Sunday in the Kings' duplex apartment at 534 Stratford place. King didn't intend to shoot his wife and the gun which he had in his hand went off when his foot slipped, Attorney Kailes told the court.

"I didn't mean any harm to her," King muttered hastily. "If I had wanted to, I could have harmed her. But I didn't."

"Well, tell me," said Judge McGarry when the case was called, "what's this all about?"

"Mr. King found his wife in another man's arms," said Attorney Kailes. "You can imagine what his feelings were at the moment. Later when he was at home he got a gun—his gun—without knowing quite what he was doing. He never intended to injure his wife. In fact, he didn't fire the gun. It went off accidentally when he slipped on the tile floor."

"But what was the start of all this?" said Judge McGarry.

"Mr. King's wife and Mr. Scudder were kissing each other. They were at a country club, and when Mr. Scudder and Mrs. King left the dance floor Mr. King followed them. They were just 30 feet away when he saw them kissing each other."

A Reciprocal Embrace.

"Was he kissing her or was she kissing him?" asked Judge McGarry.

"They were kissing each other," replied the attorney. "It was a reciprocal embrace."

"Why isn't Mrs. King in court?" demanded Attorney Kailes. "She signed the complaint.

"Counsel says she is too nervous. One doesn't need to be nervous forever. Mr. King was nervous, too, and didn't even want to come out of jail. Why aren't Eric Scudder and Mrs. Scudder here?"

Judge McGarry—If these women don't desire to prosecute, there's no use in continuing the case.

Attorney Burnham assured him Mrs. King did want to prosecute, and that he wanted to be prepared to assist the state in the prosecution, but that it was impossible for her to be there.

"She is under the care of a doctor and has a trained nurse at her side," added Attorney Voelker.

Then Attorney Kailes called as a witness Miss Angebord Harstad, who is nurse for the two King children, Albert, 3 years old, and Emily, 1. She testified that on Sunday Mrs. King had been well enough to accompany her when she took the children for a walk in the park. Mrs. King appeared nervous, she said.

Objections End Questioning.

Judge McGarry then questioned Miss Harstad, who told him that she was aroused about 3 a. m. Sunday and found the Kings in the living room of their apartment, near the door. Mrs. King attempted to leave, she said, and King seized her arm. As he did so he slipped and the gun was discharged.

"Was he aiming the gun at her?" Kailes asked. Objections by Attorney Burnham brought the questioning to an end until the hearing Friday.

Mrs. King, in her statements to police following the arrest of her husband Sunday on her complaint, told a somewhat different story of the gunplay. They had gone to the country club to celebrate Scudder's acquisition of a membership there, and first had had cocktails in the Scudder apartment in the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Guests at that party, besides the Kings, included Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Massee, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Krick, and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Merrill.

'SHORTS' FOR QUEBEC STREET WEAR TABOO, POLICE CHIEF RULES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 21.—"Shorts" may be all right on the tennis court but they do not fit into Quebec's idea of street wear. A group of 20 girls from Maine were so informed by Chief of Police Trudel today. He advised them to get more clothes on if they wished to walk around the streets of this old city without shocking staid inhabitants.

The girls, wearing shorts, arrived this morning and immediately attracted a good deal of attention. Several women telephoned to the police about the "scandalous" manner in which the girls were garbed.

Chief Trudel called them into his office and politely informed them that while their costumes might be suitable for tennis courts or the beach, they were decidedly out of place in the city itself. A matron traveling with the girls expressed her idea of Quebec prudishness in no uncertain terms. Chief Trudel thinks that boarding house and hotel proprietors should advise tourists that scanty attire is not permitted on the streets here.

SOVIET CHILDREN MASSED TO TRAP GRAIN THIEVES

Youngest Will Pick Up Stray Kernels.

MOSCOW, Aug. 21.—(AP)—About 100,000 children are being organized in "light cavalry detachments" to guard against grain thefts and retrieve stray kernels dropped by harvesters in the North Caucasus fields.

The government is providing shelter and food on the collective farms for these youthful organizations charged with protecting "the Socialist crop." Rewards of 1,000 suits of clothing are to be distributed to the more energetic.

Wins Set of Text Books.

Children from the ages of ten to 16 years are to guard against depredations by kulaks [peasants owning property] or other dissident elements and report such actions. Other children, from six to ten years old, are to pick up stray grain lost by the reapers.

One nine year old boy, Mischa Sorokin, has been awarded a new set of text books and stationery for denouncing and causing the arrest of his own father. The elder Sorokin, the child charged, took more grain than was due him from the common store.

Catches Three in Field.

An eight year old girl discovered a kulak woman in possession of a bucketful of grain and a 12 year old boy is credited with trapping three grain thieves in a collective farm field.

A boy who helped organize the grain retrieving campaign was presented with a six volume set of Lenin's works.

County Hospital Patient Falls 4 Floors to Death

James Murry, 64 years old, 920 West Madison street, jumped or fell to his death from a fourth floor in the county hospital last night. His body was found in the inner courtway by two nurses. None of the fifty other patients in the ward saw Murry fall.

WOMAN BEGINS NEW ROOSEVELT PORTRAIT FOR WHITE HOUSE

BY JOHN HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt, on vacation here at his summer home, side tracked the cares of state today. He turned his attention to the serious business of getting his portrait painted by Mrs. Emmett Rand of New York and Salisbury, Conn. She has been commissioned to paint the official portrait to hang in the White House.

The only visitor to Hyde Park was Dr. James Alexander Miller of Niantic, Conn., an old friend. Mrs. Roosevelt rejoined the President today, motoring up from New York.

Visitors with more official errands are expected tomorrow, Norman H. Davis, head of the American delegation to the disarmament conference, is to have luncheon with the President. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, who may be appointed a District of Columbia commissioner, is to be an afternoon caller. Secretary of the Treasury Woodin is to arrive in the evening for an overnight stay.

On Wednesday the President is to drive eighty miles to visit Ten Mile camp of the Boy Scouts on the Delaware river.

1,000 Shrimp Pickers Go on Strike at Biloxi, Miss.

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—The shrimp industry of the Mississippi gulf coast was demoralized today as 1,000 women shrimp pickers in Biloxi, Miss., canning factories went on strike. The strikers are demanding increased pay and discharge of non-association employés. Every available policeman is on duty around the coast shrimp factories to thwart any possible violence by the women strikers. Arrival of 1,500 barrels of shrimp from the sea complicated the situation. The federal government may be asked to intervene.

SEIZE HIT-RUN TRUCK DRIVER WHO KILLED SIX

Harold Schaab, 33 years old, 7316 Woodlawn avenue, was arrested yesterday and confessed that he drove the heavy van which shortly before dawn Saturday killed six Indiana residents as they were riding home from the World's Fair in an improvised bus near South Bend.

With Schaab was arrested his stepson, George Schaab, 19 years old, who was his helper on the truck. They left the scene after sidewiping the passenger bearing truck and came to Chicago. Last evening they were taken back to South Bend.

Blames Lack of Truck Lights.

"I saw the truck coming," the elder Schaab said, "but it didn't carry truck lights, so I thought it was a passenger car and drove too close. After the crash I stopped the truck and went back down the road. I helped pull one man out of the wreck and then I ran across the fields to a house.

"I asked the woman there if she had a telephone, and told her to call police and tell them to send a lot of ambulances. She didn't have a phone, but sent her daughter to some neighbors who did. Then I went back to the road. There were a lot of cars and trucks stopped by then. I got scared at seeing all the bodies and got into the truck and came to Chicago."

Lieut. Ray Fisher of the Indiana state highway police caused Schaab's arrest, in which Chicago police aided.

The only clew to the identity of the van and its driver at the time of the accident was a heavy strip torn from one of the van's tires. Lieut. Fisher learned from a concern in Angola, Ind., that such a van was used by the Cleveland Cartage company.

Police Are Notified.

When Fisher came to Chicago he found that Edward Ayre, manager of the trucking company, had already notified police that Schaab was the driver. After completing his run to Chicago Schaab went home and spent the day in bed. Saturday evening he wrote an account of the accident which Ayre found on his desk yesterday.

Those killed in the accident were Walter Berkey, 26 years old, and his wife, who was 26; Mrs. Mary Huntsberger Wisler, 26; Wayne Pippinger, 16; George Messmore, 17, and Kenneth Lechlitner, 16.

All of the occupants of the truck, some 30 in number, lived in or near Wakarusa.

Police yesterday were trying to identify the man killed by an automobile at Western avenue and 23d street on Sunday. Mrs. Mary Ross, 2322 Kroll street, had identified the body as that of her son, Walter, but later discovered her son was at home. One automobile death in Cook county raised the toll since Jan. 1 to 636. The victim:

Anthony Martinez, 35 years old, 9537 Commercial avenue. Died early today in Auburn Park hospital of injuries received two days ago when he was struck by a hit and run car at 79th and Vincennes avenue.

REJECT PROPOSAL FOR SNAKE BOUNTY IN COUNTY FORESTS

The finance committee of the country board yesterday discussed the rattlesnake problem in the forest preserves and decided that no bounties could be offered at this time for the capture of the snakes. Commissioner Homer J. Byrd, who on Aug. 8 led a rattlesnake hunt in the northern end of the forest preserve near Wheeling and captured two of the reptiles, said that he would ask an appropriation in next year's budget for the bounties.

Commissioner Byrd, who is an expert on the capture and care of rattlers, said that one of the snakes he caught had given birth to nine young ones the next morning.

"That's a deplorable situation," he said, "and if this is a sample of what all of the snakes are going to do, we'll have our hands full at killing time."

MILK DEALERS, FARMERS OPEN PRICE PARLEYS

Chicago milk dealers and dairy farmer representatives met in conference at Hotel LaSalle last night to discuss demands of the farmers for an increase in dairy prices. No agreement was reached and the parley was adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

Price demands were not discussed last night, the chief business concerning general market conditions. In this connection, as a lead up to price talks, the farmers pointed out that feed costs have mounted 100 per cent in recent weeks, and that the general expense of maintaining diary farms has risen.

What the eventual price demand of the farmers will be was not indicated last night. At a preliminary meeting last week the farmers set $2.22 per hundred pounds of milk as the figure. They are now receiving $1.75 per 100 pounds. The farmers were represented by Don Geyer, secretary-treasurer of the Pure Milk association, and other association officials. F. H. Kullman, vice president of the Bowman Diary company, headed the dealers' committee.

FAMILY PARTED BY MASSACRE IN 1914 UNITED HERE

Five members of an Armenian family separated 19 years ago in a flight to avoid massacre by Turks, were reunited here yesterday with the arrival of Mrs. Retpegh Vartanian, 54 years old. When she stepped off the Dixie express of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad she was met by her sons and daughters whom she had not seen since 1914. She will make her home with a son, Henry Vartanian, 932 Lawrence avenue, manager for a rug importing firm.

Mrs. Vartanian's husband, a wholesale merchant at Sivas, Turkey, was killed in the massacre. It was not until 1921 that the children and their mother began to locate each other through relatives in America.

The sons, Michael and Henry, came to this country and located their two sisters, now Mrs. Leona Monita and Mrs. Robert Malijan, of Chicago, in an orphanage. The mother was the last to be found.

ANOTHER RECORD WEEK INDICATED BY FAIR CROWDS

Georgians Will Celebrate State's Day Today.

Attendance figures for A Century of Progress Exposition and for corresponding periods at the 1893 Columbian Exposition follow:

Sunday, Aug. 20, 1933, 246,021.
Sunday, Aug. 20, 1893, 21,446.
Total including Aug. 20, 1933 [86 days], 10,417,365.
Total including Aug. 20, 1893 [112 days], 8,423,919.
The Columbian Exposition opened May 1; A Century of Progress opened May 27.

A second week of record attendance for A Century of Progress yesterday was indicated by the throngs which took advantage of perfect Fair weather to visit the Exposition during yesterday and early last evening.

Running more than 28,000 ahead of last Monday's attendance, when a record for a nonholiday Monday was set, yesterday's crowds seemed to point to a new surge in the admission graph. Last week saw week day records broken; this week may even set new marks.

Yesterday's attendance totaled 198,308 at 11:30 o'clock.

Today is Georgia Day, providing a special impetus for attendance, in contrast to yesterday's program, which had nothing of an unusual nature to offer.

Georgians Pour Into City.

Pouring into the city by special train and private cars, Georgians promised to prove stiff competition for other state day crowds. Gov. Talmadge and United States Senator Russell are leading the delegation, and if bright, cool weather holds through today, the Tuesday record of 179,360, reached last week, may fall.

The all time attendance record was set last Friday when the visit of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Children's day and faultless weather combined to bring 262,556 persons through the gates.

Week day nonholiday records set last week follow:

Monday	170,211
Tuesday	179,360
Wednesday	192,819
Thursday	169,504
Friday	262,556
Saturday	212,548
Sunday	246,021

Labor day will bring hundreds of thousands and throngs anticipated on Chicago day, Oct. 9, have already sent the authorities' imaginations soaring.

Senator and Governor to Speak.

The Georgia day program begins at 2:15 with a 17 gun salute and military reception for Gov Talmadge and his party in the court of honor at 14th street. The party will then proceed to the Court of States where ceremonies will begin at 3 p. m.

Dr. Allen D. Albert, assistant to President Dawes, will welcome the Georgia delegation and Gov. Talmadge will be introduced by Hugh Howell, chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Georgia. Addresses by the governor and Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., interspersed by music, and a reception in the Georgia state exhibit will complete the program at the Fair. At 9 p. m. a ball in honor of Gov. Talmadge will be given in the Morrison hotel.

Two special trains bringing part of the vanguard of Georgians arrived over the Illinois Central railroad at Park row station last night. The passengers plan to live on the trains during a four or five day stay.

14,000 TEXANS TO ATTEND THEIR PROGRAM AT FAIR

More than 14,000 Texans on 41 special trains left their homes over the week-end for the Texas days at the World's Fair today and tomorrow.

Fourteen of the special trains had arrived last night and 800 visitors attended a Texas dinner in Hotel Sherman. The two day program begins today with a reception in the Illinois Host building and a dinner dance at the Pabst Blue Ribbon casino tonight. At 11 a. m. tomorrow Texas visitors will attend the dedication of a stone from the historic Alamo which has been placed in Tribune Tower.

Gov. Ferguson and Vice President Garner will be unable to attend because of the Texas vote on the repeal question Saturday.

The main Texas day at the Fair will be tomorrow, when Mayor Kelly will address the delegation in the Court of States and L. E. Snavely, chairman of the Texas World's Fair commission, will present the Texas exhibit. Tomorrow night the Texas Grand Opera association will present "Aïda," with a cast of 1,500, in Soldiers' field.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Yesterday's arrivals over the New York Central lines included 572 farmers from northwest Ohio and parties averaging about 75 each from Rochester, N. Y.; Charlotte, N. C., and Lexington, Ky. The Michigan Central railroad brought 427 from Niagara Falls.

The Frank B. Willis High School band of Delaware, O., gave a concert last night in the court of the Chrysler building, and will play this morning and tomorrow at 11 a. m. in the Court of Honor.

Two sets of moving modeloramas, built in Japan by H. Horie, Japanese government engineer, have just been installed in the Japan Tourist Bureau exhibit in the Japanese group at the Fair. There are six models in each set, showing scenic views in Japan.

Three operatic artists are to be featured in tonight's "Ballad Night" program on the Floating theater at 9 o'clock. They are Frida Savani, Ada Paggi, and Mario Fiorella, the latter two from the Chicago Civic Opera company. Both ballads and operatic numbers will be included on the program.

Whirling Thunder, Winnebago Indian chief and lecturer, will demonstrate Indian lore for a group of Campfire Girls outside the Girls' Club of America building in the area east of the states group tomorrow at 3 and 5 p. m. The Boys' Club of America band from Detroit will play concerts during both programs.

Exhibition boxing matches between Mike and Ike Matina, midget boxers, will be staged several times daily, starting today, in the Midget Village. The first bout will go on at 2 p. m. and there will be exhibitions every hour from then until late in the evening.

G. W. Forbes, prime minister of New Zealand, will visit the Fair this morning, heading a party of prominent New Zealanders. The party will arrive at the Court of Honor at the 14th street gate at 11 a. m. and will be received by Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Exposition, in the trustees' room in the Administration building.

An intercollegiate jinrikisha relay race will be staged Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the Rainbow area at the south end of the grounds, Hi Daggett, manager of the jinrikisha concession at the Fair, announced yesterday. Two man teams from Illinois, Cornell, Michigan, Chicago, Michigan State, Indiana, Alabama, and Mississippi universities, and Michigan State Normal college have entered the race. The course is from 31st street to the Pershing road gate.

Objections to the Phillipine island exhibit were made yesterday in a letter to President Dawes of the Fair by the Pampangan circle, an organization of Filipinos, and signed by its president, José M. Albertson. The letter complained of the scope of the exhibit and particularly the heathen relics displayed. In answer, James King Steele, director of the exhibit, said that it had been designed to stimulate tourist interest.

Earlier sunsets have forced the Fair to push ahead the time of the Arcturus lighting ceremony in the Hall of Science court. Beginning today, the ceremony will be held at 8:05 p. m. Next Monday, it will be held at 7:50 p. m.; on Sept. 5, 7:35 p. m.; on Sept. 15, 7:20 p. m.; and on Sept. 22, 7:05 p. m.

STAMPS WORTH MILLION SHOWN AT CONVENTION

The American Philatelic society opened its forty-eighth annual convention at the Medinah Michigan Avenue club yesterday, with more than 1,000 members registering from all sections of the country. Rare stamps valued at nearly $1,000,000 are on display on the tenth floor, including several sets owned by the United States government. Part of the government exhibit shows currency in denominations from $1 to $10,000.

Postmaster General James A. Farley will speak at the annual banquet Thursday. He will represent President Roosevelt who is a member of the Philatelic society.

Interest yesterday centered on the government printing office exhibit where members of the United States Bureau of Printing and Engraving are turning out Century of Progress commemorative stamps in one and three cent denominations. The plates are to be destroyed after 250,000 panels of each denomination have been printed. The new stamps will go on sale at 8 a. m. Friday in a special post office on the floor. Already 20,000 orders for these stamps have been received.

DIES FROM BURNS.

Escanaba, Mich., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Ernest Smith, 27, Stonington, died at Escanaba hospital today as a result of burns received in a stove explosion, after pouring kerosene onto live coals. He walked two miles to a neighbor who later rushed him to Escanaba.

Bids Fair Employes See Dawes Made Indian Chief

The thousands of employés of A Century of Progress have been invited to attend, at 15 cents each, a ceremony at which Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Fair, will be made an honorary Indian chief. The ceremony will be held in the Indian village at the Fair at 8:30 o'clock this evening. A bulletin urging all employés to attend was signed by N. A. Owings, chief of the events department of the Fair.

Pipe Tobacco should be
Rough Cut—"whittled." And it ought to be packed in a common-sense way

BACK in the old days, when men wore high hats and frock coats, they had plenty of time to think things out—and they had sense too.

That's when they used to sit down on a log and take the time to whittle their tobacco from a plug, to be sure of having a cool smoke.

So knowing how pipe smokers used to whittle their tobacco we decided to make Granger the same way.

We cut Granger into big shaggy flakes all ready for the pipe. Rough Cut, we called it—cut rough to smoke cool is the best way to describe it. It lasts longer and never gums the pipe.

So much for that. We knew that pipe tobacco to smoke right has to be packed right.

So we put Granger in a common-sense soft foil pouch—easy to carry and keeps the tobacco just exactly right—just like it was made.

Granger . . . good tobacco . . . Wellman Method . . . cut right . . . packed right. There is this much about it:

We have yet to know of a man who started to smoke Granger who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.

LYNCH TWO MORE MACHADO MEN; GOVERNOR SEIZED

Cuban Manhunt Goes On Despite Official Action.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 21.—Officials of Cuba's new government took steps today to curb mob turbulence. Directors of the ABC, the foremost anti-Machado organization, protested against the gruesome spectacle of last night when the body of Antonio Anciart, former chief of police, was hacked, hanged to a lamp post and burned. They urged the branches of the society to discourage further revolting demonstrations.

Officialdom held that the Anciart episode, if repeated, would give Cuba a black eye before the world.

Col. Erasmo Delgado, military commander of Havana, this morning again issued orders to military units and police to stop the sacking of homes of persons on the "death books" of the revolutionaries.

Two More Lynched.

Mob violence, however, continued. Two more former strong arm employés of the late Machado régime were tracked down and lynched in the Santiago district. José R. Barcelo, governor of Oriente province under Machado, and a Santiago policeman narrowly escaped similar fates. Both of these men were captured and imprisoned.

Julio Heredia, once close to Maj. Arsenio Ortiz, who commanded the Machado troops in quelling insurgent disturbances in the eastern provinces several months ago, was captured at the Santiago courthouse. He was shot and killed, then dragged through the streets. Maj. Ortiz left the country last June after he had been accused of numerous political killings.

The other death occurred when Luis de Spayne, a policeman, was riddled with bullets at Palmo Soriano.

Former Gov. Barcelo surrendered after he had been surrounded in a house where he had taken refuge by a mob of several thousand. He was placed in an automobile by soldiers and rushed safely through the crowd to Castillo de la Fuerza.

Harbor Strike Settled.

Meanwhile, the strike of 3,000 stevedores, longshoremen and other harbor workers was announced as settled tonight. Work is to begin again tomorrow morning after a layoff of more than two weeks which tied up commercial shipping and caused a considerable financial loss to Havana business firms.

The first economic problem to be tackled when the program for industrial rehabilitation gets into real motion will be that centering around sugar, the basic industry of Cuba. Havana business men are following with deep interest the conferences now goig on in Washington, D. C., for a new sugar marketing agreement.

Cuba's allotment is fixed at 1,700,000 short tons of raw sugar in the agreement and the American sugar beet quota at 1,750,000. Cuban producers are asking that their allotment be stretched to 2,000,000 short tons as the market improves.

Seek Lower Tariff.

If sugar prices can be hoisted a cent or a cent and a half a pound the industry theorizes, prosperity will again rise on the island. At present the United States tariff on Cuban sugar is 2 cents a pound, and in Havana the trade says if this can be reduced or lifted the island's great industry will revive.

Gen. Mario Garcia Menocal, former president of Cuba, who arrived last night from exile in Miami, was visited all day by leading Cubans. Menocal, before he became president in 1913, was manager of the largest sugar mill on the island, and he owns one of the largest.

"Sugar is the heart of the economic situation," he said. "For prosperity to return producers should get at least 2 cents a pound on the raw product. Increase by the United States of the Cuban sugar allotment would not restore prosperity without a reduction of the tariff on Cuban sugar in the United States."

DAVID REFUSES TO ACCEPT GRANT PARK RAIL CASE

Superior Judge Joseph B. David yesterday refused to allow attorneys in the suit brought to enjoin the operation of the narrow gauge railway in Grant park to file briefs in the case before him. The case had been argued before Judge Peter H. Schwaba last week by Assistant Attorney General James G. Skinner, who is seeking the injunction, and by Attorney Maclay Hoyne, representing the Grant Park Transportation company, which operates the railway. Since then Judge Schwaba has gone on a vacation.

"I'm not going to pull anybody's chestnuts out of the fire," said Judge David in refusing to accept jurisdiction. "Although it might have been unpleasant for Judge Schwaba to decide this case he had no right to pass it on to me. Mr. Skinner knew that this road was being put on public ground and it could have been stopped when the construction was going on. For Mr. Skinner's information, I wouldn't put the railroad out now even if it has no legal right to be there."

Skinner said he would return today and renew his plea.

Expect Hundreds Thursday at Ton Family Reunion

The ton Family, Inc., will hold its 38th annual reunion at Wicker park, Lake county, Indiana, next Thursday. The organization has a membership of 1,105 and hundreds are expected to be present.

At the same time a similar reunion will be in progress in Los Angeles for members of the Pacific coast branch.

The founders of the group came from Holland in 1849, settling near Roseland, Ill. This history is celebrated in the special songs each year at the reunions.

Bodies of Two Drowning Victims Taken from Lake

The bodies of two drowning victims were recovered from the lake yesterday. One was that of James Boyle, 53 years old, 8143 Luella avenue, an electrician employed by the sanitary district, who was knocked off the racing sloop Victory on Aug. 15 near the World's Fair grounds by a swinging boom. The other body was that of Walter Gass, 23, of 3222 East 93d street, who lost his life Saturday at the 91st street breakwater. Gass fell into the water when he reached out to halt his rowboat, which had begun to drift away.

SCHOOL ECONOMY FACES 3 FIGHTS FOR WRITS TODAY

Injunction Issues Already Decided, Attorney Says.

Attorneys and officials of the board of education will be kept hopping from one court to another this morning when three legal attacks on the school economy and better housing program breaks loose all at once. James B. McCahey, president of the board, the school trustees and others have been made defendants in two bills for injunction and one for a mandamus to overthrow the retrenchment plans.

Before Judge Charles A. Williams in the Superior court the injunction action brought by John E. Groves, a mathematics teacher at Crane Technical High school, will be heard. The second bill for an injunction to restrain the board from carrying out its program will be heard by Judge Philip J. Finnegan in the Circuit court. This action was brought by the Tax Service Association of Illinois, on behalf of one George W. Nye, a tax payer.

Father Pushes Mandamus Suit.

The mandamus petition on behalf of Samuel Landau, who alleges he has two daughters attending public school who will suffer educational damage because of the economies, will come up before Judge Joseph B. David in the Superior court. This action asks that the court compel the school board to rescind its program.

Notice to appear in court in the Nye and Landau cases was served on the school attorneys late yesterday afternoon. Frank S. Righeimer, special counsel for the school board, contends that the issues in these cases have already been decided in another bill for an injunction filed by Allan J. Carter, attorney for the Principals' club. A motion for an injunction in this case was denied after an extended hearing by Judge William V. Brothers in the Circuit court on Aug. 3. Judge Brothers declared that the bill was "not worth the paper it's written on."

Another attempt to block the school board was another bill for an injunction filed by Attorney Edward G. Woods. A motion for this restraining order was withdrawn by Woods on July 26 before Circuit Judge Harry Fisher.

Praise of Board Continues.

Meanwhile, the board continued to receive commendation from all sides for its drive to place the school system on a sound financial basis, restore its credit and pay the teachers, who are owed $27,000,000 in back salaries.

A letter praising the board and analyzing the salaries of teachers on an hourly basis was sent to Mr. McCahey by Victor Hendrickson, 11305 South Fairfield avenue, a real estate man.

"As far as I can see most of this uproar is coming from teachers who are holding soft jobs somewhere in the schools," said Hendrickson.

Mr. Hendrickson calculated that the highest paid high school principals receive $24 a day, or $4.80 an hour, figuring the five days they work; assistant principals, $3.56 an hour; teachers from $3.23 an hour for the majority to $1.90 an hour.

In the junior high schools he estimated that principals have been getting $4.60 an hour and the lowest paid teacher, $1.53 an hour.

The principals in the elementary schools, according to Mr. Hendrickson, have been getting $4.09 an hour and the teachers from $2.12 to $1.27 an hour. The kindergarten teachers have been receiving $2.12 an hour.

1,000 GIVEN SHARES OF 1931 WARRANTS AT SCHOOL OFFICES

More than 1,000 teachers and other school employés flocked to the school board offices in the Builders' building, at La Salle street and Wacker drive, yesterday to receive their share of the $1,250,000 in 1931 tax anticipation warrants made available. Scrip, or participation certificates, was exchanged for $162,850 in warrants during the day.

The warrants will redeem the last of the script which had been given out until it was halted in the Circuit court two years ago. The warrants will furnish many of the school employés with securities that can be turned into cash. Some of the scrip is now in the hands of landlords and merchants. The warrants are in $50 denominations and bear 6 per cent interest.

James B. McCahey, president of the school board, announced the redemption of the paper. Provision also was made that several persons having balances, or the difference between the warrants and pay coming, could pool the obligations for more warrants.

More than 100 persons were standing in line at the tax warrant division when the exchange began in the morning.

MUSSOLINI MOVE SEEN AS END OF POPULAR BALLOT

Chamber of Deputies May Expire in March.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Italy, Aug. 21.—With the publication of the list of names of those who will be members of the National Council of Corporations until 1936, more indications are seen today of Premier Mussolini's intention to abolish the Italian chamber of deputies, whose mandate will expire next March unless new elections are held.

The list includes many well known personalities of industrial, agricultural, commercial, and banking circles, but what is interesting is that several of them belong to the chamber of deputies. A recent law prohibits a deputy also being a member of the council of corporations, and political circles conclude that the newly appointed members of the council will not be members of the new chamber, in case one is elected.

Present Form Doomed.

Or, it is pointed out, the fact that present deputies are placed on the council of corporations may also indicate that the project which has been discussed for a long time, combining the chamber of deputies with the council of corporations, may next be put into effect by Mussolini.

In any case the ground is certainly being prepared to abolish the lower branch of the Italian parliament in the form it has existed since the time of Cavour. Many believe Italian citizens have cast their last votes under the present régime and that the ballot boxes of democracy will be found only in Italy's museums in the future.

The chamber of deputies was the last institution in Italy for which a pretense of exercising popular will by ballot was kept up, and the chamber has been faring badly from the Fascist campaign against it.

Fascism Better Means.

In the last number of his review, Critica Fascista, Giuseppe Bottai, formerly Mussolini's minister of corporations, declares there is no longer a question of preserving the chamber or transforming it; "it is already dead. It has ceased to operate as a living element in modern politics." Bottai thinks this is true of all other parliaments.

"The country no longer feels that parliament represents it and stands between it and its government. The relation between governors and governed is concretized in other organs and institutions in modern life. The Fascist party and the labor syndicates and Mussolini the dictator are better means of keeping up direct contacts between the people and the régime, between the government and the governed," declares Mussolini's young friend.

This article speaks for the group within the party which wants to sweep the chamber out of existence rather than fuse it with the council of corporations.

WELCH'S USED ON REDUCING DIET

People who have given the most thorough study to the science of reducing healthfully have lately brought out some very interesting facts.

For years the "grape cure" has been prescribed by the most eminent European doctors as the ideal method of healthful weight reduction. But that involves the eating of many pounds of grapes daily, which is not practical.

It has now been shown that Welch's Certified-Pure, Pasteurized Grape Juice contains all the elements of the grape useful for weight control purposes. The rest is unnecessary. And modern science has discovered that Welch's belongs on every reducing diet, because its non-fattening grape sugar forces the body to burn up its fat. Excess weight melts away . . . health, vitality and strength improve. The whole treatment—in a very readable booklet entitled, "Keeping Your Weight Down," is yours free for the asking.

If you have children

you will be interested in another booklet Welch has published, called "Red-Blooded Children." It describes a wonderful method of building up the youngsters, correcting anemia.

If you will send your name and address to The Welch Grape Juice Co., Dept. 1020, Westfield, N. Y., you will receive either or both of these booklets FREE.

To save time let Welch's start you on the road to health today! Get a bottle of Welch's from your dealer; drink a glass before breakfast, once or twice during the day and before retiring. Because of its purity, Welch's may be diluted with one-third water, and many prefer it so. Continue—and in a few days you will experience the wonderful difference.

IMPORTANT: Insist on Welch's. It is the exclusive Welch Process that retains in the bottled juice the healthful properties of ripe grapes so essential to the system. Only Welch's is Certified-Pure and Pasteurized. It contains no adulterants, no synthetic flavors, no artificial coloring, no preservatives, no water, and above all, no tartaric acid crystals. It is selling at the lowest price in 35 years, and is even cheaper by the case. Send for free booklet TODAY.

Oh, What a Girl ...is QUIET MAY!

FEMININE in name—but don't let that fool you! Quiet MAY has a most vigorous, masculine character.

I brought Quiet MAY to Chicago after a sensational record in New York, London, Paris and Rome. All over the East and in foreign lands she is known for her stamina—her in-built quality. See her . . and you'll agree she has EVERYTHING!

Quiet MAY is a real automatic oil heating system—not just another burner.

Quiet MAY provides instant heat and hot water on less fuel.

Quiet MAY converts any boiler or furnace into a modern oil heating system. Built like a fine watch—only two moving parts. It cost $300,000 to perfect the gerotor pump—an exclusive patented feature.

And she has a sapphire jeweled atomizer . . . cushioned power, no vibration or noise . . . electric ignition . . . thermostatic control.

Another outstanding, exclusive Quiet MAY feature is the Waterbacked Combustion Chamber. This great improvement installed in your old boiler gives you a complete modern oil heating system which effects great savings in fuel consumption. It gives you an operating efficiency equal to and greater than other systems requiring new boiler installation . . . and at approximately half the cost.

Thirty-five thousand satisfied users say they don't know it's in the house. And such users—engineers, architects, airplane builders, royalty, statesmen and famous industrialists!

You can't afford to buy any heating system until you find out about Quiet MAY. You can buy it on the budget plan . . . and you can have clean, automatic oil heat in your home all winter at Low Cost. Why be satisfied with less than the Quiet MAY?

. . . Peter Sampson.

MAJ. GEN. PARKER GIVEN COMMAND IN PHILIPPINES

Maj. Gen. Preston Brown to Be Successor Here.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area since April, 1929, has been transferred by the war department to the command of the Philippine department. The order, received by radio at the corps headquarters yesterday afternoon, directed Maj. Gen. Parker to sail to his new headquarters at Manila on an army transport ship leaving San Francisco on Nov. 23.

The new Sixth corps commander will be Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, now commander of the Panama canal district. Maj. Gen Brown has been deputy chief of staff in Washington, and prior to 1930 was commander of the First corps area in Boston. He is a son of an army colonel, and a graduate of Yale university and Trinity college. He rose to his present command from the ranks, having received his appointment to West Point while serving as an enlisted man in the regular army.

Family Going with Parker.

Gen. Parker's transfer is in accordance with army routine under which officers serve alternate terms of four years at home stations and three years in foreign posts. He will be accompanied to Manila by his wife, Mrs. Katherine Lahm Parker, and their daughter, Anne.

A South Carolinian, Gen. Parker was known to Chicagoans when he arrived here four years ago only by his outstanding world war record. He commanded first an infantry regiment, then an infantry brigade of the First division, and finally, in the Argonne compaign, he commanded the First division.

During his service in the Sixth corps area, Gen. Parker fathered the Army Relief society, organized to aid the widows and children of officers and enlisted men in the United States army, and during the last two years personally directed the army shows given at Soldiers' field, and the army displays which have been a part of A Century of Progress Exposition.

Revive Social Life at Fort.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Parker are credited with having revived the old time social life at Fort Sheridan, where they made their home. They also renewed as one of the brilliant social events of the winter season the Army ball. Miss Anne Parker, who was last year voted the most beautiful girl at Smith college, has been popular among the younger social groups.

Dispatches from Washington yesterday announced the following transfers of other major generals: E. E. Booth, from commander of the Philippine department to the 9th corps area at San Francisco; Edwin Winans, from the 8th corps area at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., to office of chief of staff, Washington; Harold B. Fiske, from Atlantic sector of the Panama Canal department to command of the whole department; Johnson Hagood, from command of the 7th corps area at Omaha to the 8th corps area; Frank McCoy, from the 1st cavalry division at Fort Bliss to the 7th corps area.

HOLDS PAIR TO GRAND JURY.

In a hearing lasting less than a minute, Judge Thomas A. Green in the Felony court yesterday bound to the grand jury two alleged robbers, William Harrington, 25 years old, and James Walker, 34 years old. They were identified in a café robbery.

BATES ENTERS NOT GUILTY PLEA IN URSCHEL CASE

Jail at Denver Is Guarded During Hearing.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Albert Bates was arraigned at the county jail today on federal kidnaping charges in connection with the abduction of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man, and pleaded not guilty.

United States Commissioner Leo Crowley fixed bond at $100,000, which Bates did not furnish. Heavily armed guards surrounded the jail office during the proceedings.

Bates was represented by Attorney Ben B. Laska of Denver, who was counsel for Mrs. Verne Sankey when she was tried recently in St. Paul as one of the kidnapers of William Hamm Jr.

Urschel May Not Testify.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The government has enough evidence, District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde declared today, to put the kidnapers of Charles F. Urschel behind prison bars for life without calling the oil millionaire as a witness.

The evidence will be placed before a federal grand jury, called to convene Wednesday to return indictments against eleven suspects. These, chief of whom are Harvey Bailey, fugitive Kansas convict held at Dallas, Tex., and Albert Bates, under arrest at Denver, will be brought here for trial probably in September.

GRANADY SLAYING IN 1928 PRIMARY COSTS CITY $7,000

As an aftermath to the murder of Octavius Granady, Negro politician, by a gang of gunmen in the streets of the 20th ward on primary day, April 19, 1928, the corporation counsel's office yesterday certified to the city controller for payment two judgments obtained against the city under the mob act.

The act makes the city liable for damages to any person suffered at the hands of a mob, which is defined as five or more persons attempting to inflict violence. One judgment, for $2,000, was obtained before Judge James J. Kelly in the Superior court by Mrs. Mary C. Johnson of New York, sister of Granady. Another, for $5,000, was obtained before Judge John J. Sullivan in the Superior court by William Huff, 5918 South Wabash avenue, one of Granady's Negro companions, who lost an eye in the gang chase which culminated in the murder.

Euclid Taylor, Negro lawyer and former assistant state's attorney, was also an occupant of the Granady car. He settled with the city out of court.

NEW YORK VOTES DEATH PENALTY FOR THE KIDNAP GANGS

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Gov. Lehman's bill, providing a death penalty for kidnapers when their victim has not been returned prior to trial, was passed by the assembly tonight and sent to the governor for his signature.

The bill lost some of its teeth because the governor's plan was to bar negotiations with kidnapers and the payment of ransom, under severe penalty. That provision was changed, so negotiating with kidnapers or paying ransom does not become a felony, provided the persons involved do not withhold information from the authorities. Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, New York Democrat, offered the view that all kidnapers ought to be "lynched."

2 ALKY PEDDLERS SHOT TO DEATH; SEEK EX-SLEUTH

One Slain in Street; Other in Auto.

James Spencer, 35 years old, 713 Roscoe street, described as a minor hoodlum, was shot once below the heart and killed this morning in front of 3208 Sheffield avenue. It was the second hoodlum killing within twelve hours, the first victim being Leo Mule, 47 years old, 1448 Cleveland avenue.

One witness in the Spencer slaying was found, and on the basis of his story police began a search for George [Chief] Redston, 31 years old, a former investigator for Alexander Jamie's Secret Six. This witness told police that when the killer walked up to Spencer, Spencer cried out: "Don't chief, don't." The man fired and fled north in Sheffield avenue, leaving his victim dying on the sidewalk.

Recall Redston Shooting.

Redston and Spencer both were known around the Sheffield-Belmont avenue district as petty gamblers. Last Dec. 30, Redston was slightly wounded by one of two racketeers within 50 feet of where Spencer was murdered. Revenge for this shooting of Redston is believed by the police to have been the motive for the Spencer killing. Redston was dismissed from the Secret Six some time before he was shot because of a mixup with Shirley Kub, an investigator for the organization.

Spencer was known as a booze and beer peddler as well as a gambler, police said. In his pockets when he was found were cards bearing the name: "United Breweries Distributors," agents for fine beers. The telephone number listed was traced to the Lincoln grill, 4445 Lincoln avenue.

Mule Killed in Auto.

Police considered the possibility that the murders of Spencer and Mule were linked. Mule, a minor alcohol peddler and beer flat operator, was assassinated by a companion as they drove in an automobile in front of 526 West Division street.

The killer placed a gun to Mule's head, fired, and then jumped out of the car. He escaped in another car which had been following. The assassin was described as a tall, thin man.

Mule's brother, Sam, a bootlegger, was slain in April, 1932, at 325 Menominee street, where Sam Mule had headquarters. His death was blamed on Capone followers.

75 ROBBERIES ARE CONFESSED BY BANDIT GANG

Four Negroes, in custody at the detective bureau, yesterday confessed they had committed 75 robberies. Police also believe they are the slayers of Mrs. Lillian Bermele, 40 years old, 7000 South Rockwell street, sister of South Park Policeman Walter Lane, who was murdered the night of Aug. 2, at 70th street and Campbell avenue, supposedly by purse snatchers.

The men held are LeRoy Teamer, in whose home at 5248 South Park avenue the four were arrested Sunday; James Sublette, alias Logan, 531 Bowen avenue; Sylvester Evans, 5704 Indiana avenue, and Carl Rhodes. Police found three revolvers in Teamer's home.

More than a score of robbery victims identified the men. The Negroes confessed robbing 15 Walgreen drug stores, 25 Atlantic and Pacific tea stores, 30 Consumers grocery stores, and a number of individuals.

Bandits Posing as Police Hold Up Auto Collector

Two robbers posing as policemen held up Otto J. Nelson, a collector for the Packard Motor Car company, at 57th street and Stony Island avenue and took $1,274 and a $1,000 Liberty bond from him.

TAKES 3 KINDS OF POISON; DIES.

Arthur N. Levi 52 years old, 622 Barry avenue, died yesterday in his home from the effects of three varieties of poison which he took last Tuesday in an attempt to end his life.

CHIROPRACTOR IS HELD CAPTOR OF ST. PAUL DOCTOR

Suspect Hurt in Second Mystery Case.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Dr. W. H. Hedberg, local chiropractor, has been identified as the man who kidnaped and assaulted Dr. E. J. Enberg, secretary of the Minnesota board of medical examiners, it was announced today by M. F. Kinkead Ramsey, county attorney.

Dr. Enberg was lured from his home last July 12 by a fake telephone call. He was kidnaped and ordered to perform a mutilation operation on the chiropractor. When he refused he was drugged. Some time afterward Hedberg and Engberg were compelled by police to enact the kidnaping events. It was while the chiropractor was dressed in the clothes of an oil station attendant that he was identified as Engberg's captor, the county attorney said.

Wounded in Ear.

Shortly after the kidnaping Hedberg was found, with a bullet wound in one ear, some distance from where the physician was picked up in his automobile on a railroad crossing. The motive for the attack on Dr. Engberg and the injury of Hedberg has not been disclosed.

Hedberg is now in a local hospital, semi-conscious, after being found early Sunday in a railroad yard here. He was bruised and drugged. An officer guarded his hospital room and he was ordered held for investigation. Police have been at a loss to explain his latest injury.

Tells of Threats.

Attorney Elwood Fitchette, counsel for Hedberg, told authorities that the chiropractor had received threatening notes and telephone messages. One of the telephone messages warned him he had "better watch his step and lay off," while another warning, written on paper, was placed in the back seat of the chiropractor's automobile, the attorney said. He declared that Mrs. Hedberg had also received several threatening telephone messages.

2 IN AUTO FALL IN CANYON 1,000 FEET; 1 KILLED

Santa Fé, N. M., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Seriously injured in an automobile accident that cost the life of William Hunter, 38, of Buffalo, N. Y., Jane McLean, Santa Fé dancer, made a grueling climb from the bottom of a 1,000 foot canyon today and obtained aid.

The car in which Hunter and the girl were riding plunged from the road at the head of Taos canyon, about 15 miles south of Taos, last night and hurtled down the slope when Hunter became blinded by the lights of an approaching automobile.

Miss McLean was thrown clear when the car had rolled about half way down. Hunter was trapped in the machine and went the full distance.

The girl tried to lift him, but he was pinned under the car. She bathed his face and bandaged him, using part of her clothing, not knowing he was dead. She remained with him all night, though badly cut and losing much blood. She climbed to the road this morning.

In Taos, physicians said she was suffering from shock, in addition to loss of blood and the injuries.

A party from Taos went for Hunter's body. It will be taken to Fargo, N. D. A brother was reported en route here by air. The dead man's sisters are Mrs. Richmond Welles, Jersey City, N. J., and Mrs. Francis Butler, Winnetka, Ill.

Captive Snake Struggles for Life Against Spiders

An eight inch snake, captive in a spider web, and fighting for its life against two victorious spiders, was discovered yesterday in the garage behind the home of William Keelor at 14632 Loomis avenue, Harvey. The discovery was made by Mrs. Keelor.

Loses Race by Airplane to See His Daughter Alive

Prescott, Ariz., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—James G. O'Brien, Chicago, arrived here today by airplane a few hours too late to see his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Koppes, who died last night.

Hamm Kidnaping Suspect Is Turned Over to U. S.

Arthur Reese, 38 years old, reputed Touhy gangster, was turned over to federal authorities yesterday for further investigation in connection with the recent kidnapings of John [Jake the Barber] Factor and William Hamm Jr., St. Paul brewer. Reese was seized in La Salle, Ill., several days ago by Sheriff E. J. Welter.

THE CAT'S-PAW a new serial by CLARENCE BUDINGTON KELLAND

A missionary's son, brought up from babyhood in a remote Chinese village, comes to America and to the city of his birth. American life and customs bewilder him. American girls baffle him. Crooked politicians impose upon his simple honesty.

But Ezekiel Cobb is steeped in the practical wisdom of the ancient Chinese sages—and he has come to this city, where racketeering is a new word, from a land where banditry is already four thousand years old! So, when a freak of "reform" politics and a solid punch to the mayor's jaw actually landslides him into office as mayor elect, the fun begins.

FOUR KILLERS ON TRIAL THIS WEEK IN WAR ON CRIME

Sixteen More Criminals Are Sent to Prison.

Four slayers, two of them police killers, will be on trial in the Criminal court before the week is over as a result of actions taken yesterday by three of the judges. The judges are helping Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court in his campaign against quick triggered gunmen, who since Jan. 1 have taken the lives of eleven policemen.

Several of the slayers begged for a chance to escape the electric chair by pleading guilty, it was reported, but the judges and assistant prosecutors are determined that no bargaining will be tolerated.

In addition to arranging for the murder trials, the nine judges, eight of them volunteers, imposed sentences on sixteen more criminals yesterday, bringing the total up to 160 penal sentences meted out since the war started three weeks ago.

More Judges Needed.

In view of the impending murder trials, which will take the entire time of three of the judges for several days at least, Chief Justice Prystalski renewed his call for more volunteer judges to keep the campaign going at full speed. The grand jury yesterday, it was reported, held an informal discussion on the fact that only two judges, Kickham Scanlan and Donald S. McKinlay, answered the last call.

John Scheck, whose killing of Policeman John Sevick in the courtroom of Judge Charles P. Molthrop three weeks ago started the present campaign, will go to trial before Judge Harry B. Miller. His case was before Judge Marcus Kavanagh, veteran of the bench, and a change of venue was taken from both Judges Kavanagh and Scanlan. The case was promptly assigned to Judge Miller, who said trial would be started within a few days.

Scheck and his mother, Mrs. Rose Scheck, who is indicted jointly with him, are to appear this morning for the disposal of preliminary motions. Mrs. Scheck fainted again yesterday.

Try Police Killer Tomorrow.

Morris Cohen, confessed slayer of Policeman Joseph Hastings during a robbery last week of a city street department office on the Navy pier, is due to go on trial tomorrow morning before a jury in Judge Scanlan's court. Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach said he will be ready for trial.

When the case was called Mr. Bachrach asked for a conference with the judge and Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley. The judge was at first reluctant to grant a private interview, but finally consented. When he returned to the bench he announced the case would start before a jury tomorrow morning.

It was reported that an effort was made to bargain at the conference, but all proposals were spurned by the judge and prosecutor.

Killers Fear Execution.

The trial of Chester Gallas and James Kuratko, indicted last week for the murder of Jacob C. Pederson, a street car conductor, during a robbery on Cicero avenue, will start in Judge Kavanagh's court on Thursday morning. Attorney Julius T. Skrydlewski, who appeared for the defendants yesterday, indicated a desire to bargain for any penalty outside of the electric chair. Even an offer of 100 year sentences, it was reported, fell on deaf ears of the judge and prosecutor.

If all three murder cases start to trial as scheduled, this week will far outstrip any record ever before established in the local Criminal courts for so-called capital cases. It is usually two or three months before such a case is forced to trial.

The difference between the methods prior to the present crime war and those now in force was illustrated yesterday in the courts presided over by Judges Miller and Ross C. Hall. Before the latter Jack Simon, who during his crime career is charged with having robbed at least ten dress shops, sought to evade trial by the contention that his lawyer was ill.

Delay Plea Ridiculed.

"This case was up on Aug. 4 and I granted a continuance on the plea that Attorney Harold A. Fein desired to go away for a few days," said the judge. "It is perfectly ridiculous to come in here now and ask for another continuance when we have a courtroom full of witnesses. It is not fair to these witnesses. There is something funny about this. The case will go to trial today."

Attorney Leo L. Stone, an associate of Attorney Fein, said he was not competent to try a criminal case. The public defender was sent for and a jury was placed in the box. Simon himself begged for a change of venue. This was denied. He then decided to plead guilty to robbing the New York dress shop, 3173 Lincoln avenue. Sentence, however, was deferred until Aug. 31 to give his lawyer a chance to appear at that time.

Judge Miller had a case before him where the witnesses have been to court nineteen times. The case originally was continued to the September calendar before the present drive started. The attorney protested that it could not be advanced, but Judge Miller pointed out that he was given due notice on Aug. 4 that his case would be tried today.

Judge Miller called a jury into the box and started trial of the case, which probably will be finished today. The defendants are Leo Smith and Joseph Golembieski, who are charged with robbing the shop of John Daniel, 2100 West 50th place, last fall. Shots were exchanged by the robbers in making their escape.

C. H. Plitt, 8213 South May street, one of the witnesses against Smith and Golembieski, protested when told he would have to return to court again today. He said he lost $86 in the robbery of his shop on Oct. 29, 1932. Since that time he has appeared in court 14 times, he said, and each time he has had to hire a man at $7.50 per day to take his place in the shop. The prosecution, however, chose to try the defendants on the Daniels' charge at this time and Plitt was finally told that he would be excused until further notice.

List Criminals Sentenced.

Those found guilty and sentenced yesterday are the following:

HENRY BROD, 37, sentenced to 1 to 10 years by Judge Prystalski, for embezzlement. He took $70,000 during a period of years from his employers, Henry P. Kransz Co., 29 South La Salle street, mortgage brokers.

FRANK KULAK, 19, sentenced to 1 to 10 years by Judge Prystalski for stealing the automobile of Bernard Gelbart, 2536 North Sawyer avenue, on July 20.

GEORGE CHIMIEL, 20, sentenced by Judge Scanlan to 1 year to life for robbery of Earl Sullivan, 15 North Laramie avenue, a truck driver, on July 3.

DAN OLIGAR, 18; WILLIAM MITNEK, 18, and RAY ALEXANDER, 17, sentenced to 1 year to life each by Judge Hall for burglary of the Continental Furnishing company, 1520 Fullerton avenue, on July 24.

KATHERINE BROCKMAN, 23, and CLIFFORD WRIGHT, 20, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each by Judge Prystalski. They worked the so-called "badger game" on several men.

JERRY MANCINI, 37, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller after a jury found him guilty of incest.

JAMES O'DONNELL, 26; ARTHUR KAESEL, 31; JACK COLE, 29, and LAWRENCE LAKROQUETTE, 29, sentenced to 1 year to life each by Judge Kavanagh. They were found guilty of robbing Robert Cram, 2703 South 59th court, Cicero, clerk in a cigar store at 864 North State street.

FRANK NOVAK, 20, sentenced to 1 year to life by Judge McKinlay for burglarizing a hardware store. His police record dates from 1914.

WILLIAM POLK, 26, colored, sentenced to 1 year to life for robbery by Judge McKinlay. He took $9 from Lionel Dyneck, 5441 Ingleside avenue, on July 16.

ALEX MARINO, 51, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Scanlan. He was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury. He shot and killed his wife, Sarah, during an argument over some money.

Charles Pfannenschmidt, an old time criminal, begged for delay when he was brought before Judge Kavanagh. He was put to trial before a jury on a habitual criminal charge and the case will be finished today.

"Judge, I cannot get a fair trial with my past record and with all this heat on," he said. "Let the case go to some other time."

Court attachés yesterday commented on the changed situation in the courts. For the first time in their memory, they said, twelve juries were at work at one time in the building. In some courts the judge had one jury out and another starting trial of a second case.

JUDGE PRAISES FUND FOR AID OF WIDOWS OF POLICE HEROES

Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior court yesterday commended THE TRIBUNE for its campaign to aid the widows of slain police heroes through the Police Hero fund. The fund was established several weeks ago after Policeman John G. Sevick was slain in the Criminal Courts building with a smuggled weapon, the ninth policeman to be killed by gunmen since Jan. 1. Two have been slain since Sevick's death.

"Policemen are brave men who fulfill their duties," Judge Sabath asserted. "It is comforting for them to know as they go into danger that their families will be taken care of. A policeman fears nothing if he knows that. I heartily indorse THE TRIBUNE'S campaign to help these destitute widows of our slain police heroes."

The Police Hero fund received $32 yesterday, making a grand total of $4,899.30. Three $10 checks came from three Evanston women who asked that the gifts be acknowledged as "anonymous friends." Dr. Arrie Bamberger sent $2 to the fund.

Checks should be sent to the Police Hero fund in care of the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower. Each contribution will be acknowledged in this newspaper.

Paroled Mail Robber Hunted for Deal in Stolen U. S. Bonds

Federal secret service agents yesterday were seeking Jimmy Murray, paroled Rondout mail robber, after being informed that Murray's ornate hot dog stand at Harlem and North avenues was the scene recently of a deal in stolen government bonds.

Information concerning the stolen bond deal came from Mrs. Mayme McOwen of 841 Washington avenue, Racine, Wis., described by federal agents as catspaw in the stolen bond transfer and sale. She told of receiving $300 from a man known as "Ray," in Murray's presence, for disposing of $5,750 in Liberty bonds and other government securities. "Ray" is being hunted as well as Murray.

Bonds Stolen in Texas.

Mrs. McOwen, who now has her freedom on bond after a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker several days ago, said she received the money in Murray's hot dog stand. The bonds were found to have been taken in the robbery of a Texas bank.

According to Assistant United States Attorney Austin Hall, the stolen securities were exchanged for cash at the First National bank of Chicago after inquiries had been made at the federal reserve bank. It was later reported that they had been stolen from the Texas bank, and an investigation disclosed that some of the numbers had been cut off, which constitutes another federal offense.

Woman Confesses Part.

Mrs. McOwen was arrested on a warrant issued in Milwaukee and questioned here by Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan until she admitted the bonds had reached her through a devious route, but that she had been paid for her part by "Ray," with Murray's knowledge.

Murray, a former west side politician and brewer, was paroled from Atlanta penitentiary in 1930 after serving six years of a 25 year sentence. He was convicted of participation in the $2,000,000 Rondout mail robbery of 1924, and during the latter part of his imprisonment made restitution of $385,000, his share of the loot.

Arkansas House, Senate Each Passes Beer Bill

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The senate this afternoon, by 22 to 9, passed its own beer bill and ordered it immediately transmitted to the house. The emergency clause was adopted, 29 to 1. The house has passed its own beer bill. It is now in the senate. The legislature expects to complete its beer action tomorrow.

SONSTEBY CALLS CONFERENCE TO PUNISH CRIME

The punishment of criminals was the subject of a conference called yesterday by Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court.

Two new statutes of the last legislature permit more drastic handling of the hoodlums who now may be prosecuted more readily as vagabonds. The statutes also remove unnecessary obstacles to the searching of their homes and cars, Justice Sonsteby stated. The police department was asked to supply at once the names of 50 public enemies and 200 or 300 later, against whom warrants will be issued.

Lyle Promises Fireworks.

It was a meeting designed to stimulate coöperation at which others than judges appeared and all promised to do their part. Judge John H. Lyle declared the meeting too tame and announced he was going to set off fireworks.

"We judges of the Municipal court have all got to get hard boiled," said Lyle. "I am sorry Judge Kasper [Michael G. Kasper] was criticized for turning out Joe Saltis' chauffeur, but as there was no doubt about who the defendant was—a man with a reputation as a killer—I'd have sent him to jail anyway.

"Criminals have been getting away through the municipal court. If we'd all been hard boiled the gangsters would never have been so firmly established. We get first crack at criminals and we find judges looking for technicalities to free them. Should we force a policeman who sees "Three Finger" White walking the street to tell him to stop and wait until a search warrant can be obtained?

Asks Fight on Criminals.

"What constitutional right has "Three Finger" White to walk the streets with a gun in his pocket? Recently I heard an evangelist say a man got religion after his third murder. We judges can give criminals religion and we ought to do it."

Judge Frank M. Padden said the Municipal court doesn't need advice because it already has a commendable record. There must be a government of law and not of men, he said, and judges must follow the law and the constitution.

Judge John Gutknecht said he had been teaching law twenty years and he wanted to know the sense of the meeting. Were the judges going to follow the law or Judge Lyle's opinions? He said he was astounded at hearing a judge say he would railroad a man because he was the chauffeur of a bootlegger.

Resolutions Out of Order.

Gutknecht asked his fellow judges to join in a resolution to disregard Lyle and to follow the law and the constitution. Chief Justice Sonsteby said resolutions were not in order and there should be no dissension when swatting criminals was at issue.

Judge Thomas A. Green of the Felony court spoke caustically to Police Commissioner Allman, who was present. He asked for the names to be inserted in vagrancy warrants a week ago and hasn't received a name yet, Judge Green declared.

Other speakers at the meeting were Mayor Kelly, First Assistant State's Attorney Grover C. Niemeyer, George Rossetter, chairman of the Association of Commerce; Henry Barrett Chamberlin of the crime commission; John D. Black, president of the Chicago Bar association, and Commissioner Allman, each of whom spoke briefly.

"I would like to have the judges refrain from roasting policemen in public," Mayor Kelly said. "This can be done in chambers if it is necessary, but don't give policemen a black eye with the people. We have a good police force. The policemen are doing their duty and getting shot doing it."

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

NURSE AVOIDS QUIZZING; DELAY RAPE HEARING

Polo Captain Describes Ride to Evanston.

tain of the victorious Western team in the national polo tournament which ended Sunday at the Onwentsia club, Lake Forest, claimed to have collected evidence disproving the nurse's statement that she had struggled two hours in the ravine before succumbing to Smith's advances.

They said at least five witnesses were available to corroborate Smith's statement that on his Friday night drive with the nurse from Lake Forest to Evanston there was no stop in the ravine and that the forty mile round trip was completed in an hour and forty minutes.

Leave Lake Forest Inn.

Several of these witnesses, it is said, will testify that Smith left the Deerpath inn, Lake Forest, at 10:40 p. m., with Miss Rose in his car, drove her to Evanston, and arrived back at the inn by 12:15 a. m.

The polo player issued a statement admitting that he had driven the nurse home but denying he had acted anything but the gentleman. Miss Rose had been nursing Smith's teammate, Rube Williams, who had suffered a fractured leg in a match last Wednesday.

"I drove Miss Rose home Friday evening and did what any gentleman would have done under the circumstances," he said. "That night Rube Williams was transferred from the hospital to the Deerpath inn. I escorted Miss Rose and Rube to the hotel room.

"I then offered to drive her home because she had been so kind to Rube. Miss Rose and I left the room together, descended to the lobby and got into my car. It was then 10:30 p. m. We drove south to Evanston, engaging in civil conversation, mostly about polo and its fascination. I delivered her at her door. I cannot understand Miss Rose's charges unless they are a deliberate frameup."

Notwithstanding Smith's mention of a "frameup," Miss Rose will not lack for character witnesses if and when the issue is decided. Miss Ada Belle McCleery, superintendent of the Evanston hospital, where Miss Rose took her training, and Miss Elizabeth Odell, director of the hospital's nursing school, both vouched for her good name and truthfulness.

"Always Told the Truth."

"Miss Rose is known to us as a nice girl and of good reputation," said Miss McCleery. "I have no reason to disbelieve her story of this attack."

"Miss Rose is well educated and comes from a splendid family," said Miss Odell. "Her reputation for truthfulness is, so far as I know, unquestionable. At no time in her career here did she give us any reason to question her. She was a good student, a good nurse and always told the truth."

BANDITS HOLD UP TWO WOMEN AND 3 U. OF C. STUDENTS

Three bandits held up two women on the south side this morning, getting more than $6,000 in jewelry and cash, and then robbed three University of Chicago students, the latter in separate holdups.

The women robbed were Miss Dorothy Byton, a theatrical producer and performer, living at 7724 Euclid avenue, and Miss Rose Dentino of Peoria, Ill., a dancing professor who is in Chicago attending the dancing masters' convention.

They were in Miss Byton's car on the way to her home when they were stopped at 77th street and Euclid avenue. One of the bandits called to Miss Byton and said, "We want your ring, Dorothy." He took the ring, a platinum article set with 52 diamonds and valued at $5,000. He also took her platinum watch, valued at $1,000, and a man's watch valued at $125. Miss Dentino lost about $25 in inexpensive jewelry and money. Miss Byton said the bandits evidently knew her, probably from having attended rehearsals at her home.

The robbers then visited the Midway and within a few minutes stopped and robbed Richard A. Harvell, 5729 Kimbark avenue; Winfield Lowe, 6103 Kimbark avenue, and Carl Cassell, Hitchcock hall, University of Chicago. Harvell lost $3 and a $40 watch. Lowe was robbed of $10 and a $50 watch, and Cassell was robbed of $3 and a $50 watch.

HELPED CAPTURE JEFFERSON DAVIS, IS DEAD AT 80

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Death has claimed Mrs. Jane Siegmund Johnston, 80, who as a girl in Georgia figured in the capture of Jefferson Davis, president of the southern confederacy. She died here Sunday.

When she was 12 years old, Mrs. Johnston lived with her parents near Irwinville, Ga. That was in May of 1865. The confederacy had collapsed.

The girl noticed a stranger in the vicinity. Union soldiers were encamped nearby and she told them about it. The stranger soon was in custody and was identified as Jefferson Davis, who was attempting to make his way through Georgia and across the Mississippi in the vain hope of continuing the civil war. Instead he was taken as a prisoner to Fortress Monroe, Virginia.

Mrs. Pollack Sues "Crime House" Over Her Picture

Mrs. Dorothy Pollack, who was acquitted a year ago of the murder of her husband, Joseph, yesterday filed a bill in the Superior court to enjoin the "Crime House," a concession on Northerly island at the Fair, from displaying her picture and scenes of her trial before Judge Harry M. Fisher. The bill, filed by Attorney W. W. O'Brien, asserts that Mrs. Pollack is now living a "good life" and that the exhibition of her photograph "will bring her into disgrace and ridicule." Hearing on the petition, which also names Carl Dreutzer, owner of the "Crime House" as a defendant, was set for tomorrow before Judge Joseph Sabath.

BOUGHT RECTOR'S WEDDING SUIT, HEIRESS SWEARS

Dorothy Eckhart Williams Testifies in Divorce Action

many times until 4 a. m. He made dreadful sounds; he staggered and fell over the furniture.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that he came home from the funeral so sick that he stayed in bed for a week? A.—He came home from the funeral, but not so sick that he didn't invite a friend over, drank with him, and then went to bed.

Happenings of the night of March 11, a week later, made her decide definitely to seek a divorce, Mrs. Williams said. After leaving their home at about noon, Mrs. Williams testified, he returned home that night. Shortly after he went to his room, his daughter, Katherine Williams, came home with several friends.

Q.—What happened then? A.—He came out of his room in bathrobe and pajamas, leaned over the rail and swore at Katherine and her guests. Then he came to my room and beckoned for me to come out, but I was afraid of him.

Says Rector Swore.

Q.—How do you know he was drunk? A.—I could see it on his face, as I always can, and he swore.

Q.—How can you tell it on his face. A.—I can see it in his eyes and by his expression. I could tell by his walk, and the way he talked.

Q.—Is he drunk now? A.—No.

Q.—Didn't your daughter's guests make a lot of noise, and didn't he need peace and quiet before Sunday services? A.—He had peace and quiet.

Questioned later in the hearing as to what he shouted at his daughter and her guests, Mrs. Williams said: "He repeated 'You damn—' again and again."

Q.—Who were with your daughter that night? A.—Hackett Adams, Carol Berg, and Jack Bellinger were with my daughter.

Q.—How long did you know your husband to be a drinker? A.—Ever since I knew him. He was a silent drinker. He drank alone. He wasn't a social drinker. He would refuse a drink when there were guests, then he would go to his room and drink.

Q.—Did you ever drink with him? A.—Yes, some times. He often asked me to drink a nightcap with him. Many times I threw the highball away, though, so he wouldn't have it.

Q.—Was drinking a nightly custom? A.—I often heard him open the suitcase he kept his liquor in, take out bottles and pour himself drinks.

Mentioned the "Disgracefulness."

Q.—Did you ever forbid drinking in your home? A.—I told him how disgraceful it was for a priest of the church to drink to the point of intoxication.

Q.—Is he the only member of the family that drank? A.—My daughter drank some, but not excessively.

Q.—Did you admonish her? A.—Yes, but her father never did. He kept putting it off.

Q.—Did you ever remove liquor from the house? A.—It wouldn't have done any good. They could have gotten more easily.

Q.—Did you ever ask him to replenish the store of liquor after he had ordered it removed from the house? A.—No, he wouldn't take orders from me.

Q.—At what period in your married life did he drink most? A.—During the last ten years.

Q.—Why did you have your son then? Wasn't he born eight years ago? A.—It was pure chance that we had the child; there was nothing planned.

Tells of Black Eye.

Attorney Slensby inquired concerning alleged incidents of violences.

Q.—When did you begin fearing Mr. Williams? A.—When we lived on Hartford avenue, many years ago. There were times I could scarcely breathe for fear of him.

Q.—Can you give specific examples. A.—Certainly. Once he knocked me out of bed; another time he gave me a black eye.

Q.—How many black eyes did he give you? A.—One. To shield him I told people that I stumbled against a bed post. I deliberately lied on that occasion to save him. My brother-in-law was coming to see us that weekend. Mr. Williams went out and bought some theatrical paint to cover up the blackness around my eye.

Q.—Wasn't Mr. Williams in ill-health for many years? A.—Yes, he had kidney trouble from his excessive drinking.

Mrs. Williams, on questioning by the rector's attorneys, described incidents on several motor trips they made with their daughter Katherine to the east. Once at a Cape Cod resort, Mrs. Williams testified, he became intoxicated before they went to dinner with the family of Bishop Frederick Budlong.

"Because of anger with me or the servants or the food, he began swearing loudly, even in front of their small son. Mrs. Budlong said that Mr. Williams should apologize for his language and manners."

WARNS FOOD MEN U. S. WILL PUNISH CODE SLACKERS

Blanket Program Called a Temporary Measure.

Since the progress of the nation depends upon the willingness of each industry to do its part in the recovery program, those that are content to operate under the blanket code sent out from Washington will soon be known as slackers in the full wartime meaning of the word, John Van Der Vries of the United States Chamber of Commerce told the convention of the National Food Distributors yesterday at the Hotel Sherman. Drafting of an industrial code is one of the major items on the convention schedule.

"When that blanket code was sent out a couple of weeks ago it was never intended to fit all businesses," Mr. Van Der Vries said. "It was actually meant to stimulate each industry into formulating its own code, with especial attention paid to maximum hours of work and minimum wages. The thought behind it was that government couldn't wait for the various industries to take their own time about it, because we couldn't afford to go into the winter under the same conditions that faced us these last few years.

Real Penalty for Slackers.

"So the blanket code was drawn up and put into effect. The administration believes that each industry can make its own code and can enforce observance of it within its own confines. If there are some people who can't be forced into line then government will take charge and impose a real penalty."

More than forty per cent additional space was required to handle the exhibits at this convention over the preceding year, according to E. W. Rosenheim, president of the organization. Reports from food distributors from all sections of the country, he added, indicate that business is experiencing an upturn everywhere and that much depends upon the code which was in preparation last night by a committee appointed by him.

Novelties on Exhibit.

Novelties included in the exhibits for the first time were Harding's famous corned beef, now on the market as a canned product; a powdered salad dressing which requires only the addition of water and the requisite amount of olive or other oil; a powdered ice cream to which evaporated milk is added, the whole popped into the electric refrigerator for freezing, and shredded coconut tinted in pastel shades for cake icings. The coloring, it is claimed, preserves the natural oils of the coconut.

TRIES TO DIE; JUDGE FREES HIM.

Thomas David, 22 years old, 600 Montrose avenue, who was prevented by a cellmate from committing suicide by hanging several weeks ago in the Town Hall police station was placed on probation for six months yesterday by Municipal Judge Harold P. O'Connell.

"RIGHT ABOUT FACE IN THE TREATMENT OF HAY FEVER"

Not Pollen, But Poison Produced By Pollen, is Prime Cause of Suffering, *Says Chicago Specialist

Finds Amazing New Direct Relief..Verifies Findings By Tests at a Famous Medical University..Treatment Astonishingly Simple

NEVER before has there been such evidence that the final answer to hay fever suffering has been found... The relief that has been demonstrated in hay fever and related allergic cases is astounding—not only prompt, but thorough. So rapid in some cases that relief appeared in the first few minutes; so thorough that all apparent symptoms had disappeared.

Not a narcotic deadening of the nerves. Not an astringent drying up of the mucous membrane. Not a salve, spray or local application of any kind. Instead a wholly new, direct action in neutralizing the effect of pollen poisoning in the system.

Amazing New Facts

This specialist thoroughly believes in the theory newly advanced by medical science that all allergic diseases (hay fever, hives, etc.), result directly from a poisonous histamine-like substance found in the blood in excess amounts. Histamine is a poisonous end-product of protein—and all pollens are protein. Regardless of what pollens the patient was sensitive to, science found that the histamine-like substance was always present. "It is the histamine poisoning caused by pollens—not the pollens themselves—which is the underlying cause of hay fever suffering," reasoned the doctor. A complete right about face.

NOTE: Hives, rose fever and urticaria are all "allergic" diseases, like hay fever and also are accompanied by excess histamine. Consequently Histeen, which combats histamine, is as effective in these diseases as in hay fever.

Histeen Is Found

Then, after 2½ years of research, the doctor developed a compound which acts to counteract histamine poisoning, neutralize its action and release the irritating effect of histamine. Unparalleled relief was obtained in scores of hay fever and related allergic cases. Tests were conducted in the laboratories of a famous medical university to verify his discovery.

Convenient Tablet Form

Now, after two and one-half years of testing in laboratory and clinic, Histeen is in your drug store. It is in convenient tablet form, taken internally, and is complete in itself without the use of sprays, gargles, salves or any other assistance. There is approximately a week's supply in each bottle.

HISTEEN

NO NARCOTICS . . . SAFE TO TAKE

These tablets promise relief to hay fever sufferers of a kind never before possible with salves, sprays, inhalers, or any other form of local application.

Already Histeen is bringing marvelous relief to hay fever sufferers who never hoped to have such freedom. No more need of tests and pollen-immunity injections. Histeen cuts right through the long and tedious injection process—neutralizes the poison itself and means relief often in a few minutes after the first dose is taken.

Do not delay. If your hay fever has not attacked you yet, you may forestall it and go through the year without a sign of it. If it has started, the quick relief Histeen brings you will probably amaze and surprise you. Get it today—just ask your druggist for Histeen. $1.00 per bottle everywhere.

EX-PRINCE 'TALKS BACK' TO NAZIS; AIDS HIS FRIENDS

Rupprecht Uses Old Time Power in Bavaria.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 21.—Kings have little to say in Germany today, yet one of them has been able to use his old time power and glory in displaying loyalty and helpfulness to friends in distress.

Ex-Crown Prince Rupprecht of Wittelsbach, of whom Bavaria speaks only as "the king," is the one. Two stories illustrate his courage.

The all powerful man in Bavaria today is Gen. Franz Ritter von Epp whom Chancellor Adolf Hitler appointed governor of Bavaria and clothed with dictatorial power. Von Epp, a Bavarian himself, is known as one of the bravest generals in the world war. He fought under Crown Prince Rupprecht.

Count Duerckheim Enters.

Equally famous in world war days was Count Duerckheim, aide de camp of Von Epp. When he retired from the army, he went in for a career of science and became professor at Kiel university. Early this spring, students disclosed that Count Duerckheim had Jewish blood. His mother was part Jewish. They clamored for his resignation. Rupprecht heard about it.

When Von Epp called on Rupprecht as governor of the crown prince's former kingdom, he appeared in his uniform as a chief of the storm troopers.

"I am accustomed to having my generals wear my uniform when they call on me," "the king" thundered reproachfully.

Von Epp mumbled and apologized.

King Rebukes Von Epp.

Then "the king" went after him. "Nazis say the idea of comradeship inspires most of their actions," he said, "but do you not know that your loyal aide and comrade, Count Duerckheim, is being persecuted just because one of his grandparents was Jewish?"

Duerckheim was reinstated.

The second story involves the arrest of almost the entire editorial staff of the Muenchener Neueste Nachrichten, a highly respected Nationalist organ, by storm troopers.

Again "King" Rupprecht stepped in. He called on Von Epp and pronounced an ultimatum.

"I can vouch for the patriotism and sense of responsibility of this group," he said. "If they are not released, I shall make public statements of such virulence that you will be compelled to arrest me, your former war chief."

The newspapermen were released. The "king," though dethroned, had proved his loyalty to his friends.

Nazis Order "Telephone Salute."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 21.—German émigrés here were chuckling today over a Berlin dispatch which declared that Prussian police must henceforth raise their right hands in the Nazi salute when telephoning a superior in line of duty. It was failure to use this gesture which brought the American surgeon, Dr. Daniel Mulvihill, a crack on the ear the other day from a Nazi storm trooper.

The order explains in detail the Nazi salute for the edification of the police.

"Stand at attention," the decree stated. "Raise the right hand extended before you so that the tips of the fingers are slightly above a level with the visor of your helmet. Then return the hand to its original position almost immediately."

The circular instructed the police to use the same salute when telephoning "if the message is official."

A Hamburg dispatch states that proprietors' places containing telephone booths have received questionnaires in which they must give their racial origin for the purpose of establishing a purely Aryan origin among phone booth proprietors.

'KISS OF DEATH' AND PAL OUT OF CELL; IN AGAIN

Margaret Collins, "gangland's kiss of death girl" who has lost seven sweethearts by the bullet poisoning route, was arrested last night with her eighth flame, Sol Feldman, who only recently recovered from a bullet wound he received a couple of months ago.

The couple was arrested at Division street and Western avenue when Policemen Frank Broadbent and Fred Suseback discovered that their Lincoln automobile, which Margaret was driving, bore no city license tag. Taking them to the West North avenue station, the policeman booked Margaret and released her when she produced a Chicago Motor club bond guarantee card.

But no sooner had Sol and Margaret stepped outside the police station door than they were rearrested by Sergt. Andrew Carroll and his detective bureau squad, who took them in custody "for investigation." They were taken to the Warren avenue station.

Both the "kiss girl" and her sweetheart were in a belligerent mood. In no uncertain terms Margaret told a photographer, who tried to take her picture, what she thought of him; but a few moments later when Sol used some unprintable words to a picture taker Margaret pouted: "Why Sol, you mustn't use that kind of language in front of me."

Lamson Goes on Trial for Murder

David A. Lamson, press representative of Stanford university, with his wife, Allene. Lamson yesterday went on trial at San Jose, Cal., charged with the murder of his wife.

6 MEN, 6 WOMEN MAY TRY LAMSON AS KILLER OF WIFE

San Jose, Calif., Aug. 21. — (AP) — David A. Lamson sat attentively today while six men and six women were passed tentatively as jurors for his trial on charges of wife murder. Neither side had used any of 20 peremptory challenges.

Questions by Allan P. Lindsay, assistant district attorney, showed the state would present a case of circumstanital evidence—that Allene Lamson was killed in the bath room of their cottage on the Leland Stanford university campus and as far as known, Lamson was the only person on the premises.

The defense would endeavor to prove Lamson could not have killed his wife. An unidentified prowler may be blamed. Two Stanford students have been quoted as saying they saw such a person near the Lamson home the day of the murder.

Whether Dolores Roberts, nurse for the Lamsons' 29 months old daughter, would be a witness was uncertain. Since the day of the murder, Miss Roberts has been at the home of Dr. Margaret Lamson, sister of the defendant, except for a short trip to Oregon. Lamson said he was surprised when he heard she was about to become a mother, and his attorney said a marriage license was issued July 7 to Miss Roberts and Warren Sorenson of San Jose. "This will be offered in court if necessary," the lawyer added.

ZIONIST PLEADS MAKE PALESTINE "A FULFILLMENT"

Consider Moving 250,000 Jews from Germany.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 21.—[Jewish Telegraphic Agency.]—The 18th world Zionist congress opened here tonight with an address by Dr. Nahum Sokolow, president of the organization, in which he urged that Zionism be made the concern of the entire Jewish people and that Palestine be made "a land of fulfillment instead of a land of promise."

During the day Vladimir Jabotinsky, leader of the Jewish revisionist party, issued a demand that the congress vigorously protest against Jewish restrictive measures in Germany. "We are conducting a war with murderers," he declared and recommended the use of the boycott and also support of all political forces against Germany to isolate her from the world.

The revisionists are Jews who desire to make Palestine an independent Jewish nation. They are in opposition to other Zionists whose aim is to make Palestine merely a national homeland. Jabotinsky predicted that the present meeting "is paving the way for a revisionist victory in 1935."

Propose Migration.

A resolution recommending the removal of 250,000 Jews from Germany was ready for presentation. Of this number 100,000 can be settled in Palestine, Dr. Arthur Ruppin, agricultural and colonization expert, believes. Other questions to be considered are Palestine immigration and the extent to which Palestine can afford a refuge to Jews of other countries.

The congress court this afternoon, ruling on the objections of Hadassah, women's Zionist organization, to the seating of the American delegation, held the complaint justified and allotted one more seat to the Hadassah group, making the American representation thirty in all. Capt. Abraham Tulin of New York will fill the extra mandate.

Addressing the 332 delegates and several thousand spectators who filled Lucerno hall, Dr. Sokolow offered greetings in German, French, and English to the representatives of foreign governments.

"Our work of peace and of civilization has but one need, the need of symphony, of attentive curiosity and a bit of patience on the part of the world," he said. "I hope that you will accord us your good will."

Freedom Torn Down.

Referring to the German-Jewish situation, Dr. Sokolow said: "We stand before the ruins of the Jewish emancipation in one of the world's greatest states. A structure at which generations have worked has suddenly been swept away by a storm."

He paid tribute to Theodor Herzl, founder of Zionism, who, he said, had foreseen the situation in Germany, as "no timid Ghetto Jew, but a proud leader, an inspired son of his people, and a modern man."

Referring to what he called "the lie in our midst," he described assimilation as attempting "to put blinkers on our public opinion" that it might not see "the handwriting on the wall, the danger threatening a spiritual epidemic of anti-Semitism."

"It is a bitter irony of history," he exclaimed, "that this assimilationist tendency should have been so strong in Germany."

As long as the United States and other countries were open to Jewish fugitives, Dr. Sokolow said, it was only a matter of a steamship ticket, but now conditions have changed.

CHICAGO CONSULS FETE DR. SIMON, RETIRING DEAN

The consulate corps of Chicago gave a farewell dinner last night for Dr. Hugo Simon, retiring German consul general, at the Swedish club, 1258 North La Salle street. Appreciation for his services as dean of the consuls and regret over his retirement were expressed by Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul general.

"The three and a half years as dean of the consulate corps is an honor I will long remember," Dr. Simon said in reply. "I have had a wonderful time in Chicago. I am not sure what I will do, but I expect to return to my country."

Dr. Simon was presented with a silver tray upon which was inscribed the names of all the consuls in Chicago. Mrs. Simon was presented with flowers. Sixty consuls and their wives and friends attended the dinner.

With the retirement of Dr. Simon, Consul Castruccio becomes dean of the corps.

LUCILLE STEWART.

Judge Joseph B. David, in the Superior court yesterday, refused to take cognizance of a Mexican divorce obtained by George E. Stewart of the Surf hotel, operator of a racing information service, from Mrs. Lucille E. Stewart, 5220 Kenmore avenue. He allowed Mrs. Stewart temporary alimony of $15 a week pending hearing of her bill for separate maintenance.

The Stewarts were married in 1926. The following year, Mrs. Stewart's bill states, she left her husband and filed suit for separate maintenance, charging cruelty. Stewart persuaded her to withdraw her action, although she did not return to live with him, she states, and in 1929 he got a divorce in Mexico.

After announcing that he would refuse to consider the Mexican decree, Judge David ordered Stewart to post a $1,000 ne exeat bond.

"We need this writ," said the judge. "Otherwise he might go to Hawaii and get another divorce."

HURRICANE HEADS FOR NEW YORK FROM TROPICS

Still Hunting Victims of Sunday's Gale.

New York, Aug. 21.—[Special.]—The northeast gale that descended unexpectedly upon the New Jersey coast yesterday afternoon, scattering fishing craft and capsizing at least nine, was blowing with undiminished force tonight. With a tropical hurricane headed in this direction, coast guard vessels intensified their search for disabled boats and survivors.

The hurricane was reported 150 miles west of Bermuda at noon, moving slowly, headed northwest. Officials of the weather bureau predict that the center of the disturbance probably would pass north of New York.

However, the storm's passage here is expected to be of gale velocity with downpours of rain.

A recapitulation of casualties in yesterday's storm shows eight dead. Six of these were reported on Sunday. The two others were Harold Lichten, 40, of Germantown, Pa., previously reported rescued, and Dr. Charles McArthur, an amateur artist, South Orange, N. J.

Mr. Lichten, his wife, and two sons, were aboard the first boat to capsize in Long Port inlet. Mrs. Lichten was rescued by the crew of Polly S., which also capsized later, but all those on the Polly S. were rescued by coast guards. The two boys were picked up by the yacht owned by Charles Curran of the Ocean City Yacht club.

Dr. McArthur, who was a practicing physician, was washed from the deck of a 38 foot fishing boat.

Ships Unable to Dock.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Although the wind sometimes reached a velocity of 80 miles per hour, residents of this city tonight expected a hurricane southwest of here to pass to the south.

No boats due to arrive today were able to dock. The Monarch of Bermuda and the Southern Cross still were hove to off the island and were not expected to make port until tomorrow morning. Latest reports from the California, due here with 800 passengers this morning, said it also was hove to approximately 50 miles off Bermuda, while the Franconia, with 700 passengers, was 250 miles southwest of here fighting a gale.

KEEP OFF THE ACCIDENT LIST

—avoid blow-outs with this 3-times-safer tire

Heat generated inside the tire separates rubber and fabric—starts "invisible blisters" which grow and grow... until BANG...a blow-out!

The exclusive Goodrich Life-Saver Golden Ply resists heat—makes the new Safety Silvertown 3 times safer from blow-outs at high speeds.

WRECKED CARS . . . lives lost . . . and thousands killed or injured. That's what happens when blow-outs throw cars out of control. Are you going to gamble—or use this new life-saving tire and play safe?

What causes blow-outs

Today's high speeds—40, 50 and 60—generate terrific heat inside the tire. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms . . . and GROWS . . . until BANG! A blow-out.

To protect you from blow-outs, every new Goodrich Safety Silvertown has the amazing Life-Saver Golden Ply. This new invention resists heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus, blisters don't form. The cause of blow-outs is eliminated before they start.

Safest non-skid tread

And that isn't all. Scientific tests prove that the Goodrich Safety Silvertown has the most skid-resisting tread. Its squeegee drying action gives your car extra road-grip, and reduces danger of skidding to a minimum.

Remember—this wonderful protection is free! Although millions have been spent to develop this life-saving invention, Goodrich refuses to charge one extra penny for it. So why take chances? That blister—that blow-out in the making—may be in your tire right now! Put a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns on your car without delay, and have real protection between you and the road . . . for your family's sake and your own!

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE SCHOOL BOARD DEFICIT.

The report on school finances prepared by the citizens' committee on public expenditures must be read by any one who wishes to understand the present difficulties of the school board and more especially by any one who wishes to judge the merits of the present controversy over school economies.

When the board issued its last order reducing expenditures by something like 6 million dollars the cry was raised that the school board's deficit was only 8 million dollars and it was unnecessary to wipe out so much of it in one year. The saving, it was said, could have been spread over a number of years.

Like many controversies, this one turns on a definition. The ambiguous word is "deficit." Those who said the deficit was only 8 million dollars meant that by the end of 1933 the school board would have spent only 8 million dollars more than it had estimated it would receive in that time. In this definition a deficit is the excess of outgo over a fixed, unchanging, and arbitrary estimate of income.

This is a possible definition of the word, but hardly a useful one. If generally applied it would mean that every account receivable on the books of any business house would be as valuable as money in the bank. If the purpose of bookkeeping is to disclose the true financial status of any institution at any moment, then this definition is useless. It is immaterial how much money previous school boards thought they were going to collect. The one thing which it is important to know is how much actually will be collected. The excess of outgo over actual, not fictitious, income is the only definition of "deficit" which is useful in any attempt to understand the plight of the school system.

The school board's accountants, in preparing their estimates, have uniformly assumed that 90 per cent of the taxes extended would be collected. The assumption was justified, for the most part, in the years before the depression. Today it is indefensible in face of the well known fact that many properties are barely earning their actual running expenses, to say nothing of taxes and in face of the further fact that many individuals who formerly paid their taxes out of income derived from other sources than their property are now without other income. The citizens' committee believes that the revenues will fall 33 million dollars short of the 90 per cent estimate.

This figure is, of course, a guess. It may be too large or too small, but it unquestionably comes closer to reasonable expectations than the school accountants' figure. To this 33 million dollar deficit, the committee finds, must be added another 8 million dollars to be expected as a result of the reduction of assessed valuations for 1931, 1932 and 1933. The reductions for 1931 have already been made. Those for the subsequent years must be expected as a matter of course.

The two items together total 41 million dollars. The economies recently ordered reduce the total to 35 million dollars. It is that figure, rather than the so-called deficit based on fanciful expectations of income, with which the school board and the community must deal. Obviously there could be no substantial improvement in the board of education's credit until a substantial effort had been made to restore the finances of Chicago's schools to solvency. In view of the grave situation disclosed by the citizens' committee it can hardly be argued any longer that the economies ordered were excessive in amount, whatever may be the judgment as to the merits of the particular economies undertaken.

A SMALL INCIDENT OF THE NEW AGRICULTURE.

Secretary Wallace of the department of agriculture has been assisted by the government lawyers to a way out of an awkward and interesting predicament. Some of the cotton planters now being given government checks for plowing under a third of their crop were in debt to the government for money which enabled them to put in the crop which by later government request they destroyed. When the government made the loan it expected to be paid out of the price of the crop. Two programs thus rounded the corner and knocked each other down. Mr. Wallace, in his embarrassment, after he had picked himself up and was again on his four legs and had recovered his two hats, was puzzled to decide whether he had to deduct the loan for making the crop from the subsidy for destroying it. At first he thought he must do so under the law.

This seemed about to detract seriously from the benefit to be obtained by the twice subsidized planter. He had been given money to plant, but if that had to come out of the money he was given to destroy he might feel that somewhere in this ingenious encouragement of agriculture e had been gypped. Legal advice, however, enabled Mr. Wallace to put aside the consideration of the planter's debt to the government and give him the full amount for plowing under what the government seeded.

If the restriction of acreage had begun with the first loan the subsidy for plowing under might have been avoided, but then the planter would not have been paid for a crop he didn't raise and the beneficial results of government interference with the law of supply and demand would not have been made manifest. The only person who will observe the proceedings with doubt or grief will be the federal taxpayer, but he is rapidly coming to a stage where the only peace of mind he can hope for will be offered him by closing his eyes to the treasury statements. If fate is kind he may be in a state of coma as he goes over the dam.

STREET NAMES IN CHICAGO.

The d which leads to the Adler planetarium has been named for Achsah Bond, wife of the first governor of Illinois. The name is a good one. In a lapse from good taste the name of Bond was dropped from an important street on the south side some years ago. The slight to the name and memory of the first governor has now been corrected, in some part, by the honor shown his wife.

The naming of new streets and the changing of the names of the old ones in Chicago have been anything but satisfactory. Sound and sensible names like South Water street have been dropped for no good reason. Principal streets sometimes have been given the names of worthy but inconspicuous men and the contrast is often striking, not to say humorous. The same kind of thing has happened frequently in the naming of schools.

There is need for a commission to advise in these matters. Sometimes, as when Gen. Balbo arrived, there is need for haste if the spontaneous wish of the population to honor a living man in his presence is to be carried out; but ordinarily proposals could be referred to the commission for consideration and a report. One reason, and an important one, for the irritation which has been aroused by many of the recent changes has been the haste, amounting almost to secrecy, with which they were ordered and the absence of any adequate consideration of the proposals apart, of course, from a weighing of the political influence of those proposing the changes.

A CODE FOR THE POLICE RADIO.

A reader suggests that the police broadcasters, instead of sending out directions to the squad cars in plain English, employ a code as is done in many other cities. Frequently, he says, the Chicago police are hampered in their work by the arrival ahead of them of citizens looking for excitement. The citizens get in the way. Sometimes the criminals have been enabled to escape by mingling with the crowd and at other times the police have not dared to use their revolvers to halt the fugitives because of the danger of hitting some onlooker.

It might be impractical to translate street addresses where trouble is reported, but it should be possible to use code numbers to describe the nature of the matter with which the squad is to deal. Probably all of the crimes and misdemeanors could be summarized under ten or twenty code numbers. It is altogether likely that fewer citizens would rush off to the scene if their curiosity was not aroused by such exciting details as "man threatening his wife with a pistol," or "body lying at alley entrance," or "robbers at work in butcher shop."

The present method of communicating with the squad cars sometimes plays into the hands of the hoodlums themselves. By listening in, there is reason to believe, their associates have occasionally been able to warn criminals to clear out before the arrival of the police.

The change is also worth considering from the point of view of public opinion. A good many radio sets are adjusted to receive the police calls. Any one listening to the police calls is likely to get a wholly erroneous idea of the prevalence of crime in this community. The radio messages, by their very nature, are unverified and generally more or less inaccurate. At least half of them are false alarms. The victim of heart failure is announced as the victim of murder. The man working late in his store is a burglar. A noisy family party is a riot. And so on. Chicago has never sought to conceal from its own citizens and outsiders that it has more than its share of criminals, but the community is justified in not wanting to be held accountable for conditions which do not exist.

Editorial of the Day

DO THEY CONFLICT!
[Danville, Ill., Times.]

When the government advocated its plan to pay out millions of dollars to farmers who will reduce their wheat and cotton acreage on the theory that one of the troubles with the present economic order is overproduction the audacity of the plan was startling to some.

Now an even more startling program is advocated—startling because it contradicts the theory upon which the acreage reduction program is based, and seems to thwart its successful operation. That is the recent proposal to appropriate tens of millions of federal dollars to reclaim desert land in the west and to irrigate areas now unproductive. That certainly does not fit in with an acreage reduction plan.

If overproduction is the trouble—and the acreage reduction operations are based on the assumption that it is—then why should we expend more millions in a counter proposition to add more crops to an already overflowing market? The idea behind crop reduction is, of course, to keep down the supply on the theory that economic laws will operate to boost prices. It is hard, then, to reconcile the two programs.

Other of the programs for unemployment relief under the $3,300,000,000 public works bill probably will be wasteful—not worth even the interest on the money when completed—but they will have provided employment at the time and when they are done they are done. The whole deal is closed. The money is spent and that is the end of it.

With reclamation and irrigation, however, that is not going to be the case. If the desert lands are made productive, then they will be forever adding to the agricultural burden of other parts of the country and agriculture will be no better off than it is today.

We can forgive what will amount to out and out squandering of money on some of the projects as long as the activity that is born of these things stimulates other activity with permanent effect. But if many of the projects merely act to handicap what the government is trying to do somewhere else it will be a detriment to the purpose of the whole program.

THE "EXTRACT MAN."

He comes with sagging steps, the "Extract Man," dressed in the rusty motley from the "Y";
his shoulders bent beyond the power of hope or Fortune's smile to set them straight. By rote, too eager, he unfolds the salesman's line:
"Vanilla," he affirms, "one teaspoonful in milk, to tempt the baby's appetite——"
"Nothing!" I shake my head, would close the door.
He fumbles with his papers; his old eyes that faced the morning's cutting wind are dulled and suddenly go out. He grips his jaw to hide the shivering sickness of his soul;
he drags away, defeated, hungry, weary.
"Stop!" (I, too, have tasted disillusion——)
"Give me the bitter almond, lemon; I'll take them both." His fingers tremble to be deft, his lean chin quivers, twists the fleeting smile of joy he cannot hide. With Gallic grace he blesses me. He turns, against the wind he leans, as he goes sagging down the street.

WE MET A CO-WORKER THIS MORNING far from cheerful. "What's the matter, aren't you feeling well?" we inquired brightly. "Naw, I don't have any fun any more," he replied. "What's the matter?" "Oh, we're economizing. Trying to save enough money this month to pay the second installment of taxes on our cottage. You don't have any fun unless you spend money." Which represents quite a common view of life. On the other hand is the slogan "Buy Now."

BROWN SHIRTS AND THE BREED.

FOR a long time the sterilization laws of various American states were regarded by Europeans as an illustration of extreme exercise of authority. As a rule these laws were upheld by the courts, although there has been an occasional adverse decision—one recently rendered being far reaching.

These laws have never gone beyond making it incumbent on the authorities in charge to secure the sterilization of certain inmates of institutions. The persons who were advised to undergo the operation were idiots, imbeciles, feebleminded, and members of a few other groups. The cases were always persons who were maintained at public expense, and whose children, should there be any, would certainly be a burden on the neighbors.

The news now is that under the Hitler régime Germany is to go much farther than we have ever gone. According to the news story the law requires physicians to report all cases of certain inheritable diseases and defects. Presumably the law requires others to report those cases not seen by physicians; and that is as it should be, since many, if not most, of these cases are not physically sick and no physician is in charge. The conditions and diseases specified by the law are hereditary imbecility, insanity, mania, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, blindness, deafness, alcoholism, bodily deformities, persons with paranoia, persecution mania, dementia præcox, and melancholia.

A "hereditary" court is to pass on each case, since not all the diseases, disorders, and deformities mentioned are inheritable in one-half the cases. This is more than true of St. Vitus dance, blindness, and deafness, and of the general run of insanities and epilepsies. If the court decides that the person—man or woman—cannot beget children that would not be a burden on the community, or worse, sterilization is decreed. There is no reversal of the decree. The law also provides for voluntary sterilization.

Apparently the government wants to increase the birth rate of Germany, as Mussolini wants to raise that of Italy. The German birth rate, once so high, is now scarcely higher than the death rate, while in the cities the birth rate is the lower of the two. But it is even more anxious to improve the German stock, or at least to prevent it from deteriorating.

The three countries in which governmental authority is most centralized—Italy, Germany, and Russia—are those in which the large health programs are being carried out. Backward Russia appears to be trying to catch up. Health promotion occupies considerable space in their program. Italy is undertaking malaria control in a masterful way. And now Germany attempts to accomplish something in genetics.

CAUSE OF HIVES.

R. M. K. writes: 1. What is the cause of hives?
2. Is it dangerous?
3. What are the symptoms?
4. Is there a cure?

REPLY.

1. Hives has many causes. Among them are eating foods to which you are sensitized, with hundreds of possibilities; and exposure of the skin to substances to which it has been sensitized, and again there are many possibilities.
2. No. In rare instances giant hives in the mouth and throat endanger life.
3. The man with hives need have no man tell him what the symptoms are.
4. A persistent, determined person can generally find the cause in his case and avoid it.

CAR LINE EXTENSIONS.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—[Friend of the People.]—Can you please advise me whether the Chicago Surface lines have any project under way to place cars on Cicero avenue between Archer and 25th street? H. G.

The traction ordinance, which was approved by the voters of Chicago July, 1930, provides for an extension in Cicero avenue from Ogden avenue to Archer avenue. The city council has extended the time for the acceptance of this ordinance to January, 1934. The ordinance provides for the construction of 300 miles of one-way extensions during the first ten years after the effective date of the ordinance. The order in which these extensions are made will depend on the relative importance of and the need for transportation facilities in the community to be served. It follows therefore that even after the ordinance becomes effective some time may elapse before this extension is constructed.

JEFFREY A. O'CONNOR,
Commissioner of Public Service.

GARNISHMENT.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please advise what steps are necessary to garnishee a person's wages. The party whose wages I wish to garnishee lives in Chicago and has owed the debt for eight years. J. T.

The first step is to secure judgment against your debtor. After this the garnishment has some of the aspects of a new suit. Presumably it will be advisable for you to employ an attorney.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—Can you give me information about the World's Fair club of Chicago, 1258 South Michigan, which sells membership cards at $2.50 each, entitling a person to an admission to the Fair, clubroom privileges, and auto parking.

ANSWER—This club is not affiliated with or recognized by A Century of Progress and so far as we can ascertain no admission tickets to the Fair have been issued to them.

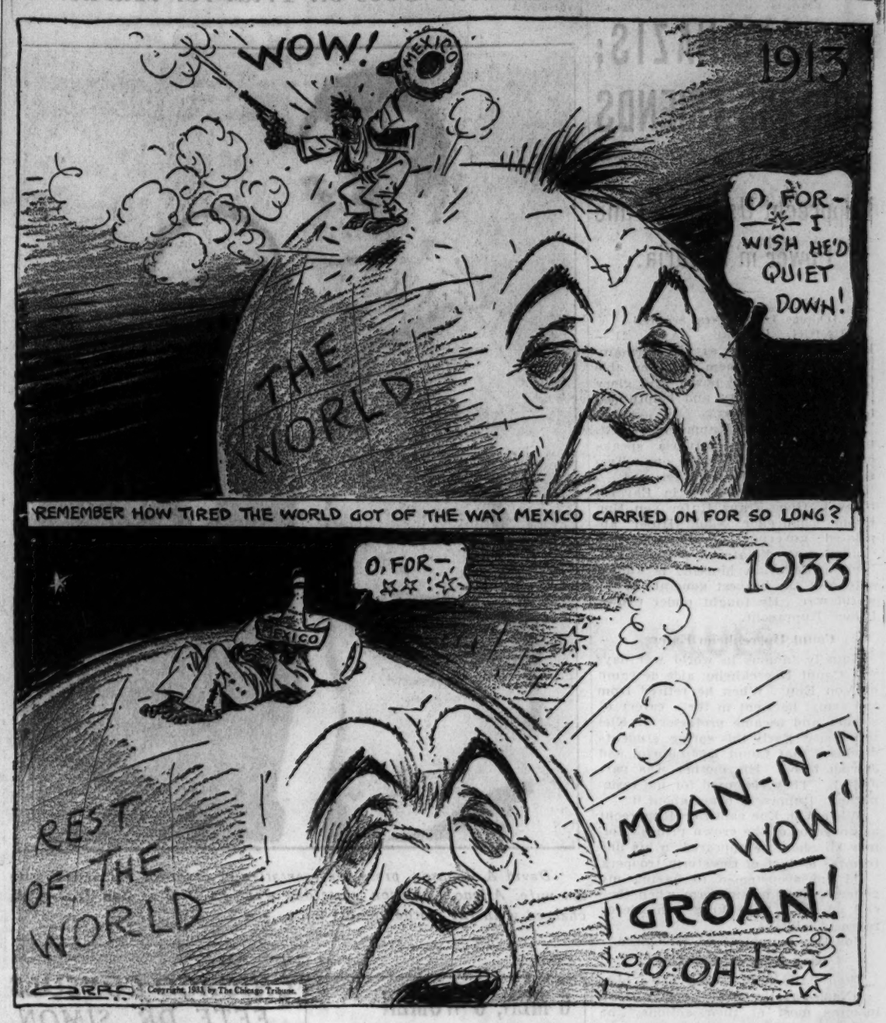
QUESTION—When is Welsh day at the Fair?

ANSWER—Sept. 2.

QUESTION—Is it true that officers of the regular army and the reserve corps in uniform are admitted to the Fair free of charge?

ANSWER—No.

WE HAVEN'T HEARD MUCH ABOUT MEXICO HERE LATELY



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 22, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson, in a drastic executive order, fixed a tentative scale of prices for bituminous coal at the mines in nearly all the coal producing districts of the country last night. The President, acting under authority given him in the Lever bill, cut the prices agreed upon last June by the operators in conference with Secretary Lane, the federal trade commission, and the coal production committee headed by Francis S. Peabody.

BERLIN.—Chancellor Michaelis informed the main committee of the reichstag that Germany would not reply to the papal peace note until she had consulted her allies. Dr. Michaelis added that in view of the fact that Germany had previously repeatedly and positively indicated her readiness to enter peace negotiations, the Vatican's appeal, of course, is looked on with sympathetic approval. Germany, however, could not again offer peace in face of the summary rejection of previous proposals and continued declarations by the entente that no peace is possible until the central powers are defeated and crushed.

COPENHAGEN.—A telegram from the official Corr bureau of Vienna seems to indicate that Austria-Hungary will accept the pope's peace proposal. A summary of Austro-Hungary's press opinion circulated by the Corr bureau says: "The newspapers regard the concrete proposals in the peace methods as a suitable basis for beginning peace negotiations, but doubt whether the entente shares this hope."

WAR SUMMARY.—Canadian troops smash way with bombs and cold steel farther into the German defenses at Lens. French sweep Germans from positions north of Verdun after nerve breaking bombardment and swell number of prisoners above the 5,000 mark. Italians bend back Austrian line to cracking point as stream of prisoners goes beyond 10,000 total. Germans press Russo-Rumanians back after stubborn battle.

A FORECAST.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 15.—In my opinion, based on many years' experience as industrial engineer at home and abroad, maximum work hours and minimum day's wages in manufacturing establishments will result in:

1. The springing up of countless thousands of one man and two man plants, run by unscrupulous workers willing to slave seventy-two and even eighty-four hours weekly, as many now do.
2. The introduction of new labor saving machinery and efficiency methods in small plants, to reduce labor cost and overhead percentage per product unit.

These two evils will bring about technological unemployment—"the vicious circle." Robert Grimshaw.

EXPERIENCE.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—With the advent of the NRA, the store in which I am employed gave practically all their help an increase and shortened the hours. In my department the increase was 12½ cents an hour. This increase was welcomed by all with unspeakable joy.

Three days later the rate was lowered to a figure lower than before the increase. We are now making less than ever and fail to see where this store is on the square with our President when it displays the eagles in its windows.

OTHERS WHO ARE COURTEOUS.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—I have been reading of the courtesy of the officers of our city. They certainly should be commended; also the conductors and motormen [especially on the Broadway line], conductors never failing to assist an elderly lady off and on the cars.

BACK TO CHICAGO.

Wilmette, Ill., Aug. 14.—Two facts: The holdup gyp on Wilmette beach and the fall in Evanston population illustrate how life on the north shore is ceasing to be attractive, thanks to heavy taxation. I pay $200 general taxes. For what, don't ask. I have to cough up extra for street lights, garbage gathering, automobile, water, dog, special assessments for unasked for improvements, and now for swimming. Light and gas is three times the price of the same article in Chicago. Transportation is double. Perhaps the air out here is more refined, but the Chicago panners ought to remember one thing—the old town still is the most economical place to live, and that's something.

THE PLANETARIUM.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—The other day I was desirous of taking some friends who were visiting the city to the Planetarium, one of the real wonders of our city. Much to my surprise, when reaching the grounds, I found that A Century of Progress had inclosed these premises and that it was necessary to pay full admittance of 50 cents to the Fair before one could attend the lectures at the Planetarium. I was under the impression that Mr. Adler gave this institution to the people of Chicago and not to any private corporation, which the Fair is, to make a profit therefrom.

CONFUSED.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—This writer has been informed by very knowing people that this NRA movement is a high form of communism, that it is purely socialism, and that it is a patch on the ragged breeches of capitalism.

This writer is bewildered with these seemingly contradictory "isms," and would appreciate enlightenment.

Wants Public Educated to Need of Good Printing

Advertisers will insist that newspapers be made typographically easier to read, according to Harry L. Gage of New York in an address yesterday before the convention of the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen at the Stevens hotel. Mr. Gage is vice president of the Mergenthaler Linotype company. He urged the craftsmen to join in the movement to educate the public to appreciate good printing, and told them to combat a belief that "any old printing job will do."

Wife, Deprived of Clothes, Sues Her Jealous Husband

Mrs. Irene McWilliams, 6314 Eggleston avenue, charged yesterday in a bill for separate maintenance filed in the Circuit court that Robert McWilliams, a railroad employé, was so jealous of her that when he went to work he took her clothes with him to prevent her leaving the house. The bill, filed by Attorney Norman Becker, also charges that McWilliams habitually tossed lighted cigaret butts about the house, ruining spreads and draperies.

JUDGE INVITES HERBERT HOOVER TO DETROIT QUIZ

Follows Couzens' Story About Banks.

Detroit Trust company, replied: "I don't believe we should answer anything of that sort until we are subpoenaed by the grand jury."

Among the high spots in Couzens' statements were:

"The present federal procedure regarding capital impairment is absurd. It's obvious that if, when capital is impaired, all stockholders are notified, many deposits will be withdrawn at once."

"William F. Connolly, receiver for the Detroit Bankers companies, said on the stand here that the First National bank could be reopened, and with reasonable government aid made to pay out 100 cents on the dollar. I deny his statement. I submit that the depositors should not be misled by witnesses who are not required to prove their statements. I challenge them to produce records to bear out that statement. I challenge the prosecutor to demand the proof."

Challenge to Critics.

"Some of the newspapers have said the information I am submitting here is anonymous. I think it should be apparent I am reading from government records—they come from the Seventh Federal Reserve district and were brought here from Chicago for my inspection."

"I'm not here to defend bad practices by any one, either bankers, examiners, Presidents of the United States or senators, but I want to help create a public sentiment in favor of honest and conservative banking practices."

"Mr. Ford had $20,000,000 on deposit. There were other deposits running into the millions. Does the prosecutor think the government is justified in bailing them out when the securities are inadequate and the loan itself would violate the law?"

Cites Federal Reports.

The reference by Mr. Couzens to documents brought from Chicago was to reports he said were made by federal bank examiners in May and November of last year.

The latter report he said contained the following language: "'There are at least $70,000,000 of slow assets, and $54,000,000 of doubtful assets, not including loans on Detroit Bankers company [the First National Holding company] stock which is classified as slow but should be considered doubtful.'" He added: "'How the institution will ever work out cannot be foretold.'"

Mr. Couzens spoke of loans to bank employés, amounting to $4,000,000. He quoted the November report as saying:

"'Most of these loans were for the purchase of Detroit Bankers company stock [the holding company]. The fall in this stock has broken the morale of the employés and created defalcation dangers. The directors should relieve the employés of this stock. The stock has fallen from more than $300 a share to $9 and is the root of much of the trouble. The bank has about 256,000 shares as collateral for loans. It was a dangerous act to allow such a condition to exist.'"

Mr. Couzens declared the total indebtedness of 686 officers and employés of the First National Bank-Detroit to that institution is $11,498,665.

"I find," Couzens added, "from a report of Nov. 19, that 31 vice presidents, 26 assistant cashiers, one bond officer and 628 other employés are borrowers from the bank. No wonder they don't dare to criticise each other. They are all in the same boat."

Attacks Bank Personnel.

Mr. Couzens said bank examiners told of "deplorable conditions of the bank's assets and management," and they said, "With two or three exceptions, the executives are weak and unqualified; fair weather bankers who do not know how to cope with present conditions. About 20 key men should be fired and replaced with 13 new men."

Harry S. Toy, county prosecutor, asked Mr. Couzens if the directors should not have been told of these conditions. He retorted:

"If all 74 directors had known of this there probably would have been some smart money withdrawals." Mr. Couzens insisted Mills, as chairman of the First National board, "knew the report of the bank's earnings given to the depositors was false, in that accruals were added to earnings whether they were ever collected or not."

The senator did not complete his testimony today, and will return to the stand tomorrow. After him will come the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, who attracted national attention last year by a series of radio speeches on the Detroit banking situation.

ECLIPSE VIEWED WITH ALARM BY MILLIONS IN INDIA

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BOMBAY, Aug. 21.—Millions of illiterate Indians watched in fear and trembling today as the shadow of the annular eclipse passed across the face of the sun.

Although astronomers had calculated it to a nicety, the administrators were not quite sure what the effect on the uneducated population would be. To prevent a possible panic arrangements were made so every one, weather permitting, could obtain a good view. In Bombay a semi-holiday was declared "to view the eclipse."

Betty Dostal Chose the Coat

This is Betty's idea of what the smart co-ed should wear. She is one of the Northwestern representatives in our College Shop today, so she should know. The grandest thing in favor of a Gray Kidskin is that you can wear it to an "informal" just as well as to a football game . . . and it goes with simply everything in your wardrobe. Another very important item . . . Gray Kidskins are as low as $165 in Field's August Sale, which is little enough when you consider the coverage! And, we think, Gray Kidskin is as young as young, and especially adorable on Betty. Fur Salon, Sixth Floor.

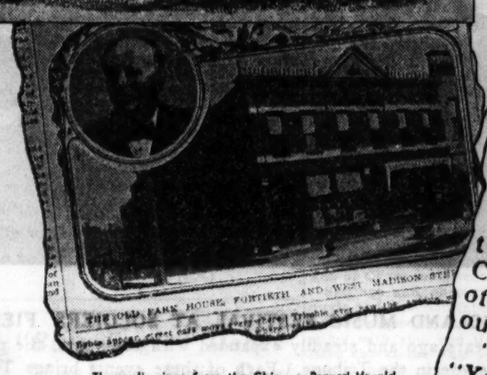
"Chicago as seen from the Prairies in 1845."—Reproduced by courtesy of The Chicago Historical Society, from Norris' Chicago Directory, 1845-6.



These clippings from the Chicago Record-Herald, Oct. 6, 1901, tell how, only 20 years before, William Trimble, prophet of the greatness of the West Side, opened a tavern at Madison and Crawford "for wayfarers passing to and from the distant city." (From the Henry E. Legler Library historical files.)

October 6, 1901
Twenty years ago at West Madison street and Fortieth avenue a small brick building was erected and called the Park House. Pastures, grain fields and gardens surrounded it on every side. It was far beyond the city limits, out in what was considered country land, and that the city would ever grow to it no one believed but William Trimble. He built the Park House and opened there a tavern for the wayfarers passing to and from the distant city.
"I may be foolish," he said to a friend at that time, "but you can't make me believe Chicago will ever stop growing, and the side of her that's going to grow the most and go out the farthest is the West Side."
"You are crazy," replied the friend. "You'll be living in the woods twenty years from now."
"That may be"

The District beyond CRAWFORD AVENUE along MADISON

100 YEARS OF CHICAGO LAND VALUES

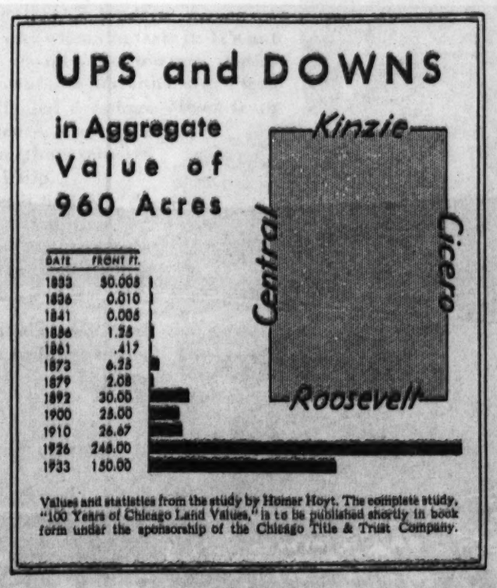
Though his friend called him "crazy," William Trimble, pioneer settler in the Madison-Crawford district, was more accurate than most prophets. In the fifty years since he made the forecast reproduced above, Chicago has not "stopped growing," and the corner where he stood has advanced from a few dollars a front foot to a 1928 value of $7,000 a foot.

Study of Chicago land values for 100 years shows that prices in the Madison-Crawford district have moved with the ups and downs of all the five major land cycles through which this city has passed since 1833.

Though land in the area here platted went to an average value of $300 an acre in 1856, after the coming of the "Galena Railroad," as late as the eighties these 960 acres still were largely prairie or swamp. For many years the Tilton grade school at 44th Avenue and Lake Street "stood up like a lighthouse in a sea of grass." A horse car line ran out to the Garfield Park race track, and from Madison and Crawford, the "steam dummy line," opened about 1881, made its two-hour round trips to Harlem, pausing for cows to clear the track and for late comers to climb aboard. There were frequent floods, when even the plank sidewalks set on stilts would float away. On Sundays, the more venturesome of Chicago residents rode out to inspect and perhaps buy these swampy lots.

From the 1856 peak of $300 an acre, the average value in the tract shown fell to $100 in 1861, rose to $1,500 in 1873 and receded to $500 in 1879. By 1892, the average had reached a new peak of $7,200. Sustained by the extension of the "Oak Park Elevated," values held up well following the panic of 1893. In 1910, the average acre value stood at $6,400, and by 1926 had advanced to $59,000 an acre or $245 a front foot for the entire 960 acre area. Even today, the average value of land throughout this area stands far above any previous bottom and five times the highest peak before 1926.

Study of land values in Chicago throughout its history shows that the pendulum has always swung back to new opportunities for land investment. In each of the five major land depressions—1837, 1857, 1873, 1893 and 1929—ground values have receded, in some cases 50 per cent or more. After each recession, however, aggregate values have emerged to investment levels higher than any previous peak, and have permanently held much of their gain. Chicago real estate, conservatively valued and well purchased, has proved an exceptionally sound and profitable form of investment.



Values and statistics from the study by Homer Hoyt. The complete study, "100 Years of Chicago Land Values," is to be published shortly in book form under the sponsorship of the Chicago Title & Trust Company.

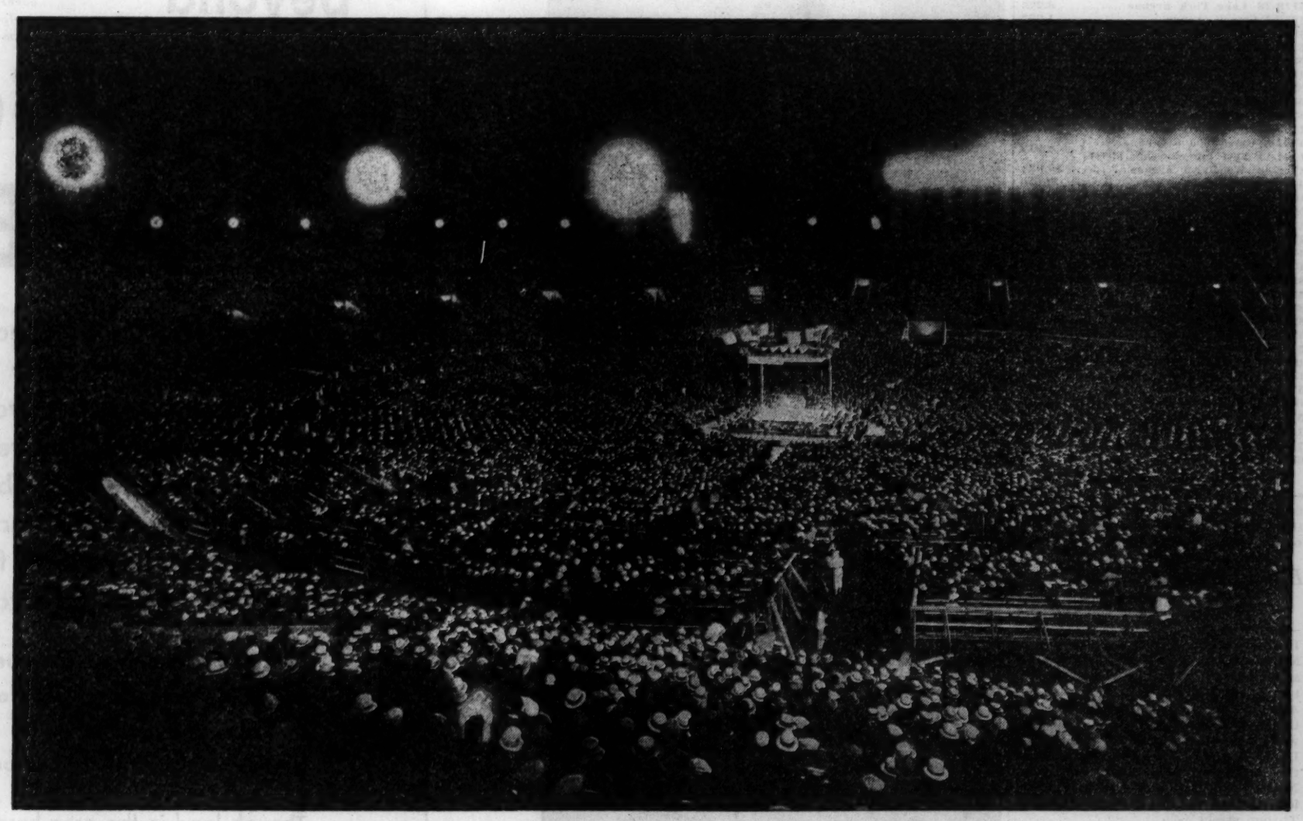
These Huge Audiences Show How the People of Chicagoland Respond to the Chicago Tribune

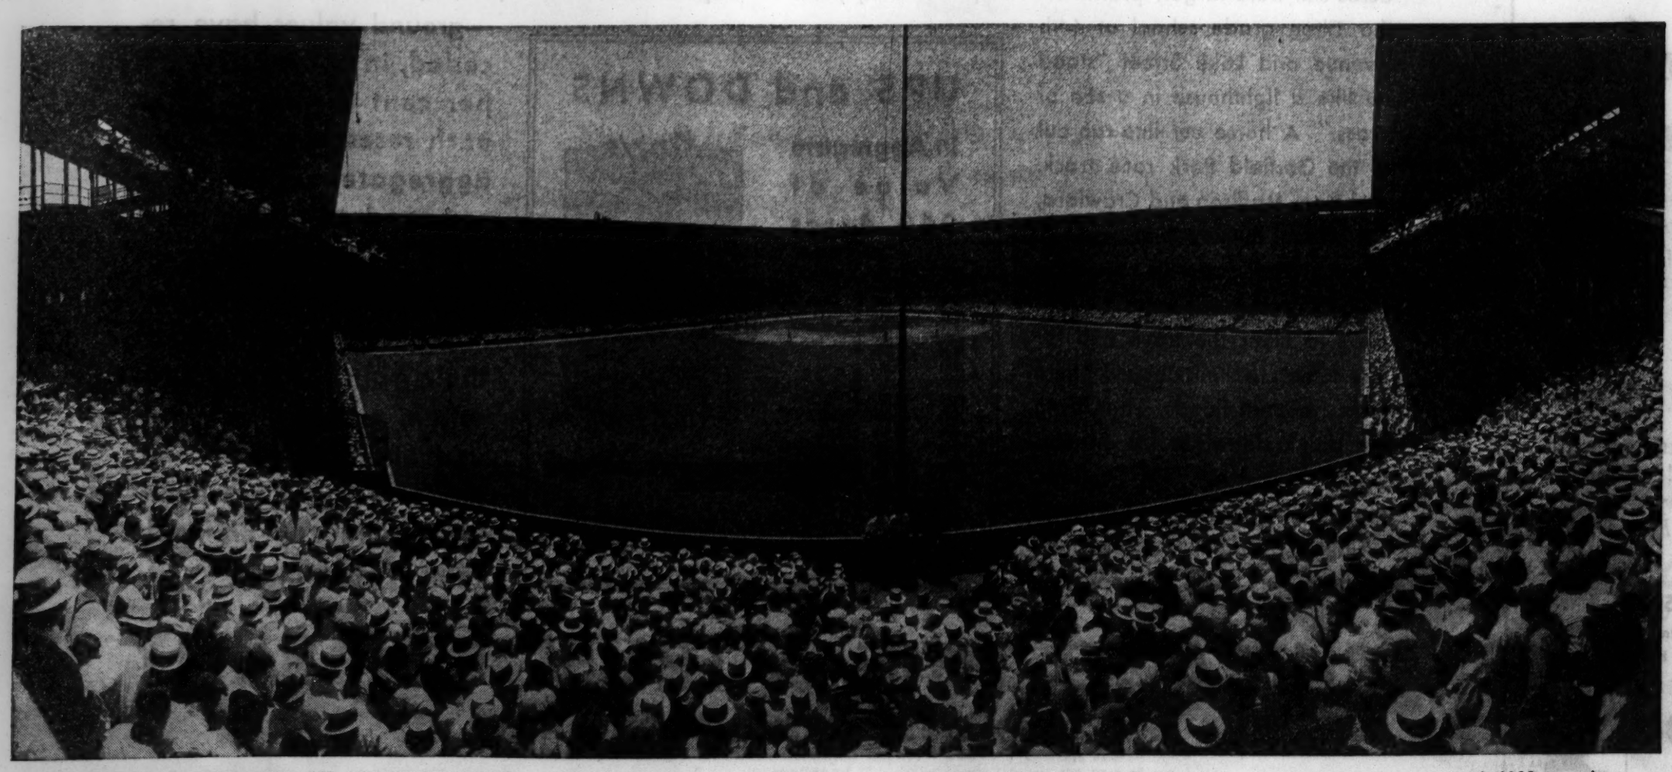
[Kaufmann-Fabry Photo.]

MORE THAN 85,000 ATTEND THE FOURTH ANNUAL CHICAGOLAND MUSIC FESTIVAL AT SOLDIERS' FIELD ON SATURDAY NIGHT, AUGUST 19. Pictured on this page are some of the enormous crowds which have attended public events sponsored by the Chicago Tribune in recent weeks. Begun years ago and steadily expanded with the years, the program of Tribune-sponsored events is one such as is undertaken by no other publication in the world. The attendance they draw is a measure of the confidence which the people of this community repose in the Tribune. Each of these events brings Tribune readers out of their homes where they can be photographed and counted. Each provides evidence of reader interest and pulling power of a kind no other Chicago newspaper offers. Each is an ample slice of the Tribune's huge circulation, which reaches 50% of the families in metropolitan Chicago, 47% more than any other Chicago daily newspaper reaches.

ONE-DAY CROWD AT AMERICAN AIR RACES. This is a portion of the July 4 crowd that packed the air race plant at the Chicago Municipal Airport to see the American Air Races, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune. The paid attendance on this day exceeded 50,000. An audience equally large watched the events outside the gates. Total paid attendance for the four days of the meet was in excess of 150,000.



AMERICA'S LARGEST AMATEUR BOXING CROWD. The largest crowd ever to witness an amateur boxing tournament in America overflowed this specially built amphitheater at Soldiers' field, Chicago, on Thursday night, August 3, 1933. Total paid attendance was in excess of 48,000—at from 55 cents to $3.30 per seat. The attraction: The Chicago Tribune's international Golden Glove bouts between the champions of Ireland and the champions of Chicagoland.



COMPLETE SELL-OUT AT COMISKEY PARK. More than 49,000 persons filled boxes, grandstands, and every available seat at Comiskey Park on July 6, 1933, to witness the game of the century between the foremost players of the National and the American leagues. With proceeds going to the baseball veterans' fund, the free list was suspended and every spectator was a cash customer at regular rates. It was the first game of its kind in baseball history. It was conceived, underwritten and sponsored by the Tribune.

ADDING 55,000 MORE IN A RECORD WEEK. More than a quarter of a million persons attended Tribune-sponsored events during the first week in July. In addition to the 150,000 who saw the air races and the 49,000 who attended the baseball game of the century, this crowd of 55,000 gathered at Soldiers' field within 36 hours after announcement that the Tribune was sponsoring a special performance of "The Romance of a People."

Society Rests for Rugby and Tennis Games

World's Fair Continues to Attract Socialites.

BY JUDITH CASS.

NOW that the exciting polo matches to which society had looked forward for weeks are past history, those whose names make social news have settled down for a bit of comparative quiet and to gain new energy and enthusiasm for the next gay events on the calendar—the visits of the British cricket and rugby players late this month and of the Australian and American Davis cup teams that will play at the Onwentsia on Sept. 12 and 13.

The Fair continues to occupy a great part of every one's leisure and if the weather continues to be as delightfully cool as it has been, seeing the Fair will be the favorite occupation of socialites this week, we'll venture to predict. The Century club, the Trustees' Lounge and the Malibu Beach club report that there is nothing in especial happening at these attractive places where society meets for luncheon, tea, and dinner at the Fair, but that there are numerous small informal parties at all of them every day and every evening.

Many who have been in the city suburbs all summer are leaving for short vacations at this time and others who have been away are returning, tanned and rested but glad to be back for one of the nicest things about a vacation usually is coming home.

The A. Watson Armours are just back from a month in the north woods and again are in their spacious Lake Forest house where they will be joined around the first of September by their son, Charles, who is at an eastern camp. The Armours plan to remain on the north shore as long as the weather is pleasant so it is likely that their Lake Shore drive apartment will not be occupied by them until late October.

Mrs. Leslie Wheeler Returns Home.

Mrs. Leslie Wheeler and Mrs. William H. Mitchell both went away a month or so ago, the latter to California and the former east to visit friends. Mrs. Wheeler arrived at home Sunday from a round of visits in the east, and Mrs. Mitchell is expected at home from Santa Barbara around Sept. 11. Mr. Mitchell went west recently to join her, and they will return together.

Miss Alice Roullier is on the high seas aboard the Ile de France bound for Paris, having sailed last Saturday. She will be back in Chicago around the first of October.

Mrs. Carlisle D. Foley, who has been traveling in Europe since May with Mrs. W. David Owen, returned last week on the Rex.

The Hallett W. Thornes and their daughter, Betty, who have been with John J. Finlay in Geneva for the last month, are leaving the end of this month to spend the long Labor day week-end at Les Cheneaux islands. Upon their return they probably will be in their attractive home on Indian Hill road in Winnetka for the Albert H. Wettens, who have been occupying it this summer, are planning to return to their Lake Shore drive apartment early in September.

Mrs. Finlay and tiny Barbara Finlay and Mrs. Finlay's sister, Miss Betty Scriven, who are at their old family summer place at Gilmanton, N. H., now, will be at home shortly after Labor day.

Burrys to Return From Desbarats.

After two weeks of vacationing at Desbarats the junior William Burrys will be at home on Thursday or Friday of this week.

The Philip Mahers and their youngsters are other Chicagoans who will be enjoying life at Desbarats soon, for they are planning to leave Saturday with Mrs. Helen Walker Szukalska and her little daughter to spend several weeks at the old Walker camp there. The party had planned to go sooner, but Kalina Szukalska has been ill with tonsillitis, so their departure was delayed several weeks, and Mrs. Szukalska and Kalina still are in the house in Geneva, which they have been occupying this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Meyers of Winnetka have gone to the north woods for a vacation.

Miss Barbara Bersbach is in the east as the guest of Miss Carolyn Crossett, who is summering at her family's home on Cape Cod. Another guest of Miss Crossett is Miss Phoebe Davis, who visited Miss Bersbach in Winnetka just before the two of them went east. Miss Bersbach and Miss Davis were room[illegible]tes last year at the Shipley schoo[illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. John Nash Ott have returned to their Winnetka home after a several weeks' visit with Mrs. Ott's parents in Montclair, N. J.

No sooner did Mrs. James H. Rogers return from the east last week than she repacked her bags and set off for Fish Creek. She will be at the Wisconsin resort for at least another fortnight.

Miss Cornelia Fairbanks, daughter of the Warren C. Fairbanks, has gone out to California for a few weeks. She will be at home again in September.

Others Return from Vacations.

Miss Margaret Smith and Miss Caroline Bullard arrived in Chicago yesterday from Pass Creek ranch, Wyoming, where they have been spending the last two weeks. Miss Bullard is the eldest daughter of the Sellar Bullards, and Miss Smith, whose sister, Miss Marion Smith, was also on the ranch, is a daughter of the Howard S. Smiths. Miss Bullard's sister, Miss Barbara Bullard, has gone out to Denver to spend a fortnight with the La Fayette Hughes family.

Frederick B. Tuttle is enjoying his annual summer vacation abroad. With his secretary he is traveling through Germany and plans to return the middle of September.

Mrs. Claude J. Peck with her daughter, Marion, is here from Cleveland for a visit with her mother, Mrs.

Guests Enjoy Polo and Visits to Fair

Miss Martha Nicolaus and Mrs. Arnold Stifel at the final of the three exciting polo matches at the Onwentsia club in which the western team defeated the eastern one in two of the three matches. Miss Nicolaus and her father, Louis Nicolaus, and Mrs. Stifel came up to Chicago with a party of St. Louisans to see the polo games and the Fair, and they are being entertained greatly during their visit. Yesterday William Goltra, a former St. Louisan, gave a cocktail party at his residence on Scott street for the attractive Miss Nicolaus, who will be one of the prominent debutantes of the Missouri city this fall. Show Newest Aids to Beauty at Convention

Brighter Colors in Rouge Held Fashionable.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

With booths displaying the latest aids to beauty overflowing from the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman into the corridors, the American Cosmeticians' association opened its 14th annual convention yesterday. Throngs of beauty shop owners and operators here from all parts of the United States pressed through the aisles to get a close view of improved beauty machinery and to learn the newest methods to try on the folks back home.

One of the latest features will not be demonstrated until today. It is a "radio wave" machine, operated by radio with the source of power not connected to the curlers. Thus when milady gets fidgety while her hair is baking, all she has to do is get up and walk around. Then she returns to her "halo," which consists of a couple of hoops six inches or a foot above her head.

The heat from the radio comes in contact with the rods upon which the hair is wound. These rods contain the liquid necessary for baking the hair. No pads are used to cover the hair, it was explained. The inventor, Dr. Milton Franklin, will demonstrate the machine.

Other new machinery noted was the waving fluid whipper which was churning a substance akin in appearance to pink cake frosting. Electric eyebrow pluckers and electric manicure machines introduced a few months ago are still popular, while hair drying machines are improving, both in comfort and in speed in drying the hair.

Many of the cosmeticians are advocating more color for the coming season, explaining it by declaring that "because every one is so glad the depression is over the style experts are making the whole ensemble colorful and gay in celebration." Thus the women the coming season, according to Miss Frances Martell, secretary of the association, will wear more rouge and lipstick.

Mrs. M. B. McGavran of Kansas City, Mo., president, predicted that the hair will remain short. The well groomed woman will wear a coiffure suited to her figure, she said, explaining that a short woman should wear a short bob, while the taller woman might wear it longer. Shoulder length hair, however, is passé.

The National Association of Boards of Beauty Culture held a one day convention yesterday at the Morrison hotel. H. C. Christensen, secretary of the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy, discussed "reciprocity," and E. Philip Ringer, assistant attorney general, discussed the code of the national recovery act as related to beauty culture.

The cost of beauty treatments will be advanced about one-third after Sept. 1 because of the NRA, Max Hoefer, president of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association, said after meeting with members of that organization's code committee in the City Hall Square building, 139 North Clark street. The committee recently returned from a meeting in New York where delegates from all parts of the country assembled and adopted a code for the retail beauty industry.

Permanent waves will cost at least $7.50, Mr. Hoefer said. A combination of a haircut, shampoo, wave, and manicure will cost $3 under the new prices instead of the prevailing 50 cents for each operation. Mr. Hoefer declared it would be impossible for beauty shops to abide by the code if present prices in some shops were

LOUIS BACHNER, the voice teacher in town from Berlin, who numbers among his pupils Janet Fairbank, Sigrid Onegin, and Heinrich Schlusnus, was reminded by a fellow motorist on the way into town from the country of a question asked once in Stockholm. J. They did not see Mr. Morgan, but before they left the yacht interviewed an old sailor who was busy on deck.

The old sailor cast a critical eye over the landscape for a moment.

"Very nice. What country is it?" he asked.

CHAUNCEY McCORMICK tells of the Frenchman and his wife who followed a group of French veterans of the world war through the galleries of the Art Institute on a recent visit. They came to gallery 40, where Corot, Courbet, Millet, and others of this period are represented, and the little Frenchman suddenly shouted in excitement:

"Elle est ma tante! Elle est ma tante!"

He was standing before Jacques Louis David's portrait of Mme. Jeanne de Richemont and her son, Eugene. It turned out that Mme. Richemont really was his aunt.

AND Daniel Catton Rich says a visitor to the galleries asked to see the painting of Ripley's mother—believe it or not.

SOME of the thousands who want to see the painting of Whistler's "Mother" might like to know there is a portrait of Whistler himself in gallery 41 in the World's Fair exhibition at the Art institute. It was painted by one of his pupils, Walter Greaves, when Whistler was 35 years old. He wears a silk hat on his bushy, curly hair, and a monocle, and looks as if he were about to make one of his scathing comments about Chicago, where he once said he never wanted any of his pictures to hang.

Illinois Hibernians Name Lieut. Bonner Official of District

The Ancient Order of Hibernians yesterday elected Lieut. H. Bonner vice president of the Illinois division. Sergt. Michael M. Fee was reëlected secretary and Peter Doody was reelected president of the Illinois division. Capt. Michael W. Delaney is national president. Other officers named are Robert Stack, trasurer, and Martin R. McHale, past junior state president.

The women's auxiliary reëlected its officers as follows: President, Mrs. Margaret Klemt; vice president, Miss Catherine O. Golden; secretary, Mrs. Helen K. Sieja; treasurer, Mrs. Ann Malloy, and historian, Mrs. Catherine M. Healy.

Both organizations pledged their support to the recovery program in a telegram to President Roosevelt.

Program at Pier.

The Children's Civic theater on the Navy pier is to present a program tomorrow afternoon including a dance pantomime choreographed by Georgia Jesseph, oriental street scenes, desert scenes, and the Cambodian temple dance. The theater is sponsored by the city, with the coöperation of the Chicago Drama league. Mrs. Lewis Carlton Jesseph is chairman of the children's theater activities for the league.

1,500 Texans to Present 'Aida' at Soldiers' Field

A company of 1,500 natives of the Lone Star state will take part tomorrow in a performance of "Aïda" in Soldiers' field in celebration of Texas day at A Century of Progress. There will be 900 singers, 500 dancers, and a great display of soldiery in ancient costumes.

The opera will be sung in English. The 100 piece orchestra will be made up of Chicagoans, drawn from the Chicago Symphony and the Civic Opera orchestras. The cast is all American and has been chosen from the numerous artists produced in Texas. The ballet, composed of Texas beauties with some additions from the studios of Serge Oukrainsky, promises to be one of the major attractions of the performance.

The company arrived at the Fair last evening in three special trains. The performers will live in their cars during their stay here.

The rôle of Aïda will be played by Dalla Samoiloff, once of the Chicago Civic opera and more recently with the Teatro Reale of Rome. Dreda Aves of the Metropolitan, another former Texan, will sing the part of Amneris. Radames has been assigned to Joseph Wetzel, who has taken parts with Philadelphia and St. Louis opera companies.

"Blue Eagle" Dance Marking New Deal to Be Shown Today

A new dance named the "Blue Eagle" in honor of NRA will be shown this morning at the convention of the Chicago Association of Dancing Masters at the Congress hotel. It is a fox trot, done to music that resembles a march, according to Leo Kehl of Madison, Wis., who developed the dance with Miss Betty Mae Harris of Des Moines, Ia.

The dancing teachers yesterday approved a code for their profession with a maximum of 30 hours of work a week and a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour. They were exempt, as a profession.

BY ANNA NANGLE.

If you've a taste for Dickens and comfort the Playhouse is the place for you.

I have only a very hazy recollection of "Oliver Twist" as Mr. Dickens wrote it; but as far as I am able to judge, the current film version is quite palatable, and the story hasn't suffered as much in transcription from the printed page to the screen as many novels have.

Viewing it as a movie the piece is exceptionally well cast. Alec B. Francis is as delightful as ever as Mr. Brownlow, Irving Pichel's Fagin is sufficiently sly and revolting, and William Boyd expertly fearful as the cruel Bill Sykes. Doris Lloyd also deserves mention for her fine work as Nancy Sykes. Dicky Moore is a beautiful youngster and a most appealing little Oliver. [Remember Jackie Coogan as Oliver some years ago?]

Settings and photography are adequate and direction intelligent.

Here's a movie your youngsters can enjoy with you, and if you've had a hard day at the Fair you'll most certainly relish the comfortable armchairs provided in this theater—you just melt into them!

Texas Guinan Will Play in Film About Broadway

Hollywood, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Mary Louise Cecilia Guinan, known in her night club world and to the reading public as Texas, has arrived to play a part in a movie having to do with Broadway. Full of "wise cracks," as usual, she said she expects to become an evangelist after completing the picture and making one last tour "of the sticks in a big show." She expressed a desire to preach just once at the Four Square Gospel tabernacle of Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton.

Mrs. Sutherland Is Married to Brother-in-Law

MRS. ELLIOTT STEARNS.
[Moffett Photo.]

Mrs. Josephine Hoyt Sutherland, former Junior leaguer and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Landon Hoyt, 535 Sheridan road, Winnetka, was married yesterday at Crown Point, Ind., to her brother-in-law, Elliott Edmund Stearns, socially prominent Cleveland attorney.

The couple drove to the Indiana town accompanied by Mrs. Hoyt and were married by a Presbyterian minister. They returned for a wedding dinner at the Hoyt home in Winnetka, and then left immediately for Cleveland and a honeymoon. They will reside in the Stearns home at 2188 St. James parkway, Cleveland Heights.

Mr. Stearns' first wife died three years ago. She was the former Sarah Elizabeth Hoyt, sister of his new wife. They were married eighteen years ago. Four children were born of this marriage. They are Hoyt Stearns, 17 years old; Barbara, 15; Jane, 13, and Elliott, 10. The new Mrs. Stearns was married in 1924 to Phocien L. Sutherland of Atlanta, Ga. and Jacksonville, Fla. He was a real estate buyer. Mr. Sutherland died in January, 1932, at Jacksonville, two days after the birth of his second son. The Sutherland children are Julian, 5 years old, and Phocien, 18 months old. Barbara, Jane and Elliott Stearns and Julian Sutherland attended the wedding dinner of their parents.

Real Jewelry Is Stylish with Modern Dress

Old Fashioned Designs Are Popular Again.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Real jewelry, all the delightful old pieces you can wangle from the family collections of heirlooms and all the rather old fashioned stuff that grandmother cherished and kept in faded old velvet jewel caskets, is what you will wear this fall, if you know your jewelry fashions.

Along with "lady Lou" dresses festooned with frills and frous of all kinds, the tinkling old fashioned bracelets, complicated necklaces and long dripping earrings and lockets have been unpacked and returned to fashion glory. With black silk crisp taffeta, with the lovely, corded bengalines and flowered silks, you can now wear some ancestors' rosy red corals, the jagged edged stuff made into long necklaces, sometimes combined with seed pearls, and sometimes with gold beads. The paler tints of smooth pink coral are irresistible with all the new fascinating blue shades of wool and silk for fall frocks.

With wide flounces, flaring skirts and the slithering evening gowns with long trains wear your grandmother's onyx and gold jewelry, the kind with exquisitely carved old gold settings . . . the wide bracelets with squares of carved onyx, the plain gold band bracelets with etched leaves and blossoms, and the brooches of the square design, outlined with massive old gold frames.

Locket necklaces that hang from heavy old gold chains . . . earrings swinging glamorously from slender gold chains . . . anything and everything gold, old and massive. If you haven't the authentic old originals you now can buy some of the most exquisite copies you ever discovered in your shopping career.

Bill, Son of Hedda Hopper, Starts Career in Movies

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Hedda Hopper's son, Bill, started a career as an actor today. He's in the motion picture, "The Prizefighter and the Lady," which will present both Max Baer and Primo Carnera as actors. Young Hopper, whose red haired and vivacious mother still is alluded to by a large portion of Hollywood as "the screen colony's most stylish dresser," starts his screen career under the name Dewolf Hopper, Junior. He has been attending a coast military academy.

She prefers it to mayonnaise

this critical judge of fine food

AND SO do the many other Chicago women to whom we submitted Kraft's Miracle Whip Salad Dressing. People who know and like fine food prefer this new dressing to any and all other kinds!

You'll know why when you taste it. It's not too bland. Not too oily. Not too tart. A perfect combination of true mayonnaise and true old-fashioned boiled dressing. Mixed from choice ingredients, to velvety smoothness in the exclusive Kraft Miracle Whip.

We think you'll find Kraft's Miracle Whip Salad Dressing more delicious than mayonnaise. Ask your grocer for a jar of it today!

SYNOPSIS.

Uncas Cresap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cresap's boathouse on Kettle pond, near the eastern end of Long Island. Gilbert Jonathan Redd, Cresap's stepbrother, keeps a written, private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp edged implement killed Cresap. The cause of the Chinaman's death is not apparent. Capt. Bray, a special investigator, and an old friend of Redd's, helps the men from the district attorney's office in solving the crime. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Dane, Cresap's niece and an orphan, lived with him. Redd was fond of Florence's mother. He bought a home near Cresap's in order to protect Florence. Cresap made his fortune in the far east. Redd freely admits to Bray his hatred of Cresap who was a drunkard and a débauché. The Chinaman and a dwarf, Sabino, are the most important of the servants, and there seemed to be some secret bond between them and their employer. Bray calls the members of the household together for questioning. He has found, spread out on Cresap's desk, a new will, though unsigned, so the old will stands.

INSTALLMENT XIV.

AN ACCUSATION.

"By the way, Gilly, that reminds me," Bray went on, swinging toward me, "it was to discuss with him the matter of his intending for to change his will that brought you a riding over late yesterday afternoon, wasn't it?"

"Mostly it was," I told him. "I had been informed of his purpose."

He didn't ask me who had informed me, which in another man than Bray might have seemed a curious omission.

"You was wishful p'raps that he should leave the old will stand and forget about any new one?"

"You've guessed it."

"But he wouldn't listen to reason, eh?"

"He wouldn't listen to my reasons in opposition, if that's what you're driving at."

"And you had words over it?"

"We did—hard words. I told him my opinion of him—not that he didn't know it full well."

"And then you left him there?"

There was a pregnant hush.

"I did—in a maudlin state bordering on stupor—and I went home."

"And I take it you were still at home at the hour he was killed?"

"I'm not so sure I can prove it. That's where the rub comes."

"You vouch for yourself, don't you, Gilly?"

"In a case like this I might need somebody else to vouch for me. It may be that my cook and housekeeper, Mrs. Bevil, was astir that late last night. It may be that she saw me or heard me in my study; I was up then. But I can't say. Because I left my house the minute I got this word this morning and, as you know, I haven't been back—haven't even telephoned over. So I wish one of you would go now and call her up—the name is Mary Jane Bevil—and ask her and see what she says on that head—if anything?"

"O, it's no matter, it's no matter, Gilly," protested Bray with a genial flapping of his arm. "I'm guaranteeing you."

"It might matter," I insisted, "and since you brought it up, I'm curious myself to know what she'll say."

"O, well, if it's an accommodation to you and'll maybe make you easier in your mind," said Bray. "Would you go, Motley?"

So Motley went.

While he was gone, Bray rather absentmindedly fished in a pocket and brought forth a small, cylindrical object.

"O, about this?" He held it up, half-palmed, so that after a fashion we could all see it. "It's a gold-mounted fountain pen, as you all can tell from where you sit—just a plain gold-mounted pen. For the sake of argument, we'll say it's got no distinguishing marks on it. Probably this don't mean anything one way or the other, but 'twas found laying on the floor of that boathouse room, almost under and behind the body—not the Chinaman's body—Mr. Cresap's. You see, I'm telling you everying because I'm still shooting square with everybody. Now I'm asking you, does any one here recognize it as their property or the property of any one they know?"

There was a pregnant short hush. "Maybe it might have been Mr. Cresap's himself," prompted Bay. "Maybe he dropped it himself—being in liquor?"

"I think it was his." It was Florence who spoke, with a quick catch in her voice, just as I had opened my lips to speak, so I lost my chance.

"On second thought, I'm sure it was his," she continued. "I—I'm positive I've seen him with it. Could I take it, please, in my own hand?"

"It's no matter, Miss," said Bray gallantly. "What you say goes with me," and he slid the thing out of sight. Under the visor of a hand across his brow, he grimaced a quick clue for silence. So by that I knew he had seen how, at the instant he produced it, my own hand, mechanically operating, as it were, against my will, had gone up to fumble at my lefthand upper waistcoat pocket.

Motley came in and whispered briefly to Bray who answered him in an undertone, at the same time favoring me with a series of reassuring nods.

"Well, ladies and gents," he said, "the time we've spent in this quiz of ours hasn't been wasted, because it seems like to me it's practically eliminated everybody that's here present from this here equation. We're very grateful to them as has spoken up so prompt and willing. So now I'm inviting all of you that're on wages—day, week or month, as the case may be—to run along and get on with your regular work whatsoever it might be. If we should be needing you some more—which don't seem probable—we know where we can locate you. . . . Good night to you."

Out they filed—Verity, Olsen, still red faced and touchy, the cook and the two girls, and all of them, with the possible exception of Delia, glad to go, I'd say.

Then all at once a foreboding was with us who remained behind in that room. I could sense it.

Bray shifted his shape so that he directly faced Florence. His eyes were like the aimed ends of two steel augers and his face was inscrutable as he stared at her, making the little interlude doubly ominous.

"Miss Dale—'scuse me, I mean Miss Dane," he began queruously, after a craftily lengthened stage wait of perhaps half a minute; but to her it surely must have seemed a dragged-out eternity. "I'm sore afraid I've got to quarrel with you. Here I give you an opening—in fact, I give you two openings, and you won't take advantage of neither one or the both of them. That's bad." His voice was plaintive—the voice of a patient man driven to make complaint. "I could wish now for your peace of mind and the peace of mind of others, maybe, that you'd be absolutely on the level with us."

"I—I don't know what you mean," she said haltingly. But the faint trace of color that had come back to her cheeks was suddenly drained off, leaving her white and dreadful.

"Not meaning to contradict a lady, but I think you do know just what I mean," he said. "Still, if so be you don't, I'll try for to refresh your memory."

Never taking his gimletlike gaze off of her, he fumbled under the loosened flap of a dispatch case which all this while had been lying on the table-top in front of him, and brought forth something which threw off a burnished shimmer, and he held it up before us—a photograph, framed in bright silver, of a handsome youngster with a smiling but a determined mouth and steadfast eyes.

College Movie Is a Big Break for Sigma Chi

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Just about the time the college fraternity rushing season reaches heated proportions this fall all the Phi Delts, Betas, Phi Psis, Dekes and so forth are going to have to steer their prospects away from the college town movie shows, for one of the larger independent studios—Monogram—is filming a story of considerable magnitude for September or October release, titled "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

There are so many Sigma Chi lads working in this picture that one can just anticipate the heated wires the other frat fellows in Hollywood will be sending to the NRA.

To lead off, Clarence [Buster] Crabbe, national and Olympic swim champion from the University of Southern California, whose past film renown has been won as "Lion Man," is the star.

Mary Carlisle, who is the blonde "Sweetheart" of the Sigs and who in real life wears a Sig pin from her cousin, Johnny Lehners, is feminine lead.

Other principals include Burr McIntosh, veteran actor, who has been a Sigma Chi for 53 years, joining at Lafayette college; Purnell Pratt, a Sig from Pennsylvania, and, in less prominent rôles, the following U. S. C. Sigma Chi football greats: Jim Musick, Ernie Pinckert, Gene Clarke, Frank Anthony, and Tony Jurich. Other ex-athletes are from Indiana, Montana, and far eastern universities.

There is a list of some twenty-odd more Sigs playing bits and extras, with Charles Starret, a Psi Upsilon from Dartmouth, as one of the only two non-Sig males in the film.

Other feminine principals are Florence Lake, Sally Starr, and Mary Blackford.

The film has a race between college eight oar crews for an action background, with Eddie Tamblyn, little Broadway comedian, as coxswain, Maj. Goodcell, rowing coach at University of California in Los Angeles, both as technical director and as the actor who plays the coach. Goodcell, being an Australian, and not a college man, could not be expected to be a Sigma Chi. Goodcell used to be international single sculls champion of the world. Trem Carr, vice president of the Monogram corporation and head of the studio, who happens to be a Delta Tau Delta, and W. T. Lackey, production supervisor, who happens to be a Sigma Nu, are the pair sponsoring this college picture, whose original idea evolved from the popularity of a Greek letter society's song. That tune, "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," of course, contributes the picture's musical features, provided by Ted Flo Rito's band. Some of the action was shot during the recent regatta at Long Beach, in which University of Washington crews outrowed Yale, Harvard, Cornell, and California. It's the first film I know of built around college rowing.

Vivienne Segal is cast as Odel in "Cat and the Fiddle," the musical diversion which Novarro and Jeanette MacDonald are filming at M-G-M.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

POISONED.

The body of the wealthy and powerful moving picture executive, Hugo Murnick, lay by the side of Bulena Balava in her exotically furnished apartment. Murnick had literally brought her from the slums to stardom. It was generally agreed she had the most perfect figure in America. She had been married at 19 and divorced two months later.

Prof. Fordney stood studying the scene; the look of agony on the faces of both; the two almost empty glasses on a small side table beside a cocktail shaker. Inspector Kelley, too, silently looked around. Fordney walked over, smelled of the glasses and, turning to Kelley, who had picked up a typewritten note from the desk, said, "Poison, of course."

And a suicide pact," interjected the inspector. "Look here."

He handed the professor the note which read:

Goodby to all our friends. We've both had everything that this life can offer so we're going to see what's on the other side. Cheerio.

BULENA AND HUGO.

Fordney looked closely at the note while Kelley said, "Thank God, there's no mystery about this—we've had enough tough cases lately. A suicide pact—what fools!"

He looked at the professor and, seeing on his face the expression he so well knew, exclaimed, "What? You don't agree with me?"

"You're jumping to conclusions, Ed. It might be a suicide pact and again it might be murder! You see—this may be another tough case."

WHERE WAS KELLEY'S REASONING FAULTY?

[See solution on page 27.]

Perhaps you have a story or problem you would like to submit to Prof. Fordney. If so, send it to him care of this paper. He will be delighted to receive it.

She Learned Love Wasn't Blind To FAT!

As a girl she was popular. All of her friends envied her happy marriage but after awhile things seemed to change. She accused her husband of being fickle. She learned love wasn't blind—to fat. Happily she didn't wait until it was too late. What a difference would it make in your life to be rid of unsightly fat? Thousands, yes millions, of others have learned of the Marmola way. This famous prescription has found its way even into such remote corners of the world as South Africa, New Zealand. More than 20 million boxes have been sold. For 25 years it has stood supreme while useless fat fads and remedies have come and gone. Its formula includes among its 19 constituents important vegetable, organic and mineral ingredients prescribed the world over by physicians. It is designed for people (called by doctors the "low metabolism type") whose systems turn too much food into fat. Pleasant, easy to take. At good drug stores—only $1.00.

IN FIVE COLORS on the 1933 Chicagoland map is shown the entire 40-mile area in the four states around the lower end of Lake Michigan. This pocket size master map shows all four-lane highways, city boulevards, through streets, tourist camps, rail and electric lines, grade crossings, accurate mileages, and new pavement. Locates 305 lakes, 299 golf courses, 24 places of interest, 677 towns, with index for quick finding. Price, 25c; by mail, 30c. At the Tribune Public Service Office, 1 S. Dearborn (in the Loop) and at Tribune Tower.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Six Children Need Clothing.

Mrs. J. F. is the mother of six children. There are boys age 17, 16, 14 and 13, and girls 16 and 8, in the family. Her husband has been out of work for some time, and Mrs. F. is selling from door to door in an effort to help support the family. All the children are in need of clothing and will be glad to call for anything.

Have You Extra Shoes?

A. L. is an elderly woman, badly in need of a pair of walking shoes size 7 D or E. At present she is wearing a shabby pair of high laced shoes, and they are most uncomfortable in this hot weather.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

"Dear Miss Blake: Is it wrong for a fellow to keep steady company with a girl without having serious intentions? Couldn't it be a platonic friendship? UNDECIDED."

A successful friendship of this kind would depend a lot on the way the girl takes it. It would be only fair to tell her in the beginning.

Society Rests for Rugby and Tennis Games

Herman B. Butler of Winnetka. They expect to return home on Friday.

There is a family reunion this week in the house of Mrs. Edward C. Kohlsaat in Bryant avenue in Winnetka. Day by day she is welcoming home one after another of her children. On Saturday her son and his wife, the junior Edward C. Kohlsaats, arrived from Lake Placid for a ten day visit.

Yesterday marked the arrival of Miss Margaret Myers, a sister of the junior Mrs. Kohlsaat, from Princeton, N. J., and tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Agnew Jr. are due from the east. Mrs. Agnew was before her marriage Suzanne Kohlsaat. Mrs. Kohlsaat's second daughter, Mrs. Edward M. Harkness, with Mr. Harkness and their young son, are making their home with her.

Much to their regret the junior Kohlsaats have left their tiny baby daughter, named Starr after her mother, who was Virginia Starr Myers before she married, with Mrs. Kohlsaat's parents who are summering at the Lake Placid club. They feared the trip was too long and strenuous for a baby so young.

On Oct. 1 the senior Mrs. Kohlsaat is giving up her house to the Archibald Wagners, who have leased it for the next year. She is quite undecided about her plans for the fall and winter. The Harknesses plan to find a house of their own in Winnetka.

Charles Littles Have Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Helmholz of Rochester, Minn., and their four children arrived in Evanston yesterday to spend four days with the Charles G. Littles. The Helmholzes are here particularly to see the Fair. After the visit the Littles and their daughter, Miss Myra Little, are going up to their home at Les Cheneaux club, leaving Friday for a fortnight's stay.

David O. Dunbar and his son, George, have returned from a vacation cruise to Trinidad and Havana. They also inspected Princeton university on their way east to take the cruise, for it is there that young Mr. Dunbar will commence his college career this fall. Mr. Dunbar and his son are motoring to Iowa to spend the week-end with friends.

Mrs. George R. Newcombe, the former Marguerite Seaman, has joined her husband at their apartment at 999 Lake Shore drive, but tiny Valerie Newcombe still is in the Passavant hospital, where she will have to remain until she weighs five pounds. This wee little miss was three weeks old last Saturday, and since she is the Newcombes' first baby they are more than anxious to have her at home in her own nursery.

Mrs. Jerace to Leave Hospital Today.

Mrs. Fortunato Jerace will return to her home today from the Presbyterian hospital, where she is recovering from an appendectomy. Her daughter, Miss Jean McVoy, who recently arrived from a trip around the world, is dividing her time between the McVoy home on Lake Shore drive and the home of her sister and brother-in-law, the junior Sidney S. Gorhams, in Winnetka. She will remain in Chicago until after the Christmas holidays.

Col. Clifford L. Corbin has received orders to proceed to his next post—which is in Paris. This means that he and Mrs. Corbin and their two attractive daughters, Miss Dolly Corbin and Miss Edith Ann Corbin, will spend the next two or three years there. Mrs. Corbin is visiting in Charlevoix now but she will be at home by the middle of this week to start packing and making preparations for leave-taking. They are sailing on the Roosevelt on Sept. 20.

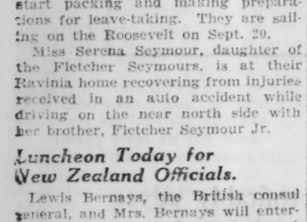
Miss Serena Seymour, daughter of the Fletcher Seymours, is at their Ravinia home recovering from injuries received in an auto accident while driving on the near north side with her brother, Fletcher Seymour Jr.

Luncheon Today for New Zealand Officials.

Lewis Bernays, the British consul general, and Mrs. Bernays will entertain at a luncheon in their apartment today for George William Forbes, prime minister of New Zealand, and Mrs. Forbes, and their party of twelve. Mr. Forbes and his party are returning from the economic conference at London to their homes via Chicago, that they may have two days here to visit the Fair. Others with Mr. Forbes are Robert Masters, minister of education, trade and commerce, and Mrs. Masters, Mr. and Mrs. J. Collins (he is the New Zealand trade commissioner to Canada), Prof. A. H. Ticker, Dr. R. W. Campbell, Dr. G. C. Rodea, who is the assistant secretary of the treasury in New Zealand, W. J. Stevenson and C. A. Jeffery, secretary to Mr. Forbes.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernays have invited several of their friends to the luncheon, but because arrangements were made on such short notice a good many of the Chicago guests were not free. Such is the case with the Rufus C. Dawes and Gen. Frank Parker. However, Mrs. Parker will be there, and also former governor of Wisconsin Walter Kohler, and Mrs. Kohler, who are in town. Another of the Bernays' guests will be Claude Taylor, a young Englishman recently arrived in Chicago, who is connected with the British department of overseas trade.

The thirty or forty persons that the Harold C. Strotzes have invited for cocktails and a buffet supper in their apartment on Stone street this evening, have been invited to meet Mrs. James Miller, the beautiful Brazilian, who came to Chicago with the Brazilian commission to A Century of Progress.



Engaged

MISS BEATRICE MEAD.

James L. Mead of Evanston and Pasadena has announced the engagement of his daughter, Beatrice Van Ness Mead, to John Chandler Rookridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rookridge of Salt Lake City. Miss Mead is a graduate of Miss Bennett's school in Mill Brook, N. Y. The wedding will take place in December and the young couple will make their home in Salt Lake City.

Marimba Band Popular with Fair Throngs

BY EDWARD MOORE.

An uncommonly entertaining musical organization is playing nightly in the court of the Hall of Science at A Century of Progress this week. It is a marimba band of one hundred pieces directed by Clair Omar Musser, and in many ways it is the most interesting group of music makers that has so far had any connection with A Century of Progress.

The marimba is one of the oldest musical instruments of which there is a record. Yet, this battery of one hundred, with their graduated, glistening resonating pipes, is startlingly in accord with modern ideas of line and mass. Not only that, but they have what will be to most people unexpected resources as makers of music.

As the marimbas are played under Mr. Musser's direction, they have inspiring rhythm, they are capable of almost anything in spacious harmonic chords, they make melody in all ways from the snappy staccato to long, sustained curves of melody, they have a wide range of expression, and an equally wide range of tonal quality. In other words, they are capable of playing a program in a highly persuasive fashion.

In the Pilgrim's chorus, for instance, out of Wagner's "Tannhäuser" overture they produce a tone which for sheer loveliness you will hardly hear surpassed anywhere. It is like a group of ideal French horns ideally played, in fact better played than any other orchestra or band is able to play them. Mr. Musser leaves off conducting once in the program to turn to his own marimba and play a solo part in Thomas' "Mignon" orchestra. He is a virtuoso of the instrument, playing it as Horowitz plays the piano or Heifetz the violin.

Elsewhere you will hear some music specially written for the group, Rosales' Bolero for one, which is not Ravel's famous work of the same name, but a good piece just the same, also an arrangement of a suite from "Carmen," also made with the organization in mind. The concerts are drawing enormous crowds, just as always happens when something musically attractive goes on at A Century of Progress. They are confidently recommended.

Ruth Klauber, Chicago pianist-composer, will give a recital this afternoon at the home of Mrs. John J. Selig, 5316 University avenue. She will also play a group of her own compositions at the Illinois Host building, A Century of Progress, next Sunday afternoon.

The Byzantine ensemble is singing twice at the Exposition this week. In costume, and presenting their unique program of ancient Greek and Byzantine music, they will appear on the Floating theater tomorrow afternoon, and again, in celebration of Spartan day, at the Hollywood theater Sunday evening.

Child Can't Forget Dread Experience

Night in Hospital Left Its Impression.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Perhaps you can help me with my problem concerning my small son who will be 4 in October. He is a well behaved child and does just as I tell him. There is only one thing wrong. At home he plays in the street with all children while I am in the house, but if I should go visiting with him he lives in constant fear that I might leave him and go away.

"He is afraid to go to the bathroom or into another room unless I go with him. It is not the fear that there is someone there, but that I will leave while he is gone.

"When he was 2½ I had his tonsils taken out and had to leave him at the hospital over night. When I took him home the next morning he refused to talk to me because I had left him there and had gone home. He cried all the time he was in the hospital.

"I thought this might be the cause of his fear now, but when I speak to him about it he says nothing about that incident. I once spoke to him and said, 'John, does mother love you?' and his answer was 'yes.' I asked him if I had ever left him anywhere alone and he said 'no' again. And yet that is his only fear."

There is no question in my mind that the stay overnight alone in the hospital was the original cause of this little boy's fear.

Unhappily, tonsil operations are not the simple matter physicians sometimes make out. Of course, the doctors' motive is a good one—they probably make light of these things thinking to soothe each anxious parent. It would be infinitely wiser and kinder if they would tell mothers something of the effect of the tonsil operation on the small patients—phychologically, nervously, etc. While some go through it without much after-effect, others give indications of shock that last.

The whole performance—the taking of ether, the coming out, then discomfort and bleeding afterwards, the strangeness of hospital and nurses—all are a shock to a child even though it is possible to prepare him for it and lessen the effect. When, added to this, his mother has to leave him. It is no wonder it lives in his mind—consciously or subconsciously—as a dread experience.

This small boy was little more than a baby when he went to the hospital. It is only a little over a year since he had the operation. Now he is still a wee sma' laddie. He must be reassured. If he were mine I think I would take him on my lap and say:

"Once, long ago when you were a very little boy, you had to go to the hospital. Do you remember? Mother took you there to have your tonsils out. Lots of children have that done so they can grow bigger and stronger. I couldn't stay with you that night, but I came and got you the next day. You don't ever have to have that done again.

"Now, you mustn't think I'm going to leave you at night again. I'll never leave you anywhere again, unless I tell you all about it first."

After that, time must do the rest. With this repeated assurance he will outgrow his fear.

Slippers Are Now Included in French Crocheted Details for Sports Wear

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Slippers have joined the army of accessories to dress styles that are done with a crochet hook. All over Paris charming slippers and sandals done with crocheted cotton and wool have appeared by magic. Bags of crocheted string are worn by fashionable women and crocheted caps are replacing the familiar string beret. Unemployment for crochet hooks is not one of the problems to get haggard over.

It might be a little difficult for the home worker to tackle the crocheted slipper, but all the other accessories can be done by clever fingers. The cap shown at the top of the sketch is the latest thing in crocheted headwear. It is like a squashy beret with a bill put on in front, and this bill is starched to hold its shape.

The Lelong sweater is made of yellow wool crocheted in a porous pattern. It buttons straight up the front and has a turn over collar and a breast pocket. This sweater can be worn both as a jacket and as a blouse. Lelong uses a striped crocheted tie to give it life. The stripes are yellow, gray, and black, and the belt is of black leather.

The pouch bag is made of yellow crocheted string and it is fastened with a black enamel fastener and hook that look something like a door knocker.

The crocheted slippers are shown at the bottom. They are brown with leather straps, and the sandals are beige with leather straps.

Polish, Lotion Best Aids to Lovely Hands

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A list of hand complaints as they are reeled off to me by correspondents include the red skinned hands, the bony fist with enlarged knuckles, the lined hand, the puffy, devitalized looking hand, and so on.

Time and again I am asked if a squarely built or fat hand can be converted into one of slender, artistic lines. On the former we can only recommend letting the nails grow long to give length. The fat hand, as seen on the fat woman or girl, does come in for its share of reducing along with the general shedding of excess weight. But it is a good sign, nevertheless, when women take this interest in their hands and are keyed up about correcting every little ailment.

There is this about certain hands. You can't change bone formation, once set. But I don't think bone formation is anything to cry about, these broadminded days [pictorially speaking]. You can't change the bone formation of the body, but you don't immerse yourself in grief over your shortness, or your height, or your perhaps wide built plan. Not if you have anything else to do. And most of us are too busy, along with other things, in applying the dress principles that the individual figure calls for in such emergencies.

Hands, of course, one can't keep covered up so well. This is a pretty much gloved season, at that. But for bridge and dining and other hand employments there is a well of beautifying hints to draw on.

Certain hands of naturally reddish tint are that way because of a sulphurous body content. [Warm hearted folk, these, if that's any consolation.] Well, there are skin bleaching lotions that tone this coloring down and there are nail polishes that will subdue the skin tone. But for all hands, even the beautiful pair, there is the now popular habit of treating them to hand lotion daily, even several times a day, and applying a few massage principles along with the lotion.

Rub oil or cream well into the nail beds and the cuticle, and massage with a circular upward motion.

Drink to Your Health in Tart Pineapple Juice

It's the Up-to-Date Cure for Sniffles.

BY MARY MEADE.

If you used to gleefully welcome recipes calling for drained cartwheels of pineapple—because it meant that you could then blissfully drink up the chilly juices "as was" or as a flatter for some long, cool summer drink—then prepare to huzzah for joy. For something much the same, but better, is rolling in on us from all sides.

It shapes up in the form of the latest addition to the beverage shelf—canned pineapple juice. It is not to be confused with the sweet sirup found in the various forms of canned pineapple—good as that is. For such juice has a certain amount of sugar added in the canning process, while the new drink is about the consistency of orange juice and has, you'll find, a definite tartness and tang. This, especially when served chilled, makes it an ideal breakfast drink or appetizer for luncheon or dinner. Still bolder experimenters say that pineapple juice does a perfect blend with a wide assortment of beverages, both on and off the approved list.

Healthily speaking, we also have something to purr about when we drink pineapple juice, for prodding scientists have discovered that pineapple and its juices are vigorous boosters for health. They have a generous supply of vitamins A, B, and C, and five essential minerals which aid in digestion and war against the bothersome "all tired out" feeling. Vitamin A is particularly worth taking off our hats to, for it is an A1 fighter against colds and influenza bacteria. And who wants to sniffle when drinks of some pleasant fruit juice or other can turn the dastardly sniffle into nice deep breaths.

As for the how of serving pineapple juice—imagination determines and the sky's the limit. Served chilled, au natural, in small slim glasses topped with a frosty mint leaf, we have a perfect palate tickler for opening a breakfast, luncheon, or dinner. Hot, it affords pleasing relief to sore throats. Or to become still more festive, we may serve it blended with eggnog, combined with lemon and chipped ice for breakfast, or offered up in the form of a chilly milkshake at any time at all. For instance:

PINEAPPLE JUICE EGGNOG.

1 egg, separated
2 tablespoons sugar
Dash of nutmeg
1 cup pineapple juice
½ cup crushed ice

Beat the egg yolk till thick and light yellow, then add the sugar and nutmeg and beat again. Add the pineapple juice and the crushed ice and finally fold in the stiffly beaten egg white. Shake well and serve at once. This serves one very thirsty person.

BREAKFAST PINEAPPLE JUICE.

1 cup pineapple juice
Juice of one-half lemon
Crushed ice

Blend the fruit juices and add the crushed ice. Serve in small, slender fruit juice glasses for a breakfast appetizer. Serves two.

PINEAPPLE MILKSHAKE.

1 cup chilled pineapple juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup ice water
1 tablespoon sugar
¾ cup chilled evaporated milk

Combine the fruit juices, water, and sugar. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, then add the chilled evaporated milk and shake till foamy with crushed ice. Serves three.

PINEAPPLE-GRAPEFRUIT COCKTAIL.

½ cup sugar
½ cup water
1½ cups pineapple juice
1 cup grapefruit juice

Boil the sugar and water together five minutes. Cool and add the mixed fruit juices. Chill and serve very cold in cocktail glasses. Serves six.

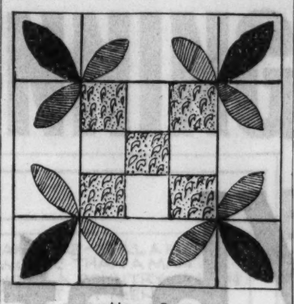
A Bee and His Honey Stitched Deftly on Quilt



Honey Bee.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Three little melon shaped pieces of patchwork linked together symbolize the "Honey Bee" and the diminutive center nine patch the honey comb. Plain materials and prints of light yellow or delicate golden yellow on a background of white will make this everything it should be in a charming and unusual quilt.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service office, One South Dearborn.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21—[Special]—The secretary of state and Mrs. Hull, who went to Staunton, Va., for a week-end visit to the latter's nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hays, have changed their plans and will spend the remainder of the week here.

The former secretary of war and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley went last week for a cruise with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred I. Du Pont on their yacht, the Nenemoosha. They were anchored off Newport for the week-end.

Mrs. Craven, wife of Rear Admiral Thomas T. Craven, formerly of Chicago, who has already proceeded to his new post of duty on the Pacific coast, has leased their home at Wardour, Md., recently completed, to Lieut. Commander and Mrs. Ellis H. Geisselman, who will take possession September 1. Mrs. Craven will sail from New York, Sept. 7, to join Admiral Craven, who has gone on sea duty with the Pacific fleet. She will remain at Long Beach, Cal.

What your business needs, Mister, is a boy like Skippy!

Look into the records, estimate the profits, of leading advertisers who have used the wide appeal of Skippy and his pals in The Comic Weekly to reach more than 15 million buying readers—enviable, almost unbelievable, yet possible for you!

It's results...profits ...cash received that have jumped advertisers from one page to as many as 45 in The Comic Weekly.

A great food company ran its first page on one of its products on May 17, 1931, in The Comic Weekly. Seven more pages were used on this same product before the end of that year. Other pages were subsequently used to advertise four more well known food items.

A leading cereal manufacturer ran a page in The Comic Weekly on February 19, 1933, containing a coupon which required the purchase of a 25¢ package. Within 3 months more than 151,000 box tops were received and sales in March increased 46.9%. Additional pages are scheduled to appear in the fall.

A drug house used its first page in The Comic Weekly on November 8, 1931. It produced over 137,000 coupons and substantial sales increases. A second page appeared on January 3, 1932, and since that time additional pages have been used.

A famous soap maker tried out The Comic Weekly on September 20, 1931, with a page advertising its leading brands. Nineteen pages were used in 1932 advertising four of the brands of this manufacturer. In 1933 a regular schedule of color pages on all four products is being carried in The Comic Weekly.

In The Comic Weekly . . . "Puck" . . . which is distributed with the 17 great Hearst Sunday newspapers, you meet Tillie the Toiler, Jiggs, Boob McNutt, Barney Google, Felix the Cat, Skippy, Pop-Eye, Toots and Casper, Little Jimmy—yes, and those old favorites, the Katzenjammers!

With these tremendous features—and smaller strips by the same artists in addition—is it any wonder that over five million families will follow The Comic Weekly—"Puck" zealously every week?

What an advertising opportunity full pages in The Comic Weekly offer!

THE story of The Comic Weekly is a story of cold cash for advertisers. When a single page produces more than 132,000 coupon returns, when another brings in 151,355 box tops and boosts sales 46.9% in a single month, you're standing face to face with business realities.

Of course, we can go into all the reasons why The Comic Weekly performs as it does—and we will, gladly. We can demonstrate the common sense of a medium that goes into more than 5 million homes, that reaches over 15 million readers. We have surveys to prove that 72% of all the women and 68% of all men who read Sunday newspapers read the comics.

The theory is excellent, sound, fundamental. But the real point is, it works. To its millions of readers, The Comic Weekly brings laughs, loves, thrills and tears—supreme entertainment everybody understands. To the manufacturer or national advertiser it means—or it can mean—good, round American dollars.

Is your product one that can be profitably advertised in The Comic Weekly? It has been used with surprising success for cigarettes and cereals, typewriters and tapioca. Lifebuoy uses it for a soap at five cents, Woodbury for a soap at twenty-five. Waterman and Parker have advertised fountain pens in it; and the S. C. Johnson Company advertised floor wax. What is your regard for the business judgment, the advertising experience, of the more than forty leading advertisers who regularly exploit their wares in The Comic Weekly's pages?

$17,500 is the price of a back page—inside pages are $16,000. The circulation is more than three of the great national weekly magazines combined. And results have seldom been duplicated by any medium, even in the most prosperous years. What your business needs, Mister, is a boy like Skippy. A call to COlumbus 5-2642 in New York or Superior 6820 in Chicago will bring you even more convincing details.

SOX BATTLE YANKEES TO TIE IN 18 INNINGS, 3-3

WORLD SERIES BEE BUZZES IN CAPITAL AGAIN

Remember Back in 1924?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21. — In Washington, D. C., where a change in the form of government is going on, there are many people with breath to spare to talk about an impending world series between the Senators and probably the New York Giants, the same two corporations which opposed one another in the first world series ever played in the capital and beyond argument the noisiest world series that ever was performed.

The same two corporations but not the same ball clubs, of course, for ball players, like officeholders, get lamed in competition and are constantly being turned back to their home towns to set themselves up in the smoke shop and pool hall business or the attorney at law business, as the case may be, and talk forever of the days when they were up there. The loyalties of the lamed athletes are considerably stronger than those of many of the former officeholders, however.

The old stars and mediocrities, when they go down from there, do not turn against the institution of baseball, whereas an old member of congress might think it in no way unethical of him to become counsel for the defense of some prominent public enemy or lobbyist for some interest which wishes to shake down the U. S. A. for some business advantage or to hang out a shingle as a professional fix for persons or firms finding themselves laid over a barrel by the income tax department.

Bluege Is Still There.

There being so many laws already another little law might not do us any harm, which would forbid all holders of public office, once they have taken the government's shilling, never thereafter to use against the government any knowledge of the government's weaknesses.

There are not many athletes left in service of the two ball clubs which met in Washington in 1924. Ossie Bluege is there and working, and so is Goose Goslin. Sam Rice, a reformed pitcher, is coming to the end of his time with the only major league firm that he ever worked for and setting a record, I should guess, for continuous service on one pay roll.

That was a world series very rich in little incidents of the kind which the baseball crowd can recall many years after while waiting for the clink of the ice in the pitcher as the boy comes down the hall. There was a big, muscle-bound minor league outfielder playing third base for the Senators in that critical period in place of some one who had been hurt untimely. His name was Mack Miller and he kicked the baseball around so horribly behind the Washington pitchers that the scorers began to look about on their tally sheets for some place in which to record the total and average distance of punts.

Yet he kicked them around with such pathetic, Chaplinesque earnestness that the customers laughed with him and spared him a cheer or two. The hilarity reached its height when he gravely walked over to Walter Johnson in one of his games and spanked him comfortingly on the back as though to say, "Don't let them get you down, big boy; I'm with you."

Gowdy Steps on His Mask.

That was the series in which Hank Gowdy, enjoying an unexpected revival after the major leagues had held a mirror to his lips and found no mist, stepped on his mask going after a foul ball and dropped the catch, giving the Senators the chance they needed to win out finally. It was the one, also, in which Stanley Harris outsubstituted John McGraw when they started shoving in right handers and left handers back and forth to obtain some strategic advantage, and the one in which Billy Evans, the umpire, offered to pop a customer on the nose for demanding that Johnson be taken out of the ball game.

An umpire through and through, Mr. Evans nevertheless admired Johnson in a way to suggest that maybe Johnson knew where the body was buried. But it turned out that this great love for the big Scandinavian was due to gratitude only. In 20 years of calling them as he happened to see them, when he could see them, Evans had called a certain percentage of them wrong on Johnson, but Walter had never given him a word or look or thrown his glove over the grandstand.

Just Divides 'Em Up.

"I know I must have called a lot of them wrong," said Mr. Evans, who was having a literary season that year and doing the world series from the press coop, "because a lot of them came up there so fast that I couldn't even guess where they crossed the plate. That kind I used to divide up evenly, balls and strikes, but Walter never argued."

So that was why Mr. Evans wished to pop the customers on the nose who wanted Walter Johnson taken out, and that undoubtedly is why you find Mr. Johnson in charge of the Cleveland ball club this season, Mr. Evans being general manager of the firm.

The customer decided that if it was going to result in trouble he would waive his demand for Walter Johnson's removal.

But that wasn't the world series in which Sam Rice went to the low outfield wall, bent 'way back like an acrobat and caught or didn't catch a fly ball which could have been a home run. He was far from the nearest

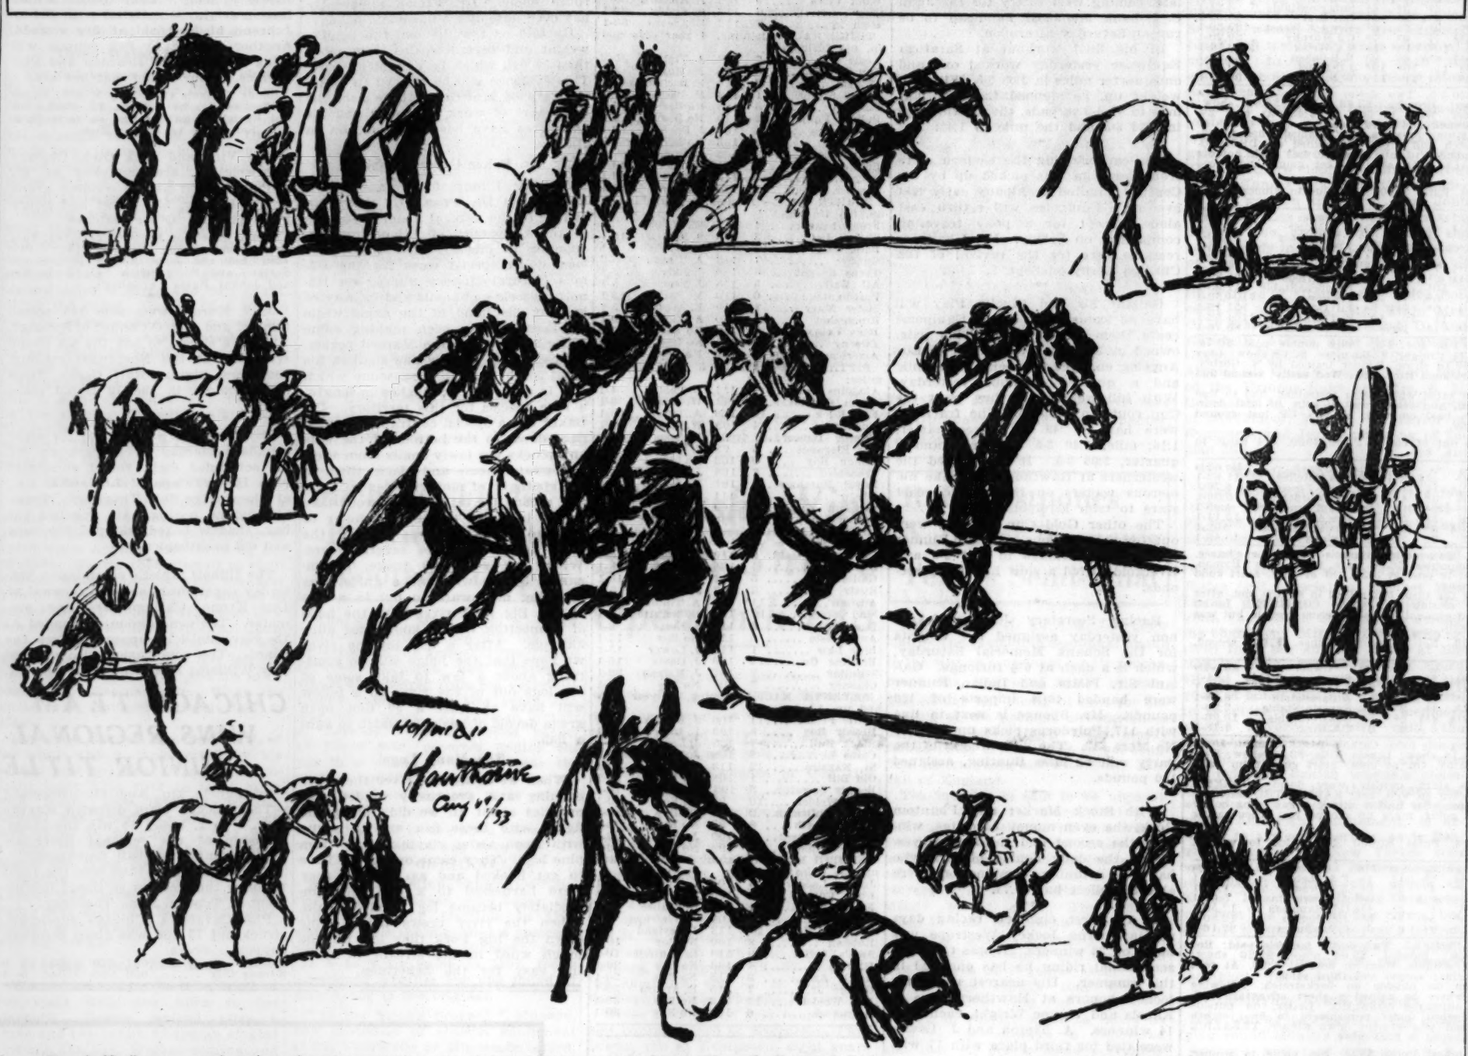
A DAY AT HAWTHORNE DURING GOLD CUP WEEK



Frank Hoffman, noted artist who pictured the action during the east-west polo series at Onwentsia last week, spent a day at the Hawthorne race track depicting the afternoon's card and preparations for the $25,000 Gold Cup race on Thursday, which will bring together Equipoise, Gallant Sir, and Plucky Play.

Smith to Get 10 Goal Rating, Fans Predict

The name of Thomas Hitchcock Jr., for several years at the top of world polo rankings by itself, will no longer be solitary, according to experts who witnessed the recent east-west series at Onwentsia. These critics, together with officials of the United States Polo association, yesterday admitted that the name of Cecil Smith, the hard riding Texan who led the western team to victory in the final and deciding game Sunday, must be joined to that of Hitchcock, who has dominated the game as its only player with a handicap rating of ten goals.

Smith was not far behind Hitchcock, holding a nine goal rating himself, but the consensus now is that Smith probably will share the ten goal berth with the famed easterner. In addition, it is expected that the superior playing of both teams during the three game series assures a number of the other players on both teams, such as Rube Williams, Elmer Boeseke, and Aidan Roark of the west, and the Guest brothers and Farle Hopping of the eastern team, of a chance at a higher ranking.

Smith was the individual hero of the series, climaxing his performance Sunday with six goals. He was largely responsible for the whirlwind attack which swept the favored eastern team off its feet, particularly during the first and third games.

The United States Polo association was further encouraged by the success of the series, which drew a paid attendance of more than 32,000 in the three games. It is now considering making the event an annual one, to be held here, in New York, and on the Pacific coast.

"The playing of the stars in the east-west series, particularly those of the west team and Raymond Guest of the east, is expected to have great influence on their goal ratings when the handicap committee next announces awards," said Louis E. Stoddard, chairman of the United States Polo association.

Horton Smith Shoots 69 in Practice Drill

Horton Smith, Oak Park Country club professional and Chicago's representative on the 1933 Ryder Cup team, took a day off yesterday to sample the No. 4 course at Olympia fields, one of the two on which the 33d annual open tournament of the Western Golf association will be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Difficult as the No. 4 course is regarded, it didn't prove too much for Horton, for he came home with a 69, one under par. He was out in 32, three strokes under the figures on the card. Coming back he slipped a trifle but managed a 37, two over for the last nine.

A number of other professionals, who will take part in the tournament, which ranks with the national open from the standpoint of competition, were out at Olympia yesterday to practice either on the No. 1 or No. 4 courses. Many of them didn't compete the full eighteen, but several of the favorites for the title aside from Smith, went the route. Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr and MacDonald Smith were around in 71. Willie Goggin of San Francisco, runner up to Gene Sarazen in the recent national P. G. A. tournament at Milwaukee, took a 73, while Tom Armour of Medinah had a 72.

Hope for Shute's Entry.

Walter Hagen, who won the western for the fifth time last year, will not return from a European tour in time to defend his title, but hope is still being held out that Denny Shute, who arrived in New York Sunday from his victory in the British open, will compete.

A field of 300 is expected to compete in the tournament, according to R. Arthur Wood, president of the Western association. Among the outstanding professionals already entered are Armour, Walsh, Goggin, Horton and MacDonald Smith, Harry Cooper, Mortie Dutra, Leo Diegel, Ralph Guldahl, Johnny Farrell, and Ed Dudley. The amateur list includes Chick Evans, John Lehman, John Fischer, Don Armstrong and Bill Lane.

Play Will Be on Two Courses.

Play will be over both courses on Friday and Saturday in order to divide the field. Those who play the No. 1 course on Friday will be sent over the No. 4 course on Saturday, and vica versa. All play on Sunday will be over No. 4. Eighteen holes will be played on Friday and Saturday, with the low 60 scorers and ties at the end of the first two days entering the final round of 36 holes on Sunday.

Entries Close Tonight for Tribune Swimming Races

Today is the last opportunity boys and girls of Chicagoland will have to enter the fourth annual 100 yard swimming races, which will be held next Sunday at the Lincoln park lagoon. No entry will be accepted if postmarked after midnight.

Individual entries may be made on the blank which is printed in today's TRIBUNE for the last time. Team entries may be sent in a group if the ages of the contestants are attested by the manager or coach of the team.

In the rush of last minute entries yesterday were teams representing the North avenue-Larrabee Y. M. C. A. and from the Irving Park district. Other park districts and playgrounds indicated yesterday that their lists would be submitted today.

Here's a Large Team.

Maxine Reinhard, women's director at the North avenue-Larrabee Y. M. C. A., sent in the name of 18 girls. Except for Helen Van Brussel, who will compete in class A, all will swim in classes C, D, and E, which includes those from 15 years of age and up.

The list follows:

Class A—Helen Van Brussel.

Class C—Annie Philips, Henrietta Van Brussel, Violet Hauta, Eleonor Kloman, Geraldine Harris, Victoria Baba, and Lorraine Wenholz.

Class D—Louise Schelk, Dorothy Frederickson, Minnie Philips, Lee Falkner, Elsie Falkner, and Martha Gothe.

Class E—Rose Render, Martha Kanok, Viola Falkner, and Lydia Wertz.

Nels Lundberg, athletic director of the Mont Clare Baptist church, believes his Boosters' Swimming team has the boy who will win the class D gold championship medal. His name is David Carlson, and he has been in training for several weeks for this race.

Davenport Sends Star.

The Davenport, Ia., Y. M. C. A. will be represented by Howard Estes, 1418 West 7th street, Davenport. He is entered in class B for boys 13 and 14 years of age, and comes to THE TRIBUNE meet with a series of victories around the tri-cities.

The Irving Park district girls' team is composed of the following swimmers:

Class A—Mildred Ernst, Margaret Pagels, Eleanor Sodomski, Julia Hausman, Marion Hammergren, Lorraine Samson, Majorie Jacob, and Lorraine Foss.

Class B—Jane Woebbkin, Virginia Lockefer, Lorraine Cleve, Carol Carsten, Mildred Helwig, Shirley Feldkamp, Marie Samson, Lorraine Hammergren, Charlotte Wager, Gladys Lenske, and Jane Utz.

Class C—Regina Demmer, Georgia Mae Sturm, Mildred Foss, Virginia Roth, and Gertrude Bacon.

Class D—Betty Brandsteiter.

Class E—Florence Kilinska, Isobel Fergen, Esther Frisk, Marcella Howardsen, and Mary Lane.

Must Report for Numbers.

All contestants must report at the Lincoln Park Boat club Sunday between 10 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. for their racing numbers. The first preliminary in class A for boys is scheduled at 1:30 o'clock. The clerks are requested to report in the morning. Lunch will be served at Café Brauer in Lincoln park.

BABE HERMAN IS BENCHED IN CUB BATTING SHAKEUP

Chicagoans Face Giants Twice Today.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21.—Rain today gave Charley Grimm, the Cub manager, time to think up a new idea. He's going to juggle his batting order as soon as hostilities are resumed and trust to luck that the alterations will make the Chicagoans less susceptible to beatings such as have been foisted on them since they strayed away from their home fold.

The main feature in Grimm's plan is that no place is provided for Floyd [Babe] Herman, who is being paid to perform as a cleanup hitter. The Babe has been one of the many offenders in the recent collapse of a team that some people mistook for a certain pennant contender. The Babe has produced two hits, one a scratch, in his last eight games. He apparently is one of those fellows who can't click with a near contender, but can go like everything when nothing is at stake.

Stevie Draws Cleanup Post.

When business is resumed with the leading Giants in a double header tomorrow, the outfield will be made up of Cuyler in right, Demaree in center, and Riggs Stephenson in left field as well as in the cleanup position. The stationing of Koenig at third instead of English also will be in effect as it was Sunday when the Cubs appeared about as bad as the Cincinnati Reds on their worst day.

Benching a man like English is a bit hard to understand. He always has been regarded as one of the few regulars able to keep both feet on the ground in a pinch. That quality is what the Cubs as a whole lack right now.

Five Double-Headers in 8 Days.

Despite the setbacks during the last week and the eight game lead now held over them by the Giants, some of the Chicago boys haven't abandoned thoughts of finishing in first place. Others never did think the chance was anything more than slim. On this point about a pennant they may come to an agreement inside of another week. The double header tomorrow is the first of five scheduled in eight days. That means a lot of work for the pitchers, and there aren't enough pitchers for such a job. The double header program probably will solve the pennant problem in a hurry, at least as far as Chicago is concerned.

Mr. Grimm Most Unhappy.

Manager Grimm naturally is not among those whistling such snappy numbers as "Happy Days Are Here Again." Mr. Grimm isn't whistling at all. On the contrary he is a very sober, soft spoken man who appears to be carrying a great load. He is. The one time clowning Dutchman naturally is depressed by the chaotic state of his ball club. And it doesn't cheer him much to pick up one paper after another and find his name mentioned among those managers doomed to get the ax.

William Veeck, the Cub president, thus far has avoided tipping off what he has in mind, if anything, about managers present or prospective. Because he fired Hornsby for having the team in second place instead of at the top last August there naturally is some reason to suspect he might act in the present situation. However, Grimm probably will at least finish the season. What will happen after that if the Cubs fail to win is a question. The name of Clarence Rowland keeps popping up so frequently that there must be something to it. At present he is scurrying around the minors picking up talent for the 1933 Cubs.

Bush and Tinning Get Call.

The services of Guy Bush and Bud Tinning will be called on for the double header against the leaders tomorrow. After that the Cubs will skip over to Philadelphia for a single game Wednesday, a double header Thursday, a single game Friday and another double bill on Saturday. The series at Brooklyn opens Sunday with a double header. On Monday one game will be staged, on Tuesday there will be two and on Wednesday the Cubs will close their year's work in the east with a single battle against the Dodgers. Roy Parmelee and Fred Fitzsimmons will work for the Giants tomorrow.

EACH SIDE GETS ONE RUN IN 9TH AND TWO IN 11TH

Darkness Halts Duel of Faber, Pennock.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox and New York Yankees yesterday battled to a 3 to 3 18 inning tie in one of the most remarkable games in the history of major league ball. It was a perfect tie, for besides the deadlocked score, each team made eleven hits and neither made any errors. Neither side knocked a hit longer than a single. The game was called because of darkness after 4 hours and 11 minutes of play.

The tie was even more extended than in the foregoing details. The Yankees made the first run in the ninth inning and the Sox tied it in the ninth. In the eleventh the Yankees made two runs, and again the Sox tied it.

The battle was staged before a ladies' day crowd of 12,000, and apparently there wasn't a gal present who cared about the old man's supper.

Both Clubs Get Pitching.

The remarkable features of the game were all the more striking because of the sloppy character of the Sunday double header between the same teams. Yesterday baseball in its finest phases was on display. Strategy played a big part in almost every inning, and the pitching, by Milt Gaston and Red Faber for the Sox and Charley Devens and Herb Pennock for the Yanks, was superb.

Faber allowed only two hits in seven innings of relief pitching and none in the last four innings, while Pennock yielded eight in nine innings.

The game abounded in great fielding plays and there were dozens of exciting spots, especially in the extra innings.

The game set a 1933 American league record for length and tied the National league record set by the Giants and Cardinals on July 2.

O, Those Scoring Chances!

The Sox left the field with mixed emotions. They were happy at having rallied to tie the score at 1 all in the 9th and at 3 all in the 11th, but they were disappointed at the failure of several excellent scoring opportunities which would have given them victory. After tying the score in the 11th, for instance, they got the bases full with one out, but the threat ended with a double play, whereas a long fly or a single out by Jimmy Dykes would have given the Sox a 4 to 3 victory.

The Yankees will not be back to Chicago to play off the tie. If the outcome will affect the standing of either team it probably will be played off when the Sox go to New York next month.

The Yankees stay was arduous, especially for the Sox, who today start a series of three successive double headers and a single game with the Boston Red Sox. The Sox and Yankees played 48 innings in three days, to decide three games, which required 11 hours and six minutes. Yesterday's game ended at 7:11 o'clock.

Gaston Has the Stuff.

Milt Gaston pitched a three-hit shutout for eight innings and did not allow a runner to reach second till the eighth. In the same span Devens also was an artist. He allowed only two hits in eight innings but had a jam in the seventh when he walked three men to fill the bases with one out. The squeeze play failed and Appling was plucked off third to break up the scoring chance and the game resumed its air-tight character, continuing through the eighth.

Nine men faced Gaston in the first three innings and Devens retired the first eight to face him, then walked Gaston and Swanson before throwing out Haas for the third out in the third inning.

Each team got its first hit in the fourth inning. Walker singled to left with two out and died when Hayes tossed out Gehrig. Simmons singled with one down, but Appling flied to Chapman and Devens threw out Kress.

Nice defensive work averted trouble

BY FRENCH LANE.

There have been reports lately that when Jockey Westrope, the sensation of the American turf, finally lands with a big stable his new boss will be Col. Edward R. Bradley.

Had Col. Bradley been among the 9,000 spectators at Hawthorne yesterday to see the running of the Orchard purse he probably would be walking around this morning with Westrope's contract in his pocket.

In the Orchard purse Col. Bradley was represented by Bobsled, a red hot favorite with the big crowd. Col Bradley's western contract rider, Jimmy Smith, was in the saddle on Bobsled.

It's Westrope Again.

Jimmy Smith is an old fellow as far as the ages of jockeys go. He doesn't ride with the dash that he did a few years back. He didn't ride with any dash whatever in the Orchard purse and as a result Jockey Westrope sailed into the stretch riding Red Roamer, a Kentucky 3 year old, "heir bent for leather" and in a final desperate challenge hung it on Col. Bradley's veteran rider in a thrilling finish to get the decision by a nose.

Westrope's youth and his willingness to take any sort of a chance beat Bobsled. Smith had the Bradley color bearer on the outside all the way and when he finally pushed the son of Black Toney's nose into the lead half way down the stretch neither Smith nor his mount had anything left with which to combat the final rousing ride which Westrope gave Red Roamer.

After the field had raced closely bunched into the stretch the two leaders had things their own way in the final drive. Teralice might have been more dangerous, but he was cut off by the two leaders rounding the lower bend. He had enough left to save third money. The trailers were Ted Clark, Silent Shot and Edith A.

Red Roamer Pays $6.44.

With the big plunge going on Bradley's Bobsled, Red Roamer paid $6.44 to win. He ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:46 1-5 and carried 112 pounds.

Bobsled was one of the few favorites unable to win all afternoon. In the Indian Head purse, which engaged some of the fleetest sprinters here at six furlongs, the crowd wagered with great confidence in Cathop from the Strathmore stable of Chicago.

This was almost strictly a Chicago owners' affair and the crowd made no mistakes. Cathop came with a commanding drive down the stretch and wound up by beating Karl Eitel from Ald. John Coughlin's barn by a length and a half. Lemon Hill, owned by Abraham Bartelstein, also of Chicago, was third, and weak heated Supreme Sweet from the Superior stable of Chicago was fourth. Pari-Mutuel from Tennessee and Bahamas from California brought up the rear.

Pool Ties Westrope.

Westrope and Pool shared riding honors each with two winners. Pool's winners were Stock Market and Cathop. Westrope's were Phantom Rock and Red Roamer.

Pool's riding has been almost as much of a sensation here as Westrope's. When he arrived at Hawthorne few folks placed any confidence in his ability to make a horse win. He seemed to be an old fellow slipping back along on the back grade. He has been everything but that, and has ridden more 2 year old winners at Hawthorne than any other two jockeys.

Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 2:16½. At post 1¼ minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

DOGMATA, away slowly and forced to lose ground throughout, improved his position gradually after reaching final five-sixteenths and was drawing out fast in closing strides. CHIRAC, away fast and lightly restrained until reaching final quarter, held on gamely in the drive. CLOUDET forced very wide much of the trip, swerved badly when moving up in stretch and bore over when holding on gamely in final eighth.

SECOND RACE—Six and one-half furlongs out of chute. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

STOCK MARKET, sent to the front under strong pressure, but steadied when rounding far turn, drew away when entering stretch and then stalled off DROMBO. Latter lightly restrained for half a mile, responded to mild pressure, but could not get to winner and also weakened in late stages. HALLIARD, slow to get going and raced wide almost throughout, closed well.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Phantom Rock, $3.34 straight, $2.90 place, $2.68 show; Grey Kitty, $11.30 place, $7.06 show; Heads Up, $6.18 show. Winner trained by S. Gorbet. Went to post at 3:10. At post 1 minute. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

PHANTOM ROCK, well ridden, was cleverly rated when being restrained, had to lose ground when going to the lead on lower turn, and came away steadily in final quarter. GREY KITTY, a strong factor throughout, held on well. HEADS UP lost ground most of the trip and was closing courageously.

Kelley. Went to post at 3:34. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

ONE CHANCE dropped back after reaching the turn, but rallied in stretch and, after working down the leaders, came away fast in closing fifty yards. COMMUTER forced the early pace under strong restraint, drew out gradually when entering stretch, but was no match for winner. HYMAN held on fairly well.

CATHOP, under energetic riding from the start, quickly wore down SUPREME SWEET after reaching the stretch and, holding on well, held KARL EITEL safe, but had little left. Latter responded to strong riding after half a mile and was going boldly in closing stages. LEMON HILLS slow to get going, made up ground fast when racing wide in the stretch.

Winner trained by C. Collins. Went to post at 4:26. At post 1½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

RED ROAMER easily improved his position on outside on backstretch, following which he was steadied along to stretch turn, where he gained a short advantage and, saving ground while holding on gamely, outstayed BOBSLED. Latter, on outside throughout and in hand for three-quarters, flinched under punishment in final eighth and, coming again under hand riding nearing end, was wearing down winner. TERALICE saved much ground on lower turn and weakened in final drive.

Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 4:47½. At post 2½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

SURETY, beginning slowly and allowed to remain out of it until reaching the final half mile, bettered his position fast on the lower turn and weakened after drawing out into a good lead, but was not seriously menaced. RESISTING probably beat stumbled when in close quarters on the clubhouse turn, was slow to respond to strong urging and, closing with a rush, was going fastest of all at the end. BOY CRAZY saved much ground, could not withstand SURETY on the stretch turn, and weakened in the drive, but outstayed THROUGH OMOND.

Equipoise and Mr. Khayyam Arrive Today

Equipoise, the turf champion, was traveling to Chicago last night from New York in royal style. He was in a private express car attached to the Century Limited and is scheduled to reach Chicago about 10 o'clock this morning.

Accompanying the Whitney star were Mr. Khayyam, which will try to beat him in the $25,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup to be run Thursday, and Pilate, coming west to try for the John C. Schank Memorial handicap to be run on Saturday afternoon.

In his final workout at Saratoga Equipoise yesterday worked one and one-quarter miles in 2:08 3-5. With full weight up, he stepped the first half mile in 47 4-5 seconds, the six furlongs in 1:13 3-5 and the mile in 1:41.

The car bringing the eastern stars from Saratoga was picked up by the Century Limited at Albany early last evening. Equipoise will return east alone, except for a pony traveling companion, on Friday. Mr. Khayyam remains here for the revival of the Chicago Derby on Sept. 2.

Gallant Sir and Plucky Play will have no excuses to offer if Equipoise beats them in the Cup. This pair, owned by Norman W. Church of Los Angeles, engaged in a sensational mile and a quarter workout yesterday. With full weight up, they went the Cup route in 2:05 3-5. The fractions were half in :49 2-5, three-quarter, 1:16; mile, 1:40 3-5, and mile and a quarter, 2:05 3-5. It encouraged the westerners at Hawthorne to make numerous wagers on the Pacific coast stars to trim Equipoise.

The other Gold Cup eligibles were out for easy gallops. Indian Runner breezed six furlongs in 1:14 2-5 and Evergold loafed a slow half in 50 seconds.

Racing Secretary Joseph McLennon yesterday assigned the weights for the Schank Memorial Saturday, which is a dash at 6½ furlongs. Gallant Sir, Pilate and Indian Runner were handed tops imposts of 126 pounds. Mr. Sponge is next in line with 117, Polydorus picks up 116 and No More 112. The light weight of the party will be Miss Bunting, assigned 100 pounds.

With Stock Market and Phantom Rock, the even money favorites, winning the second and third races yesterday the daily double players who had the winning combination were able to collect but $9.74.

In the first eighteen racing days at Hawthorne Jockey Westrope was home on 36 winners. It was the most sensational riding he has engaged in this summer. His nearest rivals for jockey honors at Hawthorne are J. Kacala and Wayne Wright, each with 14 winners. A. Tipton and J. Lowry were tied for third place with 11 winning mounts.

Eight Run Attack Ends Pitching Duel.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 21—(AP)—Monte Pearson, recruit right-handed pitcher who joined Cleveland only six weeks ago, today hurled his sixth victory as the Indians defeated the Boston Red Sox, 10 to 1, to sweep the five game series.

The triumph ran Cleveland's winning streak to seven straight and enabled the Indians to tighten their hold on third place.

For seven innings, the game was a pitching duel between Pearson and Bob Weiland, with the Cleveland hurler having a slight edge, as the result of Bill Cissell's sixth homer of the season in the first inning.

Then in the eighth the Indians broke loose and with seven hits, two bases on balls and an error sent eight runs across the plate. Roy Spencer batted twice during the uprising and cracked out two doubles.

MACKS BEAT TIGERS.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—(AP)—After four games of good hurling, for as many victories, Detroit's pitching staff collapsed today and the Philadelphia Athletics wound up the series with a 12 to 7 victory. Auker, Frasier, and Hogsett worked for Detroit, yielding 17 hits and issuing 10 bases on balls, seven of which figured in the scoring.

Barrett, who opened for Philadelphia, did well until the sixth, when Detroit collected three hits, one of them a home run by Greenberg with a man on base. Three Detroit hits in the seventh caused Barrett's retirement. Coombs relieved him, allowing only two more hits. Score:

Sox, Yankees Tie, 3 to 3, in 18 Innings

in the Yankee fifth. Simmons backed against the left field wall for a leaping one-hand catch of Chapman's drive and then Lazzeri beat out an infield single. The ball got past Appling, but it was decided by the official scorer that Tony would have reached first even had Luke come up with the ball. Dickey then grounded to Kress, who stepped on first and threw to Appling to double Lazzeri.

Three Walks Fill Bases.

The Sox blew a good scoring chance in the sixth. Swanson drew his second pass to start the inning and stopped at second on the Sox's second hit, a single to left by Haas. Dykes made two attempts to bunt, then was called out on strikes, after which Simmons tapped into a double play, Sewell to Lazzeri to Gehrig.

Appling walked on five pitches to start the seventh and moved to second on Kress' sacrifice. Hayes ran the count to three balls and two strikes then walked. Berry also walked after a three and two count, filling the bases. Gaston tried to put on the squeeze play but missed the ball and Appling was trapped trying to get back to third. Gaston then popped to Crosetti.

Dickey knocked the third Yankee hit, a single to right with two out in the eighth. Crosetti walked, and Dickey became the first Yank to reach second. Then Devens forced Crosetti, Dykes to Hayes.

Wild Pitch Helps Tie It.

Combs opened the ninth with a single to left and moved to second on Sewell's sacrifice. He progressed to third while Appling was throwing out Walker. Gehrig then singled to right center, scoring Combs with the first run of the game. Chapman singled to center, Gehrig stopping at second. Gaston made a quick throw to catch Chapman off first, and Umpire Kolls signaled Chapman out. The Sox left the field and then Kolls changed his mind and called Chapman safe. When the game was resumed Lazzeri flied to Haas.

Simmons opened the Sox half of the ninth with a single to left for his second and the Sox third hit. Simmons went from first to third on a wild pitch, then Appling walked. Devens was withdrawn and Pennock was called in to pitch. Kress sent a long fly to Combs and Simmons scored the tying run.

Appling went to second while Lazzeri was throwing out Hayes and Berry was given an intentional pass. Gaston sent Walker to the left field wall for his fly.

Each Scores Two More.

Walker beat out a bunt in front of the plate with one down in the eleventh. Gehrig walked after a three and two count. Chapman singled through the box, Walker scoring and Gehrig taking third. Gehrig scored and Chapman stopped at second while Gaston was throwing out Lazzeri. Dickey ended the inning with a long fly to Swanson.

Kress opened the Sox 11th with a single to right—the fifth Sox hit—and Hayes beat out a high bouncer to Sewell, Kress stopping at second.

Lyons batted for Berry and sacrificed. Fonseca batted for Gaston and walked, filling the bases. Jones went to first to run for Fonseca. Swanson singled to center, scoring Kress and Hayes with the tying runs and puting Jones on third. Haas was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Dykes hit into a double play, Gehrig to Dickey to Gehrig.

Faber went in to pitch at the start of the twelfth. Dykes threw out Crosetti. Pennock singled to right after a three and two count. Combs forced Pennock, Faber to Hayes, and then stole second. Appling threw out Sewell.

Simmons opened the twelfth with his third single, a line smack to left and went to second on Appling's sacrifice. Kress was given an intentional pass. Hayes forced Kress, Pennock to Crosetti. Grube was given an intentional pass, filling the bases, then Faber was called out on strikes.

Sox Threat Expires.

Lazzeri opened the 14th with a single to left but went down with Dickey in a double play, Faber to Appling to Kress. Crosetti walked and stole second. Pennock was called out on strikes. After Simmons had opened the Sox half with a fly to Combs, Appling singled to center. Kress sent Walker to the left field wall for his fly. Appling was out stealing.

Combs, Sewell and Walker went out in order in the Yanks' 15th. Hayes beat out a bunt to open the Sox half. Grube attempted to bunt and popped to Pennock. Faber grounded out to Sewell, Hayes taking second. Swanson was given an intentional pass. Haas flied to Walker. Faber threw out Gehrig to start the 16th and Chapman lined to Haas. Lazzeri was out, Dykes to Kress, Red making a nice pickup of Dykes' low throw.

Dykes socked a single to left to open the Sox 16th. Simmons sent Walker to the scoreboard for his drive. Appling grounded out to Sewell, Dykes taking second. Kress was given an intentional pass. Hayes forced Kress.

After Hayes had thrown out Dickey to open the 17th, Crosetti walked and took second on Pennock's sacrifice. Dykes threw out Combs. Grube, Faber, and Swanson went out in order in the Sox 17th.

Swanson made a nice running catch of Sewell's foul to start the 18th, and Walker bounced out to Kress. Gehrig fanned. In the Sox half Haas flied to Combs and Crosetti threw out Dykes. Simmons popped to Lazzeri. Then the game was called on account of darkness.

MEXICANS ARRIVE FOR RODEO

Gen Jesus Jayme Quinones and his Mexican Charros arrive at Twelfth street station last night to take part in the World's Fair rodeo which opens Friday at Soldiers' field. Gen Quinones may be seen in center, just behind two girls, Eva Gonzales and Teresa Jaime, who will appear on rodeo program.

Michigan Finds Brown Jug, Old Football Trophy

Ann Arbour, Mich., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—The little brown jug, the prize of victory in the annual football game between Michigan and Minnesota, which disappeared from the university trophy cabinet here two years ago, was found today. Al Thomas, brother of Lorenzo Thomas, ground keeper at Ferry field, reported finding the jug in a clump of bushes near the medical building. Apparently the trophy had been secreted there within the last few days.

The jug will be the prize when Minnesota meets Michigan here Nov. 18.

IS IT ORIGINAL?

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Oscar Munson, who began the little brown jug tradition in 1903 when he stole the jug, then a common water carrier, from Michigan after the 6 to 6 tie game in 1903, today questioned whether the one found at Ann Arbor is the original.

"Is the handle broken?" Munson, now custodian of athletic equipment at the University of Minnesota, asked. "You can't put a handle on an old jug," he added.

Munson last saw the little brown jug at Ann Arbor in 1922, but insists he can identify it.

Al Huske Wins South Shore Open with 138

Al Huske, young pro from Elgin, won the first annual South Shore open over the Evergreen course yesterday from a field of fifty pros and amateurs. He had a 36 hole score of 66—72—138. Abe Espinosa of Cog Hill was second with 71—68—139, and Gunnar Nelson, Rockford, third with 70—72—142.

Other money winners were Sonny Rouse, unattached, and Jim Noonan, Lansing Airport, tied for fourth with 143; Eddie Gayer, Twin Orchards, fifth, 145; Matt Matteson, Ridge, sixth, 146, and Jim Faltus, Casa Del Mar, and H. E. Walter, Gary, tied for seventh and eighth with 148. Frank McNamara, Evergreen, 79—75—154, led the amateurs, with J. H. Collins of Bartlesville, Okla., 75—80—155, second.

Huske's 66 in the first round set a new course record at Evergreen. Paul Drews, pro at Evergreen, eight years ago established the old record of 67.

Huske on his out nine had six birdies. He went over at the fourth by hooking to the rough and threeputted the ninth. On the back nine he drove the green at the tenth, 295 yards, and dropped in a 15 foot putt for an eagle. At the 13th he hit a tree.

Espinosa had trouble with his putts on the first eighteen, but finished even par, 71. On the second round he took extra putts on three greens, but had six birdies for 34—34—68. The two leading cards:

Par—Out	443	455	443—36
Huske—Out	342	544	334—32
Espinosa—Out	453	544	444—37

Rain Postpones National Women's Tennis Semi-Final

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—The remaining semi-final match in the women's national tennis tournament was postponed today by rain. The off day left plenty of time for discussion of the peculiar circumstances by which Mrs. Helen Wills Moody served twice in succession in her semi-final match yesterday with Betty Nuthall of England.

The incident is said to be unparalleled in American tournament play, although it occurred in this year's Wimbeldon meet. Mrs. Moody was leading 3 games to 1 in the second set when she lost her service. The players changed courts and Mrs. Moody served again. The officials failed to note the breach of rules until game point. Strangely enough, Mrs. Moody lost again and the match was squared at 3 games each.

The rules specify that when a player serves out of turn the change in service shall be made as soon as the mistake is discovered and that all points made previously stand.

Tomorrow's schedule pits Dorothy Round of England against Helen Jacobs, defending champion, the winner to play Mrs. Moody in the finals Wednesday. Mrs. Moody and Elizabeth Ryan will meet Miss Round and Mary Heeley of England in the semi-finals of the doubles tomorrow. The winners will face Betty Nuthall and Freda James in the doubles final Wednesday.

HALT U. S. DOUBLES.

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Rain today forced postponement of the opening round of play in the national doubles tennis tournament. Officials hope to run off two rounds tomorrow to reduce the field to the quarter finals and make room for the opening matches in the national mixed doubles, veterans and father-son divisions.

Women Stars Test Clubs for National Meet

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

If reaching the scene of a national golf tournament a week in advance is any indication of its success, the 37th annual women's tournament of the United States golf association, to be held next week at the Exmoor Country club should go across in a very large way. A number of the 119 stars who will take part in the big show starting Monday arrived yesterday, and none was content merely to arrive, all going out to test the Highland Park course for at least nine holes. Several women golfers are expected today and tomorrow, while others will continue to stream in until the eighteen hole qualifying round Monday morning.

Among those who reached Exmoor yesterday and went over the course were Mrs. Gregory Lifur of Los Angeles; Aniela Gorczyca of Fort Worth, Tex., southern champion; Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, three times holder of the western title, and Mrs. John Wittia of Los Angeles. Others who are on the ground to sample the course early included Lucille Robinson of Des Moines, Ia., recent winner of the western championship; Mrs. Austin Pardue of Minneapolis; Betty Botterill of Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. C. B. Harbaugh of Cleveland, O., and Elizabeth Abbott and Mrs. Mildred Green, both of Culver City, Cal. Among the Chicagoans who have tested the Exmoor links are Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt Jr. and Jane Weiller, both of Northmoor; Mrs. J. W. Taylor of Evanston, and Jean Armstrong of Indian Hill.

Miss Gorczyca Shoots 87.

Miss Gorczyca was one of the few to turn in a complete card, a 41—46—87, good enough for a golfer who had never seen the course before.

Pairings for the qualifying round, released last night by the United States Golf association, bracket Mrs. Harley Higbie of Detroit with Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, the defending champion. Miss Van Wie, who arrived from her summer home at Big Rapids, Mich. yesterday, with Helen Hicks, 1931 champion, will be the guest of honor today at a golfing party to be given by the women members of the Beverly Country club, the champion's home club.

Enid Wilson, the English girl who has held the British women's championship for the last three years and who reached the third round of last year's American tournament, is expected to arrive tomorrow, as is Beatrice Gottlieb, the New Yorker who competed in the 1933 British tourney and played against the prince of Wales. Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, who has won the national five times, but will not compete in this year's tournament, is expected Thursday. Abigail Vare, a sister-in-law of the former champion, will compete.

Qualifying Round Pairings.

The leading pairings for the qualifying round Monday follow:

8:20—Mrs. R. C. Lake of Flushing, N. Y., and Aniela Gorczyca of Fort Worth, Tex.
8:25—Lucille Robinson, Des Moines, and Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago.
8:30—Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt, Chicago, and Helen Hicks, New York.
8:35—Beatrice Gottlieb, Tuckahoe, N. Y., and Rena L. Nelson, Chicago.
8:40—Enid Wilson of England and Peggy Wattles of Buffalo, N. Y.
8:45—Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Pacific Palisades, Cal., and Mary K. Browne of Cleveland.
8:50—Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N. J., and Mrs. L. D. Cheney, San Gabriel, Cal.
8:55—Mrs. Ben Fitz-Hugh of Vicksburg, Miss., and Rosamond Sherwood, Stockbridge, Mass.
9:00—Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, and Mrs. Harley G. Higbie, Detroit.
9:05—Fritzi Stifel, Wheeling, W. Va., and Rosella Knapp, Glen Head, N. Y.
9:10—Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City, Mo., and Kathryn Hemphill, Columbia, S. C.
9:20—Charlotte Glutting, West Orange, N. J., and Jean Armstrong, Chicago.
9:25—Frances Williams, Wayne, Pa., and Mrs. Austin Pardue, Minneapolis.
9:30—Bernice Wall, Chicago, and Edith Quier, Reading, Pa.
9:35—Marion Hollins, Santa Cruz, Cal., and Phillis Buchanan, Edgewater, Colo.

Day Takes C. Y. O. Title in Playoff Against Howard

The second annual golf tournament sponsored by Catholic youth organization yesterday at Columbian Country club attracted a record entry of 250, seventy-five parishes being represented. Several priests took part in the outing.

The finish came at dusk following a playoff for the championship between Alan Howard, a former Yale golfer, and Winfield S. Day of Elmhurst. Tied at 74, they played an extra hole, Day winning with a par 5 after Howard had been short to the green and weak on his approach putt.

Chief rivals for the title were Al Favelli of Highwood, 41—35—76; Daniel Sauter, St. Dorothy, 40—38—78, and Bill Zingheim, Blue Island, 40—38—78.

Several professionals competed, Joe Paletti and Packy Walsh tying at 78 for the best score in that division.

IT'S NOVEMBER AT EAST-WEST FOOTBALL GATE

See Autumn Crowd for Thursday's Game.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

With a hotel full of freshly registered, nationally known football coaches, a record breaking enrollment of lesser coaching lights in summer school and more than two score football stars getting in their final training licks, the I-told-you-so boys, who said August was just as good a time for football as September and October, now may come out and do their stuff. For it seems that the east-west all star game at Soldiers' field Thursday night will be a financial winner.

The kickoff Thursday night is set for 8:30, which will be about the right time to turn on the big lights at Soldiers' field. The lighting has been increased 30 per cent. Coach Hanley is authority that this is sufficient and that the white ghost ball will be visible to players and spectators. In event of rain the contest will be shunted to Dyche stadium, Evanston, on Saturday afternoon.

A Battle of Wits.

There'll be plenty of football Thursday night. Considerable emphasis has been laid on the number of great linemen, the super-ball carriers, and forward passers. But from the lists will come a battle of wits which will be worth watching as the game develops. Neither team will present many intricate plays. There hasn't been sufficient time for preparations. However, the manner in which Gaius Shaver directs the westerners and the attack that Harry Newman orders for the eastern eleven may decide the result. Morley Drury, another great Trojan star, will have something to say when the west huddles and in case Newman leaves the field, Gil Berry of Illinois may be charged with the quarter back's responsibilities.

Many to Turn Pro.

Many of the players who will compete in the east-west game will turn to professional football. The Boston Redskins have signed the greatest number of last year's college men. It is reported that the following players on the east-west squads will appear professionally this season in the National league:

Boston—Roy Horstman, Ben Boswell, Lawrence Ely, Orin Crow, Jack Riley, and Tag Brown.

PORTSMOUTH—Frank Christenson and Jack Johnson.

CHICAGO CARDINALS—Gil Berry.

CHICAGO BEARS—Jack Manders, Gene Ronzani, and George Musso.

NEW YORK GIANTS—Harry Newman.
GREEN BAY PACKERS—Joe Kurth.

Coaches Meet Today.

The members of the National Football Coaches will convene this morning at the Orrington hotel, Evanston, by President Dan McGugin of Vanderbilt. They will hear the following speakers: Howard Jones, Southern California; Dick Hanley, Northwestern; Glenn [Pop] Warner, Temple, and B. W. Bierman, Minnesota. Fielding Yost, director of athletics at Michigan, will be the principal speaker tonight at a dinner at the Orrington.

Members of both all star squads will be the guests of the Chicago Rotary chapter today at 12:15 at the annual weekly luncheon at the Palmer House.

ALGONQUIN GIFT ASSURES SOME MOTHER A REST

Need Further Donations to Finance Camp.

One mother will go to Camp Algonquin for two weeks, thanks to "Anonymous," who contributed $8.40 yesterday to finance a two weeks' vacation. Another person was assured of almost a week in the camp through the $3 sent by Mrs. Josephine Lockwood. These gifts bring the grand total of the camp fund to $1,821.02.

Much more than that will be needed to pay for the vacations which have been enjoyed throughout the summer by hundreds of mothers and their children from the congested parts of Chicago. Close to 2,000 vacations of two weeks' duration will have been offered if financial support allows the camp to remain open until the middle of September.

Promises Are Conditional.

Because it is necessary to make out the vacation lists early, mothers and their children are promised their outings with the hope that TRIBUNE readers will come to the support of the fund which provides these vacations.

The camp is operated by the United Charities of Chicago and every person who is given a vacation really deserves one. Some of the mothers never had a vacation before. It is the first, too, for many of the children. They have such a good time that they usually want to stay longer, but because others are on the waiting list the two week period scheduled must be kept moving.

Ice Fund Also Needs Gifts.

Financial support is also needed by the Free Ice fund to pay for the ice that has been delivered all summer to needy homes where there are small children or illness. Gifts to both funds should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

HOLD RITES FOR CLARA THURSTON, HARPIST, TODAY

Funeral services for Clara Louise Thurston, 6451 Greenview avenue, who for many years was well known in musical circles as a harpist, will be held today at 9:30 a. m. at St. Ignatius' church. Miss Thurston died on Saturday at the Women and Children's hospital, after an illness of ten days. She is survived by her brother, Frank J. Thurston.

Miss Thurston was born in Chicago in 1885, and for many years was connected with the Lyon & Healy music house. She made her first concert appearance at the age of 16 years at the Longwood, Ill., academy, and has since appeared on the concert stage in every state in the Union and Canada.

DR. A. TRAUTMAN DIES AT AGE 90; PIONEER ALIENIST

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The death of Dr. Alexander Trautman, pioneer alienist and nerve specialist, on Saturday was announced today. He was 90 years old.

Born in Würzburg, Germany, in 1843, he achieved a reputation as a specialist in nervous and psychopathic disorders before he had reached the age of 25. In 1868 he was called to Wisconsin to teach at Wisconsin university, remaining there two years.

He then came to New York as a lecturer on medical subjects, but returned four years later to Wisconsin to act as medical director of the state insane asylum. He initiated a more humane method of treatment for the insane and after several years in Wisconsin came to New York as medical superintendent of the city's institution for the insane on Ward's island.

His second wife, Mrs. Jeanne Trautman, and a daughter by his first marriage, Mrs. Beatrice Dinwiddie, survive.

C. E. O'DONNELL, VETERAN POLICE SERGEANT, DIES

Sergt. Charles E. O'Donnell of the Maxwell street police collapsed on a westbound Lake street elevated train early yesterday while returning home from work and died of heart disease. He was 64 years old.

Sergt. O'Donnell joined the police department in 1893. He was promoted to sergeant in the motion picture detail in 1911. For several years he was a member of the "Piperizing" detail, assigned to investigate infractions of discipline by members of the force. He had been assigned to the Maxwell street station since 1930.

He lived at 215 North Central avenue. He was a widower and is survived by two grown sons.

3,000 AT SERVICES FOR H. PESTINE, FRIEND OF NEEDY

Funeral services attended by 3,000 persons were held yesterday afternoon for Harry Pestine, 52 years old, founder of a paper carton company bearing his name. Many in the throng had been fed and clothed by Pestine, who was known for his benefactions on the west side.

Services were held at an undertaking chapel at 3125 West Roosevelt road. Burial was at Waldheim cemetery.

Pestine, who lived at 1957 South Springfield avenue, died of a heart attack last Thursday. He is survived by his widow, Rose, and seven children.

Rites for Wm. E. Hurley, City Employe Since 1900

Funeral services will be held this morning for William E. Hurley, 5521 Loomis boulevard, a deputy city sealer since 1900, at Visitation church, 842 Garfield boulevard. Mr. Hurley, who was 69 years old, died Saturday of a paralytic stroke. He is survived by his widow, Violet, and two sons, Raymond F. and Robert M. Hurley.

FOUND DEAD ON FLOOR IN HOME.

William Robinson, 57 years old, a junk peddler, was found dead yesterday on the floor of his one room flat at 444 North Artesian avenue. His death apparently was due to natural causes

HOLD SERVICES TODAY FOR WIFE OF C. S. PETERSON

Funeral services for Mrs. Thyra Hjertquist Peterson, wife of Charles S. Peterson, vice president of the World's Fair and former city treasurer, will be held at 2 p. m. today in St. James Episcopal church, Wabash avenue and Huron street. Mrs. Peterson died Saturday in her home at 77 East Elm street. She had been ill for several months and failed to rally following an operation performed some weeks ago.

Mrs. Peterson was well known in art, club, and musical circles and was active in the Salvation Army auxiliary. Among other organizations with which she was connected were the Drama league, Illinois Women's Athletic club, Illinois Academy of Fine Arts, American Opera society of Chicago, Anti-Cruelty society, and the Chicago Woman's club.

She was one of the founders of the ladies' auxiliary of the Swedish club of Chicago and during the world war organized a Red Cross auxiliary among Swedish women of the city. She and Mrs. Peterson were married in 1901.

STOCKS STAGE MILD ADVANCE IN QUIET TRADE

Liquor, Rail, Sugar Issues Lead Move.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21.—Repeal, railroad and sugar shares attracted enough buying to rally the stock market moderately in the late dealings today. Improvement in the three groups amounted to as much as 3 points or so for leading issues. A few specialties chimed in on the movement.

Traders came down to work this morning in a mind to set the weekend developments as slightly favorable on balance, being impressed in the main by progress toward elimination of the confused situation in the industrial codes. They were rather chary about buying heavily, however, with so much uncertainty, and it was not until after the middle of the afternoon that the list began to show any signs of spirit anywhere.

Forenoon Trading Dull.

Dealings during the forenoon became so dull that resort was had to the custom invoked at intervals since the dog days came upon the market of printing bid and offered prices on the tape in an effort to attract business.

The last hours of activity had no special stimulant in the news, so far as the average observer could determine, but traders evidently had decided that the good outweighed the bad in the general summary and decided to risk a few shekels on their conclusions. Volume was around 1,500,000 shares.

Attention again was focused on Washington and what the administration action is going to be on inflation, codes and public works rather than on the general business indices. The adoption of the steel and oil codes provided some stimulus to shares in both groups.

Chrysler Makes Year's High.

Brisk buying in Chrysler lifted that motor favorite to a new high for the year. General Motors closed showing a fractional gain. Auburn, Mack Truck, and Nash also were higher.

Utility shares looked a mite better in spite of adverse rate decisions. The selling in Consolidated Gas dried up in the afternoon and the leader scored a fractional advance on the day. United Corporation was still in the dumps, however, on the score of its unfavorable dividend action.

Expectations of a better looking carloadings report next Saturday served as the excuse for fresh buying in the carrier division. New York Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Union Pacific and Delaware and Hudson were marked up 1 to 3 points.

Liquor Issues Move Up.

The sweeping repeal victory in Missouri provided the wet stocks with the occasion for another little spree. Schenley Distillers, which recently came over from the Curb; National Distillers, American Commercial Alcohol and others were in demand all day. Alcohol moved up more than 5 points and the rest of the group made the best showing in nearly a week.

Wheat's weakness failed to have its customary effect on the farm implement shares, and Case, Deere, International Harvester and others of the division were able to move along with the procession. Mail order shares likewise were better.

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC SHOWS LOSS FOR JULY

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company had a loss in July after reporting a profit in June, N. G. Symonds, vice president in charge of sales, said today. Bookings last month were over the June total, but billings decreased. When billings catch up with new business being taken operations will again be in the black, Symonds added.

"Our bookings currently are running about two and a half times as large as in January, which was the low point for our business," Symonds stated. "Large orders do not show so big an increase, but the gain in appliances is greater. August bookings probably will run about 15 per cent over July.

"The improvement is general throughout the country with the exception of the Pacific coast, which is showing a slower gain than any of the other six major sales districts. The lag on the Pacific coast is due to the conditions of the lumber and mining industries and agriculture."

ANTI-DUMPING ACTION ON TEN IMPORTS DUE WITHIN FEW DAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—Action within the next few days against alleged dumping in this country of about 10 types of foreign imports was predicted at the treasury department today. Imports involved include steel from Germany, light bulbs from Japan, and sulphide paper from England.

The treasury, which has the power to increase tariff duties as much as 50 per cent when dumping is established, may issue anti-dumping orders against the imports to protect American industries, it was said. Recommendations for action are on the desk of Acting Secretary of the Treasury Dean G. Acheson awaiting his approval.

The full list follows: Steel from Germany; canvas top rubber soled shoes, electric light bulbs, and calcium carbide from Japan; stearic acid from Holland; rock salt from Canada; woven wire fencing, sulphide paper, and binder twine from England; and thumb tacks from Holland and Germany.

Speculators' Fears Burden Wheat Prices

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Why have wheat prices been dropping in the face of the worst crop failure of the generation?

One director of the Chicago Board of Trade explains this seeming contradiction thus:

"The United States entered this crop year with a carryover just about triple the normal carryover of a few years back because of the vast surplus stocks that have accumulated during the last few years.

"I think the piling up of surplus wheat was due solely to the operations of the old Grain Stabilization corporation. But no matter what the cause, the big surplus was a fact.

"Most of this wheat carried over from last season is in country elevators and terminal warehouses, and therefore has been hedged by its owners, which means that they have, for their own protection, sold wheat futures against the wheat they hold in storage.

"For every seller of a bushel of wheat for future delivery there must be a buyer of wheat for future delivery. In other words, in order to keep these hedging sales from depressing prices unduly there must be enough speculative bulls to buy the wheat futures sold by the hedging owners.

"Inasmuch as we entered this season with a carryover about three times normal the market has needed three times as many bullish speculators to keep prices from sagging.

"Instead of encouraging speculators, however, we have driven them away with artificial price restrictions of various kinds. The result has been that even the tremendously bullish news of this year's short crop has been unable to counteract the disinclination of the speculative trader to get caught in a market where it may not be able to get out when its wants to."

Prof. Carl H. Henrikson, school of business of the University of Chicago, yesterday seconded a suggestion made in these columns a week ago—that Chicago may develop into the principal securities market for the nation.

"If reports concerning the probable imposition of a municipal tax on the transfer of securities in New York can be given any credence," says he, "the possibility of a great security market in Chicago can be easily imagined.

"Chicago is the logical second choice for the leading market. It is the center of a vast network of private wire communication. It can easily expand its banking facilities to take care of the call money market which inevitably follows the security market."

He implies that this transfer of activity in securities from debt ridden, heavily taxed New York City to Chicago might be brought about more easily by building up the Chicago Stock exchange rather than by transferring the "big board" here intact.

"Should the seemingly impossible blunder on the part of the New York board of aldermen come about," he says, "Chicago ought to be prepared to take advantage of the possibilities of profit for the banks in the call money market, and for the exchange membership in commissions on transactions."

New York Stock exchange officials have already threatened to move out of New York state if the proposed additional tax on stock transactions for city relief purposes is piled atop existing state and federal taxes.

The stockholder of a national bank is liable for "double assessment" in case of the bank's failure only while he holds the stock or within 60 days after he has sold it. Under the banking act of 1933 stockholders of national banks organized since the act became effective are subject to no assessment whatever.

State bank stockholders in Illinois are not so fortunate. According to recent Supreme court decisions liability of stockholders of state banks continues for years after they have sold their stock, even though the bank's management and policies change after they have sold out.

Here's one illustration of the inconsistency and unfairness of Illinois banking law, contributed by a reader in Park Ridge:

"In 1917 a Park Ridge resident and home owner for thirty-five years sold a small block of bank stock, some $300 worth, having need for the cash, after amassing it as a savings fund over a period of some years.

"The bank grew rapidly thereafter, acquiring new quarters and dealing extensively in real estate. New officers, directors and stockholders came and went. Control changed hands from time to time. Walnut desks and ornate grilles gave every evidence, outwardly, of a successful institution. In 1931 this community was appalled at the bank's closing of doors—and thereafter more than one person went hungry.

"My friend is now enjoined from receiving any of the small funds he had on deposit at the time and is further notified that court action is now being taken against him and a few others for liability under the stock he owned and sold sixteen years ago. He has, since that time, had no financial interest in said bank."

BEST COMPANIES HIT IN FINANCING BY SECURITY ACT

Required Data Mean Delay, Banks Say.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Large American corporation possessing the highest credit rating will be among the companies most seriously handicapped by the new federal securities act in the event that they undertake new financing under its provisions, according to La Salle street critics of the law.

Practically unanimous opinion in the financial district is that the requirements of the law are so severe that they will effectively stop legitimate financing by leading companies and thereby will work directly against the efforts of the Washington administration to put men back to work. It is pointed out that if industry is to expand, or even take care of its maturing obligations, it must raise new capital from time to time.

Big Companies Handicapped.

Citing them merely as examples, one banker pointed out that it would take the United States Steel corporation, the General Motors corporation or the American Telephone and Telegraph company from a year to a year and a half, or even longer, to qualify new securities under the terms of the law. The large number of subsidiaries possessed by these companies would make the task of providing all the information asked in the new law a Herculean one, he stated.

If it wanted to undertake some new financing, the United States Steel corporation would have to give an accounting of every one of its subsidiary companies, including its many railroad, mining and ore enterprises, this banker said.

Calls for Reserves, Depletion.

Just the item concerned with reserves and depletion would provide an almost impossible task, he stated, and added that complying with this provision might stir up expensive law suits that would require years to settle. The act requires that there must be submitted a comparison of depreciation and depletion claimed to have been sustained for the purpose of federal income taxes and the amounts accrued through charges to income and [or] surplus. This information is to be submitted for every year for which income tax returns have been filed. In the case of the U. S. Steel corporation this would be 20 years.

There are often differences of opinion as to depletion in ore fields between the owners of the ground and the parties leasing it, the banker said. Cases concerned with this have dragged through the courts for years. To disclose information on depletion might start a new batch of expensive lawsuits where one group of land owners thought they hadn't received all that was coming to them because of settlements in other cases, it was stated.

Small Concerns Might Qualify.

The banker asserted that it might be possible for some small companies with limited manufacturing operations to supply information which would enable them to qualify their securities fairly speedily, although he doubted that even here would company officials, directors and underwriting houses care to sign documents that would place them in peril of being sued during a 10 year period should any of the parties to the document have made an error.

Further, he added, there may be small houses with limited capital which might be willing to participate in underwriting an issue because they would not have a great deal to lose. The big and well established houses are the ones that will bear the brunt of any attack, he added.

This banker stated that there is no quarrel with many of the provisions of the security act, it being felt that there should be some added protection given the investing public. As it now stands, he said, the law actually works against the financially responsible, long established houses in favor of the weaker concerns.

OUTPUT OF COAL RISES FOR WEEK AS STRIKES END

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21.—Settlement of strikes in both anthracite and bituminous fields resulted in a sharp recovery of coal production during the week ended Aug. 12, the department of commerce reported today. That another increase in production is to be expected in the week ended Saturday is revealed in preliminary loading figures of coal roads.

Production of soft coal for the week ended Aug. 12 was estimated by the department at 1,350,000 tons, an increase of 580,000 tons over the preceding week.

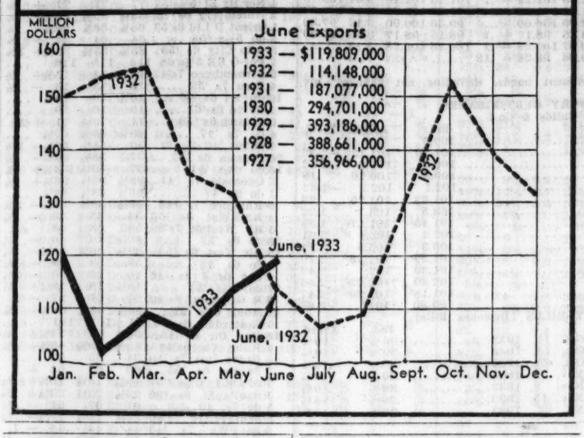
HIGHER ESTATE TAXES IN JULY NET QUARTER OF OLD LOWER RATES

Washhington, D. C., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The new high tax rates on estates, imposed by congress a year ago, brought the treasury $7,856,0 1 in July—the first full month they were payable—or one-fourth the total collected in 1932, when collections amounted to $29,693,061 under the old levies.

Internal revenue bureau officials said they expect the new taxes to show greater income as more estates come under provisions of the law.

The rates, ranging from 1 to 45 per cent, starting at $50,000, included in the billion dollar revenue bill, which provided the additional tax should become effective on estates following its enactment. Estates were granted twelve months in which to pay the tax, which made the first full month of collections come in July this year.

Exports in Slight Gain—Still Small in Comparison with Other Years



U. S. Deposits Enable Banks to Add Credit

The extent to which the current business expansion is government financed, even when the immediate credit source is a commercial bank, is clearly indicated by the weekly report issued yesterday on the condition of reserve member banks in 90 leading cities.

There was an indicated shrinkage in gross deposits, other than government balances, of 171 million dollars. Normally this might lead the banks to effect a reduction in loans. This did not occur, however. Instead, banks increased their loans and investments by 184 millions. They were enabled to do this because the government placed another 343 millions on deposit, so that gross deposits, including governments, showed an increase of 172 millions.

Deposits Drop in New York.

The decline in ordinary deposits was accounted for largely by further withdrawal of demand balances from New York banks on which it is now illegal to pay interest. The government plugged up this hole by placing its own funds on deposit with the banks and stemming a potential contraction in outstanding credit.

Most of the increase in credit went toward the purchase by the banks of government bonds. The reporting banks showed a net addition of 149 millions in holdings of government. Actually the banks took a larger share than this of the 1 billion 190 million of new government securities issued. This net increase is in addition to the maturing issues which were converted into new United States bonds.

Credit Expands 45 Millions.

Loans and discounts expanded 45 millions, of which the increase in commercial loans accounted for 18 millions and collateral loans 27 millions.

DOLLAR AGAIN DRIFTS LOWER TO 73.20 CENTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21.—The dollar cheapened further in dull trading in the foreign exchange market today. Its gold value sagged off to 73.20 cents, compared with 73.37 cents Saturday.

Sterling was 1¼ cents higher at $4.50¾, the franc up 1½ points at 5.35¼ cents, guilders 13 points higher at 55.15 cents, belgas up 5 points at 19.08 cents, and Swiss francs up 8 points at 26.38 cents.

The Canadian dollar rose 1-16 cent to 5 9-16 per cent discount. German marks gained 3 points to 32.53 cents and Italian lire were 2 points dearer at 7.19 cents. The market was without guidance from the day's news, but continued to discuss last week's somewhat stale talk of early measures of inflation.

Lumbermen's Mutual July Premiums Increase 15.4%

The Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company of Chicago reported yesterday an increase of 15.4 per cent in premium income for July over that for July 1932. Volume for the quarter ended June 30 surpassed that of the same period of last year by 4.7 per cent "Each month since April has shown a better percentage gain than the preceding month and an improvement over the same month of last year," said James S. Kemper, president.

United Verde Extension Raises Pay 10 Per Cent

Prescott, Ariz., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The United Verde Extension Mining company today posted notices at its mine and smelter in Jerome and Clemenceau saying wages and salaries will be increased approximately 10 per cent Sept. 1. The increase will restore rates of pay which were in effect during November, 1932.

Kroger Grocery & Baking Sales Exceed a Year Ago

Sales of Kroger Grocery and Baking company for the four weeks ended Aug. 12, totaled $16,157,182, an increase of 6 per cent over a year ago.

LACK OF PROXIES MAY POSTPONE ARMOUR MEETING

Plan to Recapitalize Up in Delaware.

A last minute adjournment of the special stockholders' meeting of Armour & Co., which convenes today in Wilmington, Del., appeared likely last night if the proxies received up to the hour of the meeting are insufficient to approve the proposed recapitalization.

Proxies were still being received last night. Officials were mum as to what action was contemplated. The proxies received by the management to date, however, are so close to the necessary two-thirds that the outcome was still a matter of guess work, according to reports last night.

Stock Widely Held.

The company's stock is widely scattered. The various classes are held by more than 40,000 individuals. The management has encountered difficulty in locating many of the stockholders because shares are frequently registered in the names of brokers rather than the actual owners.

If the recapitalization fails to win the approval of two-thirds of the stockholders it will mean money in the pocket to some of those who have purchased the new stock on a "when, as and if" basis. The "new stock" to be issued under the recapitalization plan sold yesterday at $9.75 a share. It has sold as high as $13.50.

Stock Trades May Be Canceled.

If the plan fails those who bought the stock at a higher price will not have to take the paper loss they now have. All trades will be canceled automatically.

Conversely, those who show paper profits on transactions in the stock will not be able to cash in. Thus failure of the plan would be a blow to those who have made profits on the stock and a windfall to those who now think they have losses.

RESERVE, STATES JOIN IN DRIVE TO REOPEN BANKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21—The federal reserve board and the secretaries and superintendents of banking of ten leading eastern states, including New York, are coöperating in a renewed drive to reopen closed banks and to enable them and many already opened to qualify for membership in the federal deposit insurance fund to be established Jan. 1 under the Glass-Steagall act, it was learned today.

The reserve board is understood to have requested all banks, whether members of the reserve system or not, to report detailed figures of their present condition. This information will be available not only to the reserve board but to a committee representing the secretaries and superintendents of banking of New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

This committee has been called by Dr. William D. Gordon, Pennsylvania secretary of banking, to hold a series of conferences in Washington this week. Dr. Gordon explains the purpose of the meeting is to bring about the fullest coöperative action between the various federal and state supervisory authorities.

General Motors Air Lines Set Passenger Records

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21.—North American Aviation, Inc., subsidiary of the General Motors corporation, reports a new record in number of passengers on its three transport lines for the first seven months this year. Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., Eastern Air Transport, Inc., and Western Air Express, Inc., carried 55,173 revenue passengers, against 32,887 a year ago. Express increased from 54,006 to 207,405 pounds.

General Foods Corp. Sales Are 48% Above July, 1932

Unit sales of the General Foods corporation in July were 48 per cent above July, last year, C. M. Chester, president, said yesterday. The improvement over year ago sales began last December, he said, and has continued steadily. Unit sales for the first seven months this year were 15 per cent above 1932.

START OF U. S. HOG BUYING SET FOR TOMORROW

Chicago Base Prices Are Fixed.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The federal government's wholesale purchases of surplus hogs and small pigs in the plan of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to relieve the present glut and advance farm prices is to start in Chicago and five other markets tomorrow morning.

This announcement was made last night by G. B. Thorn, field representative for the agricultural adjustment administration, in outlining the plans for dipping into the federal treasury to finance pork on a somewhat similar scale to that applied already to cotton and wheat. The entry of Uncle Sam into the stockyards business is being made only a few days after his announced intention of buying up as much as 30 million dollars' worth of butter, if that is required to boost dairy prices.

Buy Five Million Hogs.

The plan contemplates the purchase of four million pigs of 25 to 100 pounds and one million sows of a minimum weight of 275 pounds due to farrow soon. It is expected to cost about 55 million dollars.

Beginning Wednesday morning the government will have a corps of inspectors operating at the Chicago stockyards and at the yards in Kansas City, Omaha, St. Paul, Sioux City, and St. Joseph, Mo. By next Monday it is expected that the official purchasing agents will be ready to function in other terminal live stock markets, Thorn stated.

Farmers will continue to market their live stock as they always have, through the regular selling channels. At the terminals, however, the inspectors will see the hogs weighed, making sure that no "runs" or regularly sized hogs are included in those for which cash premiums will be paid. All the fat sows and small pigs will be tagged, a premium made out for the owner, and the animals be turned over to the packers for slaughter on the governmental contracts.

Prices Guaged to Weight.

The pig prices fixed in Chicago will be the base with differentials for other markets, due to extra hauling costs. The smaller the pig the higher the price he will bring. The scale in Chicago by weight is as follows:

Weight of pigs.	Per 100 pounds.
25 to 30 pounds	$9.50
31 to 35 pounds	9.25
36 to 40 pounds	9.00
41 to 45 pounds	8.75
46 to 50 pounds	8.50
51 to 55 pounds	8.25
56 to 60 pounds	8.00
61 to 65 pounds	7.75

With a decrease of 25 cents per hundredweight for each successive five pounds in weight, so that the largest pigs, weighing 96 to 100 pounds, will bring $6.00.

Prices in the other five markets at which buying begins tomorrow will be 40 cents under the Chicago base. Interior points in Iowa and Minnesota also will be 40 cents under Chicago, interior points in Illinois and Wisconsin 20 cents less, while Indiana, Milwaukee, St. Louis and East St. Louis are quoted at a 10 cent discount. The greatest discount is on "razorbacks" from Georgia and Florida with a discount of $1 per hundred pounds.

The sows will net the farmer the market price plus a flat $4 premium at Chicago.

By these wholesale purchases, intended to relieve the corn belt feedlots of at least one in every six pigs, or a total of some four million pigs and one million sows, Thorn believes that the value of the corn belt hog crop will be enhanced almost overnight.

Boosts Farm Hog Value.

The farmer with 15 small pigs weighing less than 100 pounds each will find they have increased some $3 to $4 each in value. If he has been holding back two or three extra sows because the market was so low, yet faced the prospect of a short corn crop this fall, he is being tempted to accept an immediate increase of $4 a head for them, without fear that they will be docked at the market for being heavy with pig.

Precautions will be taken, Thorn declared, to see that sellers do not mix very light with very heavy shoats to obtain a favorable average in qualifying for the premiums. This will be done by limiting the range in weights of pigs in one lot to 30 pounds.

The packers are to slaughter the animals on the orders of Secretary Wallace, most of the product to go into tankage, but some of the meat to be given to families on relief rolls. The expense of this is to be met by imposing a processing tax on other pork products sold to consumers beginning Oct. 1.

Grain Market at Balance; Wheat Eases

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The grain markets appeared to have struck a dead center yesterday. While fluctuations were extremely erratic they were regarded as due largely to scattered operations, partly in the way of changing over hedges from the September into the deferred deliveries. Wheat had an extreme range of 3¼ cents and corn 3 cents.

There was a noticeable lack of the concentrated buying of wheat futures that was so much in evidence Saturday. The market flattened out afer a small advance at the start and closed ¼ to ½ cent lower. September finished at 87⅝ to 87¾ cents; December, 91 to 91⅛ cents, and May, 94⅞ to 95¼ cents. Corn was ⅛ to ½ cent lower, with September closing at 52⅜ to 52⅞ cents; December, 57½ to 57⅝ cents, and May, 62¾ cents.

Oats Move Independently.

Oats showed independent strength and closed unchanged, with September at 36¾ cents and December, 39⅝ to 39¾c cents. Rye was ½ to ⅞ cent lower, December being 72¼ cents. Barley gained ½ cent, with December closing at 54½ cents.

Many traders are expressing decidedly bullish opinions as to the ultimate trend of the grain markets. They call attention to persistent reiteration of the desire by the administration to bring about higher prices, the long time program which seeks to balance supply and demand in this country through curtailing the cotton, wheat, and corn acreage, and the reduction in the supply of hogs to domestic needs. These factors are expected ultimately to have the effect desired, regardless of any inflation.

Routine News Ignored.

Routine news at the present time is being largely ignored. This fact is regarded as accounting for the refusal of the markets to be influenced to any great extent by the continued bearish propaganda from abroad, especially in regard to exports of wheat from Germany and France.

The feeling that the English trade is purposely magnifying the pressure of soft wheat from Germany and France and its effect on the world's market is gaining ground.

Not only are facts being distorted, it is claimed, but also the tremendous shrinkage in the North American crops, as well as the drought in Argentina and Australia, are being minimized by the English trade. No mention is made in the cables from abroad that Germany is importing high protein wheat to offset the exports of soft varieties, and is expected to take more than it sells during the year, it was pointed out by trade leaders yesterday.

See France Dumping Wheat.

It is claimed France is deliberately dumping soft wheat into the United Kingdom market in a desperate effort to maintain its guaranteed price to farmers now that harvest is on. Detailed figures of exports from France and Germany are not given in trade reports, although "other countries," which presumably include clearances from the continent, were reported at 360,000 bushels last week out of total world's shipments of 9,622,000 bushels.

"It seems to me that English millers have been doing their best to depress our market to the end of acquiring Argentine and Australian wheat at the lowest prices," said one of the leading Winnipeg brokers in a letter to his Chicago correspondent. "Yet they know they must eventually come here for supplies. It amounts to a deliberately planned policy to ruin our wheat growers."

Board of Trade officials held no meeting yesterday, but they expressed the belief that an effort might be made to readjust conditions and remove all price restrictions. No news came from Washington as regards the code, which is under adjustment, but expectations are that a satisfactory agreement will be reached within a short time.

KENNECOTT BUYS NEVADA COPPER MINING COMPANY

Florence, Ariz., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Sale of the Nevada Consolidated mining company to the Kennecott Corporation of New York was revealed today by a deed executed in New York Aug. 12 and recorded here.

The deed bears $8,905.50 worth of revenue stamps indicating, county officials said, that the consideration involved probably was $8,905,500. The instrument is signed by E. V. Davleer, first vice president of the Nevada Consolidated.

The mining property involved includes 45 patented mining claims, lying mostly in Pinal county but with some in Gila county. In addition, the deed conveys two mill sites and 16 sections of land.

WORLD PARLEY DRAFTS PLAN TO CONTROL WHEAT

Output to Be Cut if Europe Will Buy.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Fifty-five representatives of the wheat producing and consuming nations of the world assembled in London today to discuss how contraction of acreage in wheat countries can be brought into line with the scant willingness of consumers to expand their imports in line with price increases expected to follow the reduced production.

PREMIER R. B. BENNETT.
[Assoc. Press Photo.]

The four chief producers have a pat program for the conference. The United States, Canada, Australia, and Argentina are willing to adopt measures calculated to restrict the amount of wheat they are able to throw on the world market if European countries such as Great Britain, France, and Germany are willing to abandon the "feed ourselves" campaigns and allow the free movement of whatever wheat is thrown on the world market into their bread baskets as and if the price rises.

Want Restrictions Removed.

The whole scheme is based on the principle that as the producers reduce their output the world price will expand and to that extent the nonproducers, who are artificially trying to provide their own bread, will alleviate restrictions on imports. The chief among these is France, but Germany and Great Britain are also involved.

Premier R. B. Bennett of Canada was elected chairman when the conference opened.

Two subcommittees were named, composed of representatives of the major countries at the conference. The technical committee comprises individual delegates who will be named later from the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Switzerland, Rumania, Canada, the United States, and Hungary. The advisory committee is made up of representatives of the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Belgium, Switzerland, Australia, the United States, Hungary, the Netherlands, and perhaps Germany.

Draft Pact on Importing.

The technical committee met this afternoon to consider a draft agreement which was gone over, article by article, at a morning session. This pact would bind importing nations to increase their purchases by not encouraging increased domestic production, to preserve the quality of breadstuffs, and to declare in principle for modification of import restrictions.

Agreements thus far reached by the big four exporting nations — the United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia—are conditional on the receipt of assurances of coöperation from importing nations such as France. The exporting nations have achieved an agreement in principle on a two year program for acreage and exports restriction and an understanding with Danubian exporters for a restriction of their combined exports.

Because of the various questions arising over the customs lowering clause in the draft agreement, the technical committee was named to inquire into these matters and the full conference was adjourned until Wednesday.

Says U. S. Will Not Dump Wheat.

F. E. Murphy, Minneapolis publisher and chief American delegate, met the newspaper correspondents after the conference was concluded. He asserted that no major opposition to the draft arose in the discussions. He declared the American government has no intention of "dumping" the country's wheat surplus, even if the conference fails, but that in that event he still hopes for the orderly disposal of the vast stores.

Delegates who are seeking fresh instructions are merely those who were not given plenary powers and are acting as observers. They want to refer the draft to their governments.

New York, Aug. 21 Bond prices moved in a cramped channel in light dealings today. The tone of the market generally was firm. Many favorite issues did not appear in the trading until late in the day.

Improved earnings continued to stimulate buying of secondary rail bonds, several issues advancing around a point.

Some of Leaders.

Among the few bonds which were traded in fair volume were American Water Works collateral 5s, Armour 5½s, Chesapeake corporation 5s, Santa Fe general 4s, Baltimore and Ohio first 5s, Denver and Rio Grande 5s, Milwaukee adjustments and the 5s of 1975, Interborough 5s, Northern Pacific 4s, Paramount Publix 5½s and Texas corporation 5s.

On limited transactions substantially higher prices were recorded in Wheeling Steel 5½s, Northern Pacific refunding 5s, Nickel Plate refunding 4½s, Kelly Tire 6s, Lehigh Valley general 5s, Childs 5s, Atlantic Gulf 5s and Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh 4½s.

U. S. Issues Steady.

Federal government bonds fluctuated narrowly in comparatively restricted transactions. The new treasury 3¼s sold at and slightly under their record high.

In spite of a long period of stability in dollar exchange British 3½s were active and strong. Prices were inclined to ease for other foreign liens.

Purity Bakeries.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information concerning Purity Baking stock.—Mrs. G. H. W.

Answer: Purity Bakeries corporation was formed in 1924 to merge several units in the baking industry. It followed a program of expansion for the following six years and now has 54 baking plants in the east, middle west, and southwest. It is represented in the retail field by several hundred bakery shops in New York, Philadelphia, and Chicago.

Restricted consumer purchasing power and heightened competition from chain stores and bakeries caused earnings to follow a general downward trend for the last three years. There has been a pickup in 1933 earnings.

Net profits for the 12 weeks to July 15, 1933, were almost double the amount reported for the corresponding 1932 period. For the 28 weeks to July 15, 1933, net was $365,000, or 45 cents per share, against $238,000, or .30 cents a share, for the 28 weeks to July 16, 1932.

Net for 1932 equaled 45 cents per share, against $2.14 per share for 1931, $5.13 per share for 1930, and $7.02 for 1929.

Cash assets of better than $2,500,000, compared with total current liabilities of $695,000 at the close of 1932.

Funded debt, maturing 1948, totals $7,000,000. Stock equity consists of 895,045 no par common shares. The stock pays 25 cents a quarter.

The capital stock is medium grade and somewhat speculative.

Service Life Insurance.

Investors' Guide: Please furnish me with complete information concerning Service Life Insurance company.—V. B.

Answer: Service Life Insurance company, Lincoln, Neb., was organized in 1923. There were no promotion expenses in connection with the sale of stock. B. R. Bays, president of the company, was an examiner of the Nebraska insurance department.

Income in 1932 was $1,108,000 and disbursements were $757,000. In 1931 income totaled $1,040,000 and disbursements $585,000.

Life reserve at the close of 1932 totaled $2,090,000. Other liabilities, including a $40,000 voluntary reserve, amounted to $196,000.

Admitted assets aggregated $2,585,000. Real estate of $125,000 was 5 per cent of admitted assets. Mortgage loans, $882,000, were 34 per cent; policy loans and premium notes $589,000, were 23 per cent; bonds [amortized values], $798,000, were 31 per cent, and cash, $85,000, constituted 3 per cent of admitted assets.

Ratio of actual to expected mortality in 1932 was 45.7 per cent, against 27.3 in 1931 and 22.9 in 1930.

U. S. SETS BACK DATE OF TAX ON CAPITAL STOCK

Firms Active After June 15 Must Pay Year's Levy.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—The internal revenue bureau in regulations just issued covering the application of the capital stock tax levy in the national recovery act, holds that all corporations not otherwise specifically exempted, will be subject to the entire tax for the year if they have been "doing business" after June 15, 1933, for any part of a taxable year.

If efforts are made to seek exemptions by otherwise interpreting the law, the issue will be taken to the courts, if necessary. Officials appear to have no doubt as to the intent of congress.

Hold Law Ambiguous.

The question has become a debatable point, because the capital stock tax contained the provisions that the tax shall not apply "to any domestic corporation in respect of the year ending June 30, 1933, if it did not carry on or do business during a part of the period from the date of the enactment of the act (June 16, 1933) to June 30, 1933, both dates inclusive. There was a similar exemption provision covering foreign corporations.

One possible interpretation of this peculiar phrasing, it was pointed out, was that the corporation would be exempt from the tax for the fiscal year 1933, if on any day within the period from June 16 to June 30, it was not doing business.

Bureau Interprets Tax.

The internal revenue regulations, however, rule that this exemption provision clearly was intended to mean that if a corporation was doing business on any day between June 16 and June 30, 1933, it made itself liable to the tax for the fiscal year 1932. The regulations hold that doing business necessarily involves the "idea of the pursuit of gain."

"In most cases," the regulations add, "there will be no difficulty in concluding whether the corporation is doing business. In cases where there is doubt the decision must necessarily depend upon the facts presented. Doing business (after June 15, 1933) for any part of a taxable year, results in liability to the entire tax for the year.

Must Submit Exemption Claims.

"Corporations will be presumed to be subject to the tax unless they submit proof, satisfactory to the commissioner, that they have not actually carried on or done business (after June 15, 1933) for any part of such year.

"If any corporation claims exemption on the ground that it was organized for the sole purpose of owning and holding property and distributing its avails, and that it is not otherwise engaged, or that it has retired from the business for which it was organized, it will be required to file a comprehensive statement showing the nature of the activities, if any, in which the corporation was actually engaged during the taxable period."

LIGHT RECEIPTS FAIL TO RETAIN HOGS' EARLY GAIN

Cattle and Lamb Prices Also Weak.

Hog receipts dropped off at all leading markets yesterday, the Chicago total at 27,000 standing smallest for a Monday since May 8 and 25 per cent under the average of the last six weeks. The severe decline in the market for heavy swine last week was the chief factor effecting the movement, but the plans of the government to kill off 4,000,000 pigs and 1,000,000 piggy sows in an attempt to boost prices was also said to be encouraging farmers to hold back pending further developments in the plan.

Abbreviated receipts reversed the trend of hog prices, and part of last week's losses were recovered during the early rounds yesterday, but heavier butchers and sows failed to hold. The latter weakened off after opening 10 to 15 cents higher and closed with the gains lost. Some extreme weights were slightly lower at the finish.

Top Price $4.65.

Top lightweights advanced to $4.65, equaling the highest mark in 11 days. The general average at $3.90 showed a gain of 10 cents compared with Saturday, and was 5 cents over last Friday. A further rise in the wholesale market for light loins stimulated buying in top grades of swine averaging under 250 pounds. Light loins reached 13 cents, the highest level in recent weeks, which was 5 cents above the late June market for pork loins. Heavy loins continued to drag at prices ranging downwards to 7 cents.

The bulk of yesterday's cattle run sold weak to 15 cents lower and in places 25 cents lower, with action poor in all divisions except lower priced beef steers and a few of the "upper crust," the kinds eligible to $7.00 and more. Several carloads of medium weights reached $7.15 to $7.30, the top prices for the day, while 900 to 1,488 pound averages reached $7.00. The bulk of the run cashed at $5.25 to $7.00, from $1.50 to $1.75 under the corresponding days in 1932 and $2.50 to $2.85 lower than two years ago.

Few Heavy Steers.

Very few steers exceed 1,500 pounds in weight in yesterday's arrivals. One shipment averaging 1,700 pounds fetched $5.65, being too overdone to fit in the regular beef trade. Corn-fed cows and heifers were steady, while grassy stock ruled weak to 15 cents lower. Other classes of cattle brought mostly steady prices.

About 2,000 western range cattle were included in the receipts, mostly replacement cattle and old she stock culled from range herds. Stockers and feeders were quoted mostly from $3.50 to $4.75.

Lamb prices weakened under stress of the biggest run of western range stock of the season. A total of 16,800 head arrived from range states, against 12,300 a week ago and 4,500 two weeks ago. The market was steady to 25 cents lower, tops selling within a range of $6.75 to $7.50. Natives were scarce and sorted at $7.50 and under.

COTTON PRICES ERRATIC; CLOSE SLIGHTLY LOWER

Cotton markets were unusually sensitive to moderate buying or selling, a feature being the rapidity of rallies after moderate price recessions. Trading in all was fairly liberal within a price range of around 25 points, the close being at net losses of 2 to 10 points on active futures in Chicago, with other markets 2 to 8 points lower.

Spots were unchanged in New York at 9.35 cents; 5 points lower in New Orleans at 9.25 cents, while Galveston was 9.10 cents and Houston 9.15 cents. Higher cables from Liverpool gave the market a little strength at the opening, and a little buying from that quarter helped to advance prices moderately. At one time there was a break of around $1 a bale on selling due to weakness in grain. Prices follow.
